A learning organization is a company that has an enhanced capacity to learn, adapt, and change ALIGNED Training processes are carefully scrutinized and aligned with company goals.

SYSTEM In a learning organization, training is seen as one part of a system designed to create human capital.

FEATURES OF A LEARNING ORGANIZATION

SUPPORTIVE Employees feel safe expressing their thoughts about work, asking questions, disagreeing with managers, and admitting mistakes.

PRACTICES • Knowledge creation, dissemination, sharing, and application are practiced. • Systems are developed for creating, capturing, and sharing knowledge.

REINFORCE • Managers actively question and listen to employees, encouraging dialogue and debate. Managers are willing to consider alternative points of view.

FAILURE One of the most important aspects of a learning organization is the ability for employees to learn from failure and from successes.

A single training event or program is not likely to give a company a competitive advantage

ORGANIZATIONAL LEARNING STRATEGIES

The purpose of organizational learning is to get agencies thinking about what and how they are doing
LEARNING Organizational learning concerns these processes.

SUPPORT The second issue is getting support from within one's own unit, higher levels of management, and rival departments.

POLICIES In recent years, a number of organizational practices and policies have evolved that encourage departments and work units to engage in learning, creativity, and change.

ASKING A very simple and effective approach is asking employees, as individuals and as groups, to submit ideas for improving their own work, that of their work units, or that of the agency.

EXPERIMENTING Organizations are still experimenting with different ways of getting new ideas and initiatives from their employees and managers.

LEADERS Any system is only as good as its leaders, so how leaders and managers are selected and evaluated matters greatly in determining the nature of an organization.
