Some Answers Without Questions

The place I went to when I could not speak was also where my voice came from. Part memoir, part manifesto, Some Answers Without Questions is a rigorous and lyrical work of self-investigation. Lavinia Greenlaw sets out to explore the impulse to say something, to write or sing, and finds herself confronting matters of presence and absence, anger and speechlessness, authority and permission. The result is important and timely, a spirited and vital exploration of what enables anyone - but a woman and an artist in particular - to create and respond even when not invited to do so. Some Answers Without Questions is the result of decades of answering questions that don't really matter - and not being asked the ones that do.

Poetry Comprehension, Grades 6 - 8

One Thousand Questions (And No Good Answers) is a collection of poetry about losing what you thought was reality and finding a new strength within. These poems, written largely in 2011-15, have an inquisitive nature, asking what happens after the happily ever after, what happens after the ghost has gone into the light. Above all, these poems are about love, enduring the relentless wind and the healing rain, finding therapy in the silent frost, and soothing in the new sun. This is the heartbreak and the healing. Her work is on Instagram @_SarahHerrin.

One Thousand Questions (and No Good Answers)

Life's questions, both profound and trivial, can hit us full force and send our philosophies tumbling and dissolving into separate grains of perceptions. Putting those perceptions back into cohesion is the work of poets. These twenty poems, written over the course of five decades, attempt to do just that.

Twenty Questions: Feeling Ways Toward Answers Through Poetry

This book has been some twenty-three years in the making. One of the poems included in this book I remember writing for my seventh-grade English class and the rest were written sometime between then and now. This compilation also includes the 2006 Editor's Choice award-winning poem aWhat You Deserve, as chosen by the International Society of Poets and Poetry.com. Although many of these works are not the most happy collection of thoughts that you have ever read, each and every one of them contains at least a bit of the truth and it is up to you to decide how much is true in your life experiences. Again, I hope that you enjoy reading these insights to my life as much as I have enjoyed putting them on paper and sharing them with you. aCarey F. Grimstead

What is real? What is true? What does it mean to be present? You will find that these poems speak to your soul. They are the words that we all hear deep within, if only we should listen. This book is your chance to pay attention. Inviting you in to your existence, these poems are the siren of your Being. Answer her call. She awaits your opening.

Questions, No Answers

Have you ever looked at a piece of art, or closed a book, and found yourself left with deep, profound feelings? Often our lives resonate with unexpected beauty. For Marie, wandering an art museum is like wandering the hearts of artists, seeing their trials and tribulations on display, a chronicle of their efforts to make sense of this messy affair called life. In this illustrated collection of thirty-six poems, Marie wanders two European cities looking for an answer: what does it mean to live?

Unrelated Questions

... Is it too late to try or are you a bird that's still waiting to fly? Are you finally your ally or still an enemy you can't identify? Why can't your dreams become a part of your reality? Do you see your potential or only a technicality? In a collection of thoughtful questions presented as rhyming poetry, Gregory Hightower challenges others to contemplate their lives in the past, present, and future, and instigate positive change in the process. Hightower, a military veteran who has been writing poems for years, relies on his own life experiences to formulate poetic questions that encourage self-reflection about the pursuit of dreams, points of view, personal happiness, authentic friendships, character and attitude, superficial behaviors, physical abuse, and bullies. In this unique collection of verse, an American poet offers introspective questions that invite others to explore the meaning behind their lives and look deep into their conscience for the answers.

QUESTIONS ABOUT FAITH (Book 3, A Curious Life) Questions About Faith is a collection of poems, which deals with questions we may have about faith: our search, our journey, the questions we struggled with, the answers we had doubts believing, the acceptance, the experience, how we believed, how we exhibited distrust, how we questioned even the little things we don't understand, the complicated feelings that we had, our appreciation for it, our growth with it, the strength we gained through faith, the lessons we eventually learned...A reader may be able to relate with most, if not all, of the pieces in this literary collection. The questions came about through the observations and experiences of not only the author, but everyone else. And these questions, we seek the answers to. Maybe you can find them, or may have found them already.

May I Ask You Some Questions?

The book signifies the phases in life which we all go through. Like streams of water, so is our living. At some point in life we find ourselves having questions which some we can answer and some we cannot. This book takes us through some of those common experiences in a form of motivational poetry. Sit back and enjoy.

Questions About Faith

Essential reading for scholars, poetry lovers, and anyone with an interest in Rainer Maria Rilke, German poetry, or the creative impulse, these ten letters of correspondence between Rilke and a young aspiring poet reveal elements from the inner workings of his own poetic identity. The letters coincided with an important stage of his artistic development and readers can trace many of the themes that later emerge in his best works to these messages—Rilke himself stated these letters contained part of his creative genius.

The Rainmaker Danced

I HAVE LOST THE ART OF DREAMING IT SO by Ace Boggess is a full-length poetry collection.

Black & White Answers

'Poetry that recognizes the miracle of life'. Life takes us on various journeys the author calls dances. As human beings, we are in a constant state of emotional limbo sometimes so completely engrossed in our own lives, that we become oblivious to the hate, death, illness, war, greed and materialism around us. We often end up ignoring the simple yet important human values of love, peace, acceptance, tolerance and forgiveness. Our ties of love are as easily severed as the bonds we share with the rest of humanity. This collection of poetry represents a cry against the decline of inherent human values like love, kindness, acceptance, and perseverance. It shouts out against war, excess, hate and what the world has become. It is a collection that represents an uprising from the heart of humanity. The ultimate message in the poetry is to cherish, love and respect each other and oneself despite grievances, to hold fast to the ties of love despite disagreements and to forgive, accept and carry on despite upsets and difficulties, thus promoting inner and universal Peace. The poetry is not just of love, but also of living life daily with its 'ups and downs' and bringing to light the darkness, inspiring an 'uprising' of human emotion and devotion. The poetry represents this uprising. It is evocative, reflective and contemplative in its progression from darkness to the light.

Spiritual Questions and Answers

Nothing seemed to escape the eyes of Philip Larkin, a contemporary English poet who achieved acclaim on the strength of a small body of work. While lyrically exploring the human experience, Larkin's candid perceptions were enlivened by his acute power of observation—a unique literary talent that prompted his recognition as England's other Poet Laureate. In a fascinating quiz book that will appeal to both Larkin scholars and lovers of poetry and literature, retired English professor M. R. Sethi shares more than six hundred questions (with answers) that offer an opportunity to test knowledge regarding the life and works of the famous poet. Scholars and others will be tested on Larkin's physical shortcomings, his first jobs, what he wore while mowing the lawn, why he once threatened to jump out a window, who was not one of his friends at Oxford, and much more that includes detailed questions regarding many of his poems. So You Think You Know Philip Larkin? is a volume of questions and answers shared to test the knowledge of both scholars and poetry and literature aficionados about a famous, contemporary poet.

A Quest for Answers: A Personal Journey takes you by the hand on a journey into the world of homelessness. It takes you from the external pressures of living on the streets to the invisible internal thoughts that wander in silence seeking answers to the most basic of human needs: food and shelter. To seek, to discover the "humanity," to bring it forth through observations and interviews with actual homeless people was the author's purpose. This purpose has been packaged in a collection of original poems and photographs. "A Quest for Answers: A Personal Journey," is that collection. "A Quest for Answers" gives us some of the answers to the questions that we all have about who the homeless people are and how they got there. This unique combination of poetry and photos enables the reader to answer some of these perplexing questions. A great addition to any home or school library." -Michael Stoops The National Coalition for the Homeless
