Forgotten Forms of American Religious Diversity
Story of Islam in Early America

They Understood that Their Faith Was Important Enough that They Should Listen for It Everywhere Even in a Country So Distant from the Places Where They Had Once Heard the Call to Prayer Even in a Nation Where Only Non-Muslims like Thomas Jefferson Were Able To Own a Car I Mentioned at the Outset that this Mostly Forgotten Dimension of American Religious Diversity Changed Dramatically around the Year 1860 One Reason for this Is Simply Time Omar Even Sayid and Bilal E Muhammad the Two of the Four Figures I Mentioned Who Remained in this Country They both Died around 1860 a Number of Dates Has Been Given for each for the Death of each some before the War and some after

A Number of Dates Has Been Given for each for the Death of each some before the War and some after but It's Clear that neither of Them Lived To See Freedom They Were among the Last of the Enslaved with Memories of Their Birth Countries and So Direct Connection to the Religious Traditions They Brought with Them Passed with that Generation a Second Reason for the Disappearance of Muslims at this Point in Us History Has To Do with the Consequences of the Civil War after Emancipation Establishment of Black Churches throughout the South Begins in Earnest Houses of Worship Become Focal Points for Newly Liberated Communities while Missionaries from Free Black Denominations of the North Arrived

In Earnest Houses of Worship Become Focal Points for Newly Liberated Communities while Missionaries from Free Black Denominations of the North Arrived both To Provide Support and To Convert those Who Are Still outside of the Church through the Decades That Follow Christianity Becomes Broadly and Irrevocably One of the Most Significant Elements of African American Life the Many Religious Expressions That Have Been Brought Together by Slavery Were Now Subsumed within a Single Faith yet the Important Thing To Remember Is that the Disappearance of Where the District's Doesn't Always Mean the End of Their Influence We Can Hear Echoes of Early American Islam in Fact in Early American Christianity

And the Third Thing That Happened Is that the Supreme Court Proved Itself Unusually Solicitous to Marginal Groups Highly Unpopular Religious Groups like Witnesses and Adventists and Pacifists and Atheists and Others Who Had Not Fared Well At All in State Courts or in State Legislatures and Found Very Little Recourse and Protection from the Us Congress As Well Three Major Changes and It's Not Accidental that these Changes Occurred in the 1940s as We Move toward the Creation of a Universal National Law of Religious Freedom and Forcible by the Federal Courts in the First Place We Are Moving toward a National Project in the Mid 20th Century

An Important Source of Inspiration and Instruction to Jurists and Judges and Courts around the World to this Day Interestingly some Would Say Sadly the Supreme Court in the Last Decade or Two Has Retreated Substantially from that Aggressive Protection of Religious Freedom the Court Has Made It Harder To Press Cases through Toughened Standing Requirements When You Can Stand at the Bar To Press Your Case Has Gotten Harder To Achieve the Court Has Allowed Splits in the Lower Federal Circuits To Linger a Lot Longer with a Great Deal of Confusion amongst Parties as to What How They'Re Going To Be Protected in Their Religious Freedom if They Live in the Third Circuit versus the Ninth Circuit

The Court Has Strongly Encouraged State Legislators To Take Over Religious Freedom Questions through Statutes and Changing those Statutes as Needed in Accordance with Local Political Custom and Fashion the Court Has Shown Strong Separation of Powers Logic To Again Defer the Congress and Let Congress Do a Lot of the Work in Religious Freedom and the Court Has Reduced the Free Exercise and no Establishment Clause Is Effectively to Guarantees of Neutrality on the Face of the Statute Itself and Neutrality or General Applicability in Application of the Statute since 1990 under the Free Exercise Clause and since 2002 under the Establishment Clause both of those Constitutional Guarantees Are Now When Be Just as Promised on the Bench I Suggested that these Are all Perhaps Steps along the Way To Be Incorporating the Religion Clauses from the 14th Amendment

And I Remember Writing the Remarks for the 50th of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights but I'M Wondering a More Narrow Scholarly Question for Our Scholarly Audience Which Is Did Scholarly Work on Thomas Jefferson Which Was in a Very Positive He Was in a Very Positive Light in these Decades in the 30s and 40s More So I Would Say than He Has Been in the Last 20 Years but Was that Affecting the Thinking of the Supreme Court Did Frankfurter and Brandeis in Particular Lead these Lead this Intensification of Protection of Different Kinds of Religions on the Court and Was There some Vestigial Memory of the Problems in the Wake of World War

I Found What I Believe Is the the First Dedication of a Chinese Temple in San Francisco in 1852 I Found I Believe that I during the Research of that Book I Understand for the First Time and You Can't Find that unless You Go Back and Read History as It Was as Was Written at the Time in the Press so It's Really a for My Work I Couldn't Do without It both of My Written Work and Now the Work I Do for the Museum So Many Resources Are Also Fully Digital Now Available To Find Them Including for Example the Wonderful Collection of the Library of Virginia

That Kind of Division Is Problematic that I Just Made because We Can Do It that Way but My Top Biggest Issue Is How We Set It in Comparative Perspective from the Sides of India and Ideas Then and Others They'LI Attribute the Success of this Country to the Demonic Values of Religion and Language That's the Way We Read It from the Other Side the Displace Is Very Successful because There's a Commonality around the Use of English and Run Christianity around the Framing of an Identity There Is Much Easier To Frame

A Check List of Coptic Manuscripts in the Pierpont Morgan Library

This book situates discussions of Christian monasticism in Egypt and Palestine within the socio-economic world of the long Late Antiquity, from the golden age of monasticism into and well beyond the Arab conquest (fifth to tenth century). Its thirteen chapters present new research into the rich corpus of textual sources and archaeological remains and move beyond traditional studies that have treated monastic communities as religious entities in physical seclusion from society. The volume brings together scholars working across traditional boundaries of subject and geography and explores a diverse range of topics from the production of food and wine to networks of scribes, patronage, and monastic visitation. As such, it paints a vivid picture of busy monastic lives dependent on and led in tandem with the non-monastic world.

A Check List of Coptic Manuscripts in the Pierpont Morgan Library (Classic Reprint)

A provocative book from a highly original scholar, challenging much of what we know about early Christian manuscripts. In this bold and groundbreaking book, Brent Nongbri provides an up-to-date introduction to the major collections of early Christian manuscripts and demonstrates that much of what we thought we knew about these books and fragments is mistaken. While biblical scholars have expended much effort in their study of the texts contained within our earliest Christian manuscripts, there has been a surprising lack of interest in thinking about these books as material objects with individual, unique histories. We have too often ignored the ways that the antiquities market obscures our knowledge of the origins of these manuscripts. Through painstaking archival research and detailed studies of our most important collections of early Christian manuscripts, Nongbri vividly shows how the earliest Christian books are more than just carriers of texts or samples of handwriting. They are three-dimensional archaeological artifacts with fascinating stories to tell, if we're willing to listen.

A Check List of Coptic Manuscripts in the Pierpont Morgan Library

"Hugo Lundhaug and Lance Jenott offer a sustained argument for the monastic provenance of the Nag Hammadi Codices. They examine the arguments for and against a monastic Sitz im Leben and defend the view that the Codices were produced and read by Christian monks, most likely Pachomians, in the fourth- and fifth-century monasteries of Upper Egypt. Eschewing the modern classification of the Nag Hammadi texts as "Gnostic," the authors approach the codices and their ancient owners from the perspective of the diverse monastic culture of late antique Egypt and situate them in the context of the ongoing controversies over extra-canonical literature and the theological legacy of Origen. Through a combination of sources, including idealized hagiographies, travelogues, monastic rules and exhortations, and the more quotidian details revealed in documentary papyri, manuscript collections, and archaeology, monasticism in the Thebaid is brought to life, and the Nag Hammadi codices situated within it. The cartonnage papyri from the leather covers of the codices, which bear witness to the monastic culture of the region, are closely examined, while scribal and codicological features of the codices are analyzed and compared with contemporary manuscripts from Egypt. Special attention is given to the codices' scribal notes and colophons which offer direct evidence of their producers and users. The study ultimately reveals the Nag Hammadi Codices as a collection of books completely at home in the monastic manuscript culture of late antique Egypt."--

Monastic Economies in Late Antique Egypt and Palestine

In Pseudo-Cyril of Jerusalem On the Life and the Passion of Christ, Roelof van den Broek offers the first edition, with introduction, translation and notes, of a Coptic text which contains a great number of apocryphal elements.

God's Library

Compilation of little-known and never-before-published apocryphal Christian texts in English translation. This anthology of ancient nonbiblical Christian literature presents informed introductions to and readable translations of a wide range of little-known apocryphal texts, most of which have never before been translated into any modern language. An introduction to the volume as a whole addresses the most significant features of the writings included and contextualizes them within the contemporary study of the Christian Apocrypha. The body of the book comprises thirty texts that have been carefully introduced, copiously annotated, and translated into English by eminent scholars. With dates of composition ranging from the second century CE to early in the second millennium, these fascinating texts provide a more complete picture of Christian thought and expression than canonical texts alone can offer.

The Monastic Origins of the Nag Hammadi Codices

Since the very beginnings of the digital humanities, Papyrology has been in the vanguard of the application of information technologies to its own scientific purposes, for both theoretical and practical reasons (the strong awareness towards the problems of human memory and the material ways of preserving it; the need to work with a multifarious and overwhelming amount of different data). After more than thirty years of development, we have now at our disposal the most advanced tools to make papyrological studies more and more effective, and even to create a new conception of "papyrology" and a new model of "edition" of the ancient documents. At this turning point, it is important to build an epistemological framework including all the different expressions of Digital Papyrology, to trace a historical sketch setting the background of the contemporary tools, and to provide a clear overview of the current theoretical and technological trends, so that all the possibilities currently available can be exploited following uniform pathways. The volume represents an innovative attempt to deal with such topics, usually relegated into very quick and general treatments within journal articles or papyrological handbooks.

The Pierpont Morgan Library Exhibition of Illuminated Manuscripts

New Testament Apocrypha, v1

The Sahidic version of 1 Samuel is an ancient daughter version of the Septuagint. Because the Sahidic translation was made before most of the Greek manuscripts we know were copied, it potentially contains ancient readings no longer preserved or only faintly attested in the Greek tradition. This study considers the Sahidic version of 1 Samuel as a translation and how it may best be used in Greek textual criticism. The aim of this study is twofold. First, to examine the translation technique of the Sahidic translator. Second, to analyze the affiliations between the Sahidic manuscripts as well as the affiliations between the Sahidic version and Greek traditions. In the translation-technical section, clause connections and translator's additions feature prominently. In the chapter concerning the affiliations of the Sahidic text, detailed textual analyses prevail. These analyses describe the textual character of each Sahidic manuscript, and search for the existence of secondary readings and/or corruptions. This study supports the creation of a new critical edition of the Septuagint of 1 Samuel for the Göttingen series. With respect to this edition, the primary goal is to identify the affiliations of the Sahidic version. This translation-technical study, however, will additionally allow for a more careful and accurate citation of the Sahidic version within the critical apparatus of the Greek text.

New Testament Apocrypha, vol. 1

A compilation of apocryphal Christian texts, many translated into English for the first time, with comprehensive introductions. This second volume of New Testament Apocrypha continues the work of the first by making available to English readers more apocryphal texts. Twenty-nine texts are featured, including The Adoration of the Magi and The Life of Mary Magdalene, each carefully introduced, copiously annotated, and translated into English by eminent scholars. These fascinating texts provide insights into the beliefs, expressions, and practices of a range of Christian communities from the early centuries through late antiquity and into the medieval period.

Digital Papyrology I

Medieval art history has long emphasized the glories of the Byzantine Empire, but less known are the profound artistic contributions of Nubia, Egypt, Ethiopia, and other powerful African kingdoms whose pivotal interactions with Byzantium had an indelible impact on the medieval Mediterranean world. Bringing together more than 170 masterworks in a range of media and techniques—from mosaic, sculpture, pottery, and metalwork to luxury objects, panel paintings, and religious manuscripts—Africa and Byzantium recounts Africa's centrality in transcontinental networks of trade and cultural exchange. With incisive scholarship and new photography of works rarely or never before seen in public, this long-overdue publication sheds new light on the staggering artistic achievements of late antique Africa. It reconsiders northern and eastern Africa's contributions to the development of the premodern world and offers a more complete history of the region as a vibrant, multiethnic society of diverse languages and faiths that played a crucial role in the artistic, economic, and cultural life of Byzantium and beyond.

Exhibition of Illuminated Manuscripts Held at the New York Public Library

Papers presented at the Eleventh International Conference on Patristic Studies held in Oxford 1991 (see also Studia Patristica 24, 25, 27 and 28). The successive sets of Studia Patristica contain papers delivered at the International Conferences on Patristic Studies, which meet for a week once every four years in Oxford; they are held under the aegis of the Theology Faculty of the University. Members of these conferences come from all over the world and most offer papers. These range over the whole field, both East and West, from the second century to a section on the Nachleben of the Fathers. The majority are short papers dealing with some small and manageable point; they raise and sometimes resolve questions about the authenticity of documents, dates of events, and such like, and some unveil new texts. The smaller number of longer papers put such matters into context and indicate wider trends. The whole reflects the state of Patristic scholarship and demonstrates the vigour and popularity of the subject.

Catalogue of Manuscripts and Early Printed Books: Italy and part of France

One of the most traumatic experiences of Late Antique Christians was the Great Persecution, begun by Emperor Diocletian and his Tetrarchic colleagues in 303 CE. Here Aaltje Hidding unites research of traditional memory studies with work done by cognitive scientists to examine how they remembered the Persecution. The resulting methodological framework, the 'cognitive ecology', systemically studies all what can be covered by this term - social surroundings, cognitive artefacts and the physical environment - and bridges the gap between individual and collective memory. The author analyses the remembrance of the Persecution in three different regions along the Nile river. In Oxyrhynchus, the thousands of papyrus fragments found at the city's rubbish dump give a vivid image of the martyrs in the daily lives of the Oxyrhynchites. In Antinoopolis, known for the cult of the physician saint Colluthus, she zooms in on the rituals and practices at a martyr's sanctuary. Finally, in Dandara, the rich hagiographical dossier of the anchorite Paphnutius shows how old memories of the Persecution became mixed with new monastic experiences. The Bohairic and Greek Passion of Paphnutius appear in their first complete English translations.
