E! True Hollywood Story

CHARLIE MURPHY is the outrageously funny comedian from Chappelle's Show, whose breakout role -- as himself -- in his True Hollywood Stories about Rick James and Prince rank among the best sketch comedy performances of all time. A successful stand-up comedian, screenwriter, and actor, Charlie has led an incredible life of highs and lows on his way to becoming a stand-up guy. In his raucous and revealing memoir, Charlie details his life on the road with Eddie Murphy, his nights on the town with Rick James ("the first man I ever met who had a swimming pool in his living room"), and his crazy movie audition with Chris Rock. He takes us backstage with Richard Pryor and Redd Foxx; on the set with costars Denzel Washington, Vanessa Williams, and Sammy Davis, Jr.; in the studio with Stevie Wonder; and off the wall with Michael Jackson and Mike Tyson. Along the way, Murphy reveals the ups and downs of his fascinating life -- growing up in Brooklyn, getting in trouble with street gangs on Long Island, doing time in jail, serving in the Navy, and supporting his brother's meteoric rise to fame as both protector and collaborator. After selling screenplays and landing roles in seminal films like Jungle Fever and CB4, Charlie decided to get up on stage -- at the age of forty-two -- and give stand-up comedy a try. And the rest, as they say, is history... Filled with hilarious Hollywood antics and raw personal insights, The Making of a Stand-Up Guy is Charlie's story of finding his passion, seizing the day, and finally stepping into the spotlight with mic in hand. This is the real Charlie Murphy, unfiltered and unapologetic, in his own words.

Doing Time

Don Carpenter wrote about Hollywood like no one else. Hollywood Trilogy collects, for the first time, Carpenter's most significant Hollywood novels—A Couple of Comedians, The Turnaround and The True Life Story of Jody McKeegan—into a single volume. Here readers will find the jungle of "B" movie Hollywood with no attempt to dress up the rawness and vulgarity of this "glamorous" town. Carpenter's characters occupy every facet of Hollywood—there are naïve and shy young men trying to break into the business, one-picture wonders, comedy duos, beautiful starlets and middle-aged moguls wondering how exactly they got where they are. All are drawn with the wit, pace and above all, the authenticity that were Don Carpenter's trademarks. Following the Spring 2014 publication of Friday at Enrico's, Carpenter's "forgotten" novel, finished and championed by Jonathan Lethem, interest in Carpenter's work is at an all time high. Hollywood Trilogy will introduce readers to an entirely new facet of Carpenter's work, just waiting to be discovered by a contemporary audience.

The Hollywood Trilogy

2012 Global Ebook Award Winner - Entertainment and Performing Arts Non-Fiction A WILD, FUN RIDE THROUGH TINSEL TOWN, PAST AND PRESENT! -- Jan Wahl, KCBS AM/FM & KRON-TV At high noon on a cold November day in 1974, sixty-seven-year-old John Wayne faced off with the staff of the Harvard Lampoon on the famous campus in Cambridge, Massachusetts. The students had issued their challenge by calling the beloved American icon a fraud. Wayne, who had his new movie McQ to promote, responded by saying he would be happy to show his film in the pseudo-intellectual swamps of Harvard Square. After the screening, without writers, the former USC footballer delivered a classic performance. When one smart young man asked where he got his phony toupee, Wayne insisted the hair was real. It wasn't his, but it was real. The appreciative underclassmen loved him and after the Q and A session, they all sat down to dinner. Later Wayne, who was suffering greatly from both gout and the after effects of lung cancer (sadly the Duke only had five years to live), said that day at Harvard was the best time he ever had. Just when you thought you've heard everything about Hollywood comes a totally original new book -- a special blend of biography, history and lore. Hollywood Stories is packed with wild, wonderful short tales about famous stars, movies, directors and many others who have been a part of the world's most fascinating, unpredictable industry! What makes the book unique is that the reader can go to any page and find a completely engaging and illuminating yarn. Sometimes people won't realize that they are reading about The Three Stooges or Popeye the Sailor until they come to the end of the story. The Midwest Book Review says Hollywood Stories is, "packed from cover to cover with fascinating tales." A professional tour guide in Hollywood, Stephen Schochet has researched and told thousands of entertaining anecdotes for over twenty years. He is also the author and narrator of two audiobooks Tales of Hollywood and Fascinating Walt Disney. Tim Sika, host of the radio show Celluloid Dreams on KSJS in San Jose has called Stephen, "The best storyteller about Hollywood we have ever heard." Full of funny moments and twist endings, Hollywood Stories features an amazing, all-star cast of legendary characters and icons and will keep you totally entertained! If you are interested in stories about Hollywood Celebrities, Movie Stars, Movie Gossip, Directors, Famous People, and Movie History, this book is for you!"

Older readers will take a trip down memory lane, remembering many of the celebrities mentioned, while younger readers will discover Hollywood history from its earlier years to the present. They will learn about the people who were part of the building blocks of the film industry: the highs, the lows, the successes, the failures, and the tragedies.

My True Hidden Hollywood Story

Taken from the infamous query letter: HOLLYWOOD UNDERGROUND is the TRUE STORY about how I lived inside two major movie studios, undetected for over three years in pursuit of a show biz dream. I was a film and journalism student at California State University, Long Beach, but after being kicked out of college for failing a class, due to making my own film, I left Long Beach behind for a dream and found myself on the streets of Hollywood for ten days, growing more and more desperate. A freak occurrence led me to walking into Sunset Gower Studios through an open door of the sound stage, where they filmed the TV show Moesha. Once inside the movie studio, I would live high atop the catwalks of STAGE 1 for a few months, getting an audition from Keith Wolfe a casting agent on the lot, placing one of my screenplays on a production office desk of Big Ticket Television and trying to make subsequent connections for work. The plan was to make the most of this weird opportunity. Inside STAGE 1, after hours, I used the bathrooms to wash clothes and clean up, but a couple months later after being chased off the lot by armed guards, perplexed on what to do next, I still didn't want to give up on my dream... So, I did what anyone with a passionate dream might do, I jumped the fence of Paramount Studios later that night around 2:00 a.m. I would end up living inside Paramount for the next THREE YEARS hidden in plain sight, acting like I belonged in this world of actors, but acting not for a paycheck or fame, but to merely survive another day and to keep this dream alive. During this once in a lifetime trek, I ate from the craft service tables of various TV shows like: Becker, Roswell, Judging Amy, The Amanda Show, Buffy The Vampire Slayer, Frasier, Growing Up Brady and the movie, Fifteen Minutes, to name just a few. At first, I slept on an elevated outdoor ivy-covered catwalk at the very back of the back lot, which was attached to the sound stage where they filmed, Star Trek: Voyager. A year later, I would be found out by landscapers trimming the ivy that covered this outdoor perch. As they went to get security, I grabbed what was left from my life, stuffed into a backpack and made STAGE 30, where they film the TV show Soul Train my home, as well as the back lot where they shot The Godfather, Laverne and Shirley, and Little House on The Prairie to name a few. Inside Paramount Marathon Office Building, I took up a desk of an employee named Bob Stanton and worked on my scripts before hours on his computer. I would get there well before the start of the 9 a.m. workday and leave just before the rush of real employees filled the office, erasing the cookies of course, as well as throwing out all the coffee cups. I took on many jobs as a volunteer, but to the security staff and many other Paramount employees I came into contact every day, it became a juggling act to keep these perceived "roles" in the air. To some, like a security guard named Tom, I was the promotions guy named Bob Stanton, who could help Tom himself sell his very own screenplay, to others on the set of Becker, I was an assistant editor for Judge Judy, a professional extra, a reporter for Newsweek on the movie Fifteen Minutes, a production assistant for The Amanda Show, a young up and coming actor, an intern, a grip without a Walkie-Talkie, and young screenwriter, to name just a few. HOLLYWOOD UNDERGROUND is all about going for the dream no matter the cost. I mean, imagine being thrust into a world of movie stars, Hollywood icons, and movie producing moguls, yet you haven't anything but the will to succeed? This is quite simply a story that has never happened before and one that will likely never happen again.

Hollywood Underground

In the spring of 1937, Daniel Fuchs, twenty-seven years old and the author of three acclaimed novels of Brooklyn tenement life, came to Hollywood to bang out a treatment of one of his short stories. His thirteen-week contract turned into a permanent residence-and a lifelong love affair. "Writing for the movies was fine," he would later recall, "the freedom and fun, the hard work," but even finer were the movies themselves-team-built, mass-market miracles, "brisk and full of urgent meaning." Finest of all were the people-hustling producers, inscrutable directors, cracker-jack screenwriters, and charismatic stars-their virtues and flaws and egos and disappointments all visible in high relief "because the sunlight over everything was so clear and brilliant." Fuchs worked with the best: Warners and Metro and RKO, Wilder and Huston and Joe Pasternak, William Faulkner and Irwin Shaw, Raft and Cagney and Doris Day. He spent his days crafting screenplays, but off the lot he continued to write prose, mainly stories for The New Yorker and Collier's and "Letters from Hollywood" for Commentary. The Golden West collects, for the first time, the best of Fuchs's writings about the movie business, from a novice screenwriter's anxious diaries (1937-38) to a fifty-year veteran's mellow memoirs (1989). The centerpiece of the book is "West of the Rockies," a haunting short novel, set in the late 1950s, about a half-mad woman, immature and incapable, who is, almost despite herself, a star, "a quantity indefinable, ephemeral, everlastingly elusive-Hollywood's chief stock in trade." It is also a bitter portrait of the star's agent, a grifter who is tempted to use her and her weaknesses to his own ends. Fuchs loved Hollywood, but his affection didn't blind him to the town's Babylon aspect: he never blinked when depicting the conniving and the treachery, the dysfunction and the waste. He saw life as it is, gold and tinsel both, and described it without falling into easy sentiment or condescending laughter. He is the Bellow of the Brown Derby, the Chekhov of the back lot. The Golden West

A HOLLYWOOD STORY is the true story about how one young man lived inside two major movie studios for over three years in pursuit of a show business dream. After being kicked out of the film and journalism programs two semesters shy of graduation at California State University, Long Beach with two screenplays he had written, a short film he had made and some extra clothes, at the age of twenty-seven Jim Alexander Rice jumped a blue line train from Long Beach to Hollywood. After being on the streets of Hollywood for three weeks, he maneuvered into Sunset Gower Studios by a slightly opened door and ended up living inside the historic movie lot for two months. During this time he talked his way into getting an audition from a casting agent, placing his screenplays on a major production company's desk and trying to make a few connections for subsequent work. After two months living inside a cable cubbyhole atop STAGE 1 at Sunset Gower Studios, where they filmed Who's The Boss? and From Here To Eternity, Jim was found out by Gaffers working on a new production. Chased off the lot by armed guards, he decided to jump the fence of Paramount Studios in an act of desperation where he would live for the next THREE YEARS chasing his dream. He survived by eating from the craft service tables of various TV shows like: Becker, Roswell, Judging Amy, The Amanda Show, Frasier, Buffy The Vampire Slayer, various failed TV pilots and the movie, 15 Minutes, to name just a few. During this time, his dire quest took many strange turns, as he met various TV, film actors and show business millionaires. He slept in an outdoor ivy-covered catwalk attached to Star Trek: Voyager, but after being found out there by landscapers, he snuck into the catwalks of STAGE 30, where they filmed the TV show Soul Train. He survived all of this time by acting like he worked at various places throughout the lot, but he soon realized that he was acting to merely survive, rather than to receive a paycheck. Keeping these so-called, "roles," or "personas" in the air for the personalities and the powers that be, while trying to find real work and a niche towards his dream proved to be a challenge like no other. A Hollywood Story is a true story.

A Hollywood Story

The name "Hollywood" conjures up fantastical images of bright lights, glamorous dreams, and impossible riches. From its humble beginnings as a ranch sprawling northwest of Los Angeles in the late 1800s, Hollywood has spanned lifetimes as a factory of dreams, a dazzling place where all things are possible. This collection of stories takes you on a journey into the golden age, illuminating the space between the airy fantasy and the gritty reality of life in Hollywood. In a transient city where nothing lasts, thousands of stories have taken place in their time here. From the offscreen debauchery of the silent era, to countless dramatic and mysterious deaths, to the sinister past lives of world-famous LA landmarks, vestiges of Hollywood's checkered past can still be found all over the city. With generations of Tinseltown's luminaries living and working under the sunny guise of paradisaal prosperity, their real stories reveal the sordid underbelly lurking directly beneath the surface. A dangerous collusion between the studios, the press, the mob, and the LAPD forms an impenetrable behind-the-scenes network of corruption, power and control, where the truth is always up for sale. A network in which the most glamorous and well-known figures are merely players in this elaborate charade. It's magical and gritty, it's ugly and dirty, it's the land of dreams...it's Hollywood.

My Hollywood Stories

A fun but informative look at Hollywood's more-than-a century long love affair with historical figures, events, and places, this book delves into what really happened in history, as opposed to the Hollywood interpretation of events, and reveals why the movies don't usually reflect the reality of our known history.

Detour

The Bling Ring by Vanity Fair writer Nancy Jo Sales is an in-depth expose of a band of beautiful, privileged teenagers who were caught breaking into celebrity homes and stealing millions of dollars worth of valuables. With a list of victims that reads like a "Who's Who" of young Hollywood, including Lindsay Lohan, Orlando Bloom, Paris Hilton, and Rachel Bilson, The Bling Ring is the stuff of writers' imaginations—with one exception—it's a true story. The media asked: Why would a group of kids who already had designer clothes, money, cars, and status take such risks? Award-winning journalist Nancy

Jo Sales found the answer: They did it because they could. And because it was easy. The Bling Ring: How a Gang of Fame-Obsessed Teens Ripped Off Hollywood and Shocked the World is a shocking look at the seedy world of the real young Hollywood.

Hollywood and History

Savor the inside scoop on over-the-top superstars "I'm not a paranoid, deranged millionaire. . . . I'm a billionaire!" "Acting is an empty and useless profession." "Good girls go to heaven. How do stars get away with self-indulgent, unrestrained behaviors-or do they? In The Hollywood Book of Extravagance, longtime industry insider and Hollywood historian James Robert Parish gives you a provocative look behind the scenes at the lavish indulgences and larger-than-life egos of Tinseltown's rich and famous. Hollywood Divorces

In the decades following his death, many of those who knew James Dean best—actors, directors, friends, lovers (both men and women), photographers, and Hollywood columnists—shared stories of their first-person experiences with him in interviews and in the articles and autobiographies they wrote. Their recollections of Dean became lost in fragile back issues of movie magazines and newspapers and in out-of-print books that are extremely hard to find. Until now. The Real James Dean is the first book of its kind: a rich collection spanning six decades of writing in which many of the people whose lives were touched by Dean recall their indelible experiences with him in their own words. Here are the memorable personal accounts of Dean from his high school and college drama teachers; the girl he almost married; costars like Rock Hudson, Natalie Wood, Jim Backus, and Raymond Massey; directors Elia Kazan, Nicholas Ray, and George Stevens; entertainer Eartha Kitt; gossip queen Hedda Hopper; the passenger who accompanied Dean on his final, fatal road trip; and a host of his other friends and colleagues.

Almost True Hollywood Stories

Excerpt from Strange Stories, True Stories, and Tales from Hollywood Introduction "Life, my dear Watson, is infinitely stranger than fiction; stranger than anything which the mind of man could invent. We could not conceive of the things that are merely commonplace to existence. If we could hover over this great city, remove the roofs, and peep in at the things going on, it would make all fiction, with its conventionalities and foreseen conclusions, flat, stale and unprofitable." Arthur Conan Doyle. You'll find that most stories originate from roots that seem quite unbelievable in today's world. History is full of characters that would belong more in a horror story than life's rich tapestry. These stories have been passed down from generation to generation, and may seem incredible, but nevertheless they are all true and some stories are more well-known than others, and some you may never have heard of. You may already be familiar with Vlad the Impaler or H.H. Holmes because of their connections to movies and TV shows, so if you think they're strange delve into the pages of Strange Stories, and Tales from Hollywood and see how life can be stranger than fiction. HOT INSIDER STORIES FROM HOLLYWOOD'S GOLDEN 1950s, TOLD IN TRUE PULP FICTION STYLE. "Elvis Presley and George Klein, one of Elvis's inner circle, pulled up in long black Cadillac limousine style. Elvis was at the wheel. I jumped in the backseat and we took off-three for the road."

"The flag was dropped and James Dean, starting from 18th on the grid, shot through the pack balls out, like a man possessed. After a few laps he made it up to fourth place before a blown piston ended his day. Jimmy was turbulent with the situation." "The groove rocked in once more with a churning precision. Like sensual thunder, it shook the room with sexual vibrations. There on the bandstand, like a benevolent Buddha, dressed in Levis and an open neck shirt, was Marlon Brando. He was as cool as a night breeze over Alaska. With his hands in motion he caressed the congas, playing as if willing his adoring flock to follow him into the loving arms of immortality."

The Stuntwoman

$50 Billion of Advice in One Book* Have you ever wondered why some books and stories are adapted into movies, and others aren't? Or wished you could sit down and pick the brains of the people whose stories have been adapted--or the screenwriters, producers, and directors who adapted them? Author John Robert Marlow has done it for you. He spoke to book authors, playwrights, comic book creators and publishers, as well as Hollywood screenwriters, producers and directors responsible for adapting fictional and true stories into Emmy-winning TV shows, Oscar-winning films, billion-dollar megahits and smaller independents. Then he talked to the entertainment attorneys who made the deals. He came away with a unique understanding of adaptations--an understanding he shares in this book: which stories make good source material (and why); what Hollywood wants (and doesn't); what you can (and can't) get in a movie deal; how to write and pitch your story to maximize the chances of a Hollywood adaptation--and how much (and when) you can expect to be paid. *This book contains the distilled experience of creators, storytellers and others whose works have earned over $50 billion worldwide. Whether you're looking to sell film rights, adapt your own story (alone or with help), or option and adapt someone else's property--this book is for you.

How is my hair so clean?
How's there still light?
Maybe the sun selectively sets here
