#locative social media #location-based social networking #geo-social apps #hyperlocal community platforms #place sharing technology

Locative social media refers to platforms that integrate geographical location data with social networking functionalities, enabling users to share their current whereabouts, discover nearby points of interest, and connect with others based on physical proximity. These services foster hyperlocal community engagement and enhance user experiences through geo-social applications, facilitating real-world interactions and local discovery by leveraging place sharing technology.
