The plantation slaves became vital to Virginia's economy
The plantation slaves developed their own social strata
The artisans stood next on the social ladder
Coopers were among the most important enslaved workers on the plantations
Daily work was from dawn to dusk
Work continued throughout the winter months
Enslaved workers produced cloth at Monticello
Slaves provided the laundering for the main house and its free occupants
House servants often worked longer days than the field hands and artisans
Slaves received two meals per day
Enslaved brewers and distillers made Virginia plantations major producers of alcohol
Daily life often included resistance to enslavement
Many slaves in Virginia were hired out by their owners
Enslaved children were hired out in forced apprenticeships
Slaves in Virginia could also self-hire, and keep the wages earned
Some enslaved people were given access to education as children
The Nat Turner Rebellion increased hostility toward educating slaves
Virginia's enslaved workers sought to retain aspects of African culture and folklore
Punishments for enslaved workers were harsh, even by the standards of the day
Slavery continued in Virginia throughout the Civil War
