Slow Heat

Slow Heat Lorie O'Clare As a new trainee at the King family's bounty-hunting agency, Micah Jones is trying to keep his cool. But his latest assignment—to bring in a night-club owner suspected of money-laundering—heats up fast when he meets the "brains" of the outfit: an irresistibly beautiful bookkeeper who's resisting arrest. So Micah takes her into custody—by taking her into his powerful arms and not letting go... Held for questioning but released by police, Maggie O'Malley is still a person of interest—to Micah. And Maggie is interested, too—in his services. With his iron-hard muscles and tough-guy exterior, the Harley-riding bounty hunter is just the man Maggie needs to track down the real crook at the club. A slow-burning attraction ignites a firestorm of insatiable desire—until the secrets of Micah's past are exposed. Explosive passion now must prove stronger than a history so terrifying it might haunt them forever...

For the Love of Wolves

The third and final story of the three book trilogy of novels based on the life of Maggie Elizabeth Harrington, who lived in remote Central Mine, Michigan, in the late 1800's and early 1900's. The historic Maggie Harrington was found frozen in a snowdrift about two hundred feet east of the highway at the intersection of the Central and Eagle Harbor roads. She had been missing for several days. The author dedicates this story to Maggie Elizabeth Harrington, who inspired this iconic character and three stand alone novels titled "Maggie Elizabeth Harrington," "Alpha Wolves," and this last one, "For the Love of Wolves." A story that shows the deep love Maggie has for animals, especially wolves; and how it compares with the love she felt for Tommy Stetter, her teenage and first great love. "For the Love of Wolves" is an imagined story featuring a historical person. Maggie Elizabeth Harrington is a recluse living alone in the ghost town of Central Mine, Michigan. Maggie is the previously thriving town's only inhabitant. She passes her days mostly in memories of Tommie Stetter, her first great love, and a pack of young wolves they tried to save from Bernard Lemieux, a bounty hunter.? Maggie finds evidence of what she perceives is a wolf living in the back of her yard and believes the wolf has returned to bring joy and purpose back into her lonely life which has become routine and meaningless. Maggie vows to protect this imaginary wolf from the son of the bounty hunter, Jackie Lemieux, who also shoots wolves for their bounty. Protecting her imaginary wolf is a promise Maggie has made to herself even if it means killing Jackie Lemieux.

Lost And Found

'A 2013 Readers Favorite Award Winner' --Touching story of how love wins in the end. Loved the suspense, went through a lot of emotions in this book. I got into the story line so deep I couldn't put the book down." Debi --LOST AND FOUND is one of the best romantic suspense books I have read this year! I will forewarn you, you will need a box of tissues and a punching bag while reading this dynamic tale. - Romance Junkies --A heart-rending tragedy of grand magnitude, faced by one innocent family against whom it seemed the whole world had rallied. It will pull you into the thick of the action, and not let you go until the final page. - Lee Ashford for Readers' Favorite --It starts with a heartrending description of every parents worst nightmare, and keeps the suspense and drama level high all the way through. - Loves Reading --If you want to read a book that will make you think about the depth of relationships, this is the book. What would you do for the person you love? - KitKat --Growing up I have always been a fan of books that contain messages and stories that can relate to real life situations. This definitely covered both of those and more. There were parts where I wanted to curl up with a box of tissues and keep reading and then others I was too caught up in the book I just couldn't put it down. Reviewer Nicole --This is one of the best books that I've read in a long time. It was a page turner..a thriller from page one until the very end. *Warning - This series is not for those looking for a light easy read. It is filled with rough language, sexual tension, and steamy hot romantic suspense! A hit and run. A deserted country road. A parents worst nightmare. On a warm fall morning in Gardiner, Washington, Richard and Maggie celebrate happy couple Sam and Marcie's return. What happens next changes their lives forever. A hit and run driver on a deserted country road, and Richard and Maggie suffer a parents worst nightmare. Now a year later Maggie McCafferty struggles to put her life back together...hiding her pain with outrageous behavior and her own secret she's unwilling to share. Until her friends step in and her strong willed soon to be ex-husband sets out to bring Maggie home-- the only way he knows. Just as Maggie begins to trust again, Dan McKenzie calls after disappearing for over a year. But now he's back. And instead of Richard coming clean with the truth of their involvement, Richard digs himself in deeper, with mounting debts, a partner who refuses to buy him out--secrets shared only with Dan. Until one night a mysterious 911 caller witnesses a fight and Richard shooting Dan. But when the police arrive at the deserted construction site the only evidence of a crime is a pool of blood, and a surveillance video. Under mounting pressure from the police Richard's arrested and interrogated -except fiery secretive Richard is adamant he was home all night. In this bizarre twist of fate, Sam, Marcie and Diane work against the clock and wonder how well they really know their evasive friend. With Maggie by his side, Richard stands by his innocence. Trouble is, if Richard didn't do it, where is Dan? And who is the mysterious 911 caller? American Devon Record

An important literary memoir which views white settler family history against the impacts on the Indigenous people with whom they interact. Monument is poet and critic Bonny Cassidy's fourth book. Moving seamlessly through genres in its recovery of the past — part poetry, part prose, microhistory, memoir, travel writing, and sometimes counterfactual speculation — it traces the complex consequences of colonial settlement across the generations of a White Australian family of mixed origins and ancestries. Following the threads and detours signalled by research, objects and testimony, Cassidy makes a case for the value of 'collected memory' against the tide of settlement and silence. Inspired by the methods of Natalie Harkin's archival poetics and Katrina Schlunke's Bluff Rock: Autobiography of a Massacre, Cassidy's Monument considers how non-Indigenous Australians might absorb First Nations truth-telling; and what this means for acts of speech, and writing. Should our memories serve the living or the dead, the past or the present? Why do we need new monuments in Australia, and where should we expect to find them?

A Bounty on the Police is the eleventh novel in the LT Maggie Watson Murder Series and the setting for this new novel is in Gulf Shores, Alabama. Once they had moved to the Gulf Coast, Jonathan had suggested that they begin a pro-bono agency dedicated to helping small cities with their criminal cases that were unsolved or that required more manpower than their respective budgets would allow. Their first case was that of a missing young girl from the Homewood, Alabama, area who was in the area for spring break festivities. Their second case was to locate a missing boat captain and his fishing party somewhere in the Gulf of Mexico. What begins as a missing persons case turns into much more. In this third novel, they are trying to determine who is trying to take out the leadership of local police departments and why. MW Burdette has written four other series of novels and has published twenty-two novels to date. This is the eleventh in the series of LT Maggie Watson Murder Mystery novels. Burdette worked for many years in the real estate field, and sales management before becoming a writer. Burdette lives in Atlanta, Georgia, with his wife and two West Highland Terriers.

Fans of Buffy the Vampire Slayer and J. R. Ward will devour this Slow Burn Romantic Urban Fantasy series! I'm a pixie-sized bounty hunter on a mission, and I have one goal: Revenge. With a kill-count that puts most bounty hunters in the business to shame, I've seen it all and am one of the best. You name it and I can handle it. From vicious vampires and rogue shifters to treacherous mages. Just when I thought I couldn't be surprised, I find myself ensnared by the devious and sexy Fin Taylor, a billionaire fae prince with motives of his own. But it seems fortune is on my side after all, because my captor and I have a common enemy. The very man I've been hunting all these years—the mythic Black Mage—the magic wielding bastard who murdered my parents. Whatever gripes I've got with the gorgeous prince are going to have to take a back seat, because I've waited too long not to claim the blood owed. Together, we have a real shot at bringing the Black Mage to justice. Only, he always seems to be one step ahead... and now something is horribly wrong with Fin, placing our lives in more danger than ever before. If I can't figure out a way to help him and get us back on track, I won't just miss my chance at revenge; I may end up delivering two more victims straight into the Black Mage's bloody hands. Author Note: This book ends with a cliff-hanger that leads straight into book 2!

Annual Report

Central Mine is now a ghost town on the remote Keweenaw Peninsula in western upper Michigan, but when Maggie Harrington and Tommie Stetter roamed its nameless streets it was a thriving Cornish mining community with the Central Mine Methodist Church at the center of its social fabric. Young Maggie is a free spirited young woman whose idealism often brings her into conflict with the strict teachings of Reverend White and her stern father as she looks for answers to feeling unwanted and unloved. This historical story of a young woman's struggle with environmental and moral issues concerning the slaughter of wolves, and the churches condemnation of her love for a young man, are as real in today's global world as they were for young Maggie over a century ago.

Bounty Hunter

Maggie Elizabeth Harrington is the story of a young woman in the 1890s, whose world is a remote northern Michigan mining town, where she tries to save a pack of young wolves from a bounty hunter. A terse historical love story of a young woman's struggle with environmental and moral issues concerning the slaughter of wolves, and the church's condemnation of her love for a young man, are as real in today's global world as they were for young Maggie more than a century ago.
