#action research nursing #healthcare quality improvement #clinical practice change #evidence-based nursing #participatory research healthcare

Action research in nursing and healthcare is a dynamic, collaborative methodology where professionals investigate their own practice to identify issues, implement changes, and evaluate outcomes. This cyclical process empowers nurses and healthcare providers to enhance patient care, improve service delivery, and foster a culture of continuous quality improvement and evidence-based practice directly within clinical and administrative settings.

HEALTHCARE TRIAGE

It found that those responsible for more of the cost of care use far less of it - and with no short-term adverse health outcomes (except for the poorest families with relatively sicker members).

The findings that Medicaid increases access to care, diminishes financial hardship and reduces rates of depression have provided justification for program expansion.

The innovation center's pioneer accountable care organization program offered health care organizations the opportunity to earn bonuses in exchange for accepting some financial risk, provided they meet a set of quality targets.

Many low-quality studies suggest that wellness programs reduce employers' health care costs as they improve health outcomes.
