Tell men of high condition, That manage the estate, Their purpose is ambition, Their practice only hate

Tell age it daily wasteth; Tell honour how it alters; Tell beauty how she blasteth; Tell favour how it falters:

And as they shall reply, Give every one the lie.

Tell physic of her boldness; Tell skill it is pretension; Tell charity of coldness; Tell law it is contention:
And as they do reply, So give them still the lie.

Tell fortune of her blindness; Tell nature of decay; Tell friendship of unkindness; Tell justice of delay;
And if they will reply, Then give them all the lie.

Tell arts they have no soundness, But vary by esteeming; Tell schools they want profoundness, And stand too much on seeming: If arts and schools reply, Give arts and schools the lie.

Tell faith it's fled the city; Tell how the country erreth; Tell, manhood shakes off pity; Tell, virtue least preferreth: And if they do reply, Spare not to give the lie.

Father's Corner

All Coming Home Tired and Souland To Eat Supper in a Kitchen That Was a Parlor Also with another Crowded Angry Family Quarreling Just across the Dumbwaiter Shaft and Squeaking Pulleys at the Windows Where Dirty Washings on Dirty Lines above a Court Full of Old Brooms and Mops and Ash Cans He Stopped by the Windmill To Look Up at the Frosty Winter Stars and Draw a Long Breath before He Went inside that Kitchen with the Shiny Windows Was Dear to Him but the Sleeping Fields in the Bright Stars and the Noble Darkness Were Dearer Still Five on the Day before Christmas He Didn't Much Need an Apprentice but He Was Sorry for the Boy and Took Him In for no Wages but His Keep and What He Could Pick Up the Pickings Were Supposed To Be Coppers Given You When You Took Work Home to a Customer but Most of the Customers Called for Their Clothes Themselves and the Coppers That Came Anton's Way Were Very Few He Had However a Place To Sleep the Tailor's Family Lived Upstairs in Three Rooms a Kitchen a Bedroom Where Lish Knits and His Wife and Five Children Slept

Though the Poor Woman Did the Best She Could Rasika Knew She Often Went Empty To Give another Potato or a Spoonful of Drippings to the Two Hungry Sad-Eyed Boys Who Lodged with Her He Used To Think He Would Never Get out of There Never Get a Clean Shirt to His Back Again What Would He Do He Wondered When His Clothes Actually Dropped to Pieces and the Worn Cloth Wouldn't Hold Patches any Longer It Was Still Early When the Old Farmer Put Aside His Sewing in His Recollections the Sky Had Been a Dark Grey all Day with Not a Gleam of Sun and the Light Failed at Four O'clock He Went To Shave and Change His Shirt while the Turkey Was Roasting Rudolph and Paulie Were Coming Over for Supper

And I Think I Won't Work no More Today He Stood Around for a Few Minutes and Then He Says Ain't You Near through I Won't You Should Get Up a Nice Supper for Us Tonight It's Fourth of July I Told Him To Get Along that I Was Right in the Middle of Preserving but the Plums Would Taste Good on Hot Biscuit I'M Going To Have Fried Chicken Too He Says and He Went Off and Killed a Couple You Three Oldest Boys Was Little Fellers Playing Round outside Real Hot and Sweaty and Your Father Took You to the Horse Tank Down by the Windmill and Took Off Your Clothes and Put You in Them to Boxelder Trees Was Little Din

I'M Going To Have Fried Chicken Too He Says and He Went Off and Killed a Couple You Three Oldest Boys Was Little Fellers Playing Round outside Real Hot and Sweaty and Your Father Took You to the Horse Tank Down by the Windmill and Took Off Your Clothes and Put You in Them to Boxelder Trees Was Little Din but They Made Shade over the Tank and He Took Off All His Own Clothes and Got In with You while He Was Playing in the Water with You the Methodist Preacher Drove into Our Place To Say How All the Neighbors Was Going To Meet at the Schoolhouse that Night To Pray for Rain And Your Father Took You to the Horse Tank Down by the Windmill and Took Off Your Clothes and Put You in Them to Boxelder Trees Was Little Din but They Made Shade over the Tank and He Took Off

All His Own Clothes and Got In with You while He Was Playing in the Water with You the Methodist Preacher Drove into Our Place To Say How All the Neighbors Was Going To Meet at the Schoolhouse that Night To Pray for Rain He Drove Right to the Windmill of Course and There Was Your Father So He Laid in the Tank Where He Was and Put One of You Boys on Top of Him To Cover Him Up a Little and Talk to the Preacher When You Got through Playing in the Water He Put Clean Clothes on You and a Clean Shirt on Himself and by that Time I'D Begun To Get Supper He Says It's Too Hot in Here To Eat Comfortable Let's Have a Picnic in the Orchard We'll Eat Our Supper behind the Mulberry Hedge under Them Linden Trees so He Carried Our Supper Down and a Bottle of My Wild Grape Wine and Everything Tasted Good I Can the Wind Got Cooler as the Sun Was Going Down You Mean You Won't Get no Crop At All I Asked Him I Couldn't Believe It after He'D Worked So Hard no Crop this Year He Said that's Why We'Re Having a Picnic We Might As Well Enjoy What We Got and that Shows How Your Father Behaved When All the Neighbors Was So Discouraged They Couldn't Look You in the Face and We Enjoyed Ourselves a Year Poor as We Was and Our Neighbors Wasn't a Bit Better Off for Being Miserable some of Them Grieved till They Got Poor Digestion Xand Couldn't Relish What They Did Have the Younger Boys Said They Thought Their Father Had the Best of It It Ain't So Much Fun Being Poor in a Big City like London and I'll Say All the Windows Is Full of Good Things To Eat and all To Push Carts in the Streets Is Full and You Smell Him All the Time and You Ain't Got no Money Not a Damn Bit I Don't Mind a Cold So Much though I Didn't Have no Overcoat Just a Short Jacket I'D Outgrown so It Wouldn't Meet on Me and My Hands Was Chapter Raw but I Always Had a Good Appetite like You all Know and Decided Import Pies and the Windows Was Awful for Me Day before Christmas Was Terrible Foggy that Year and that Fog Gets into Your Bones I Went into My Corner Real Quiet and Roll Up at My Feder Quilt but I Ain't Got My Head Down till I Smelled Something Good Seem like It Gets Stronger and Stronger and I Can't Get To Sleep no Way I Can't Understand that Smell There Was a Gas Light in Hall across the Court That Always Shine in My Window a Little I Got Up and Look Around I Got a Little Wooden Box in My Corner for a Stool because I Ain't Got no Chair

There Was a Gas Light in Hall across the Court That Always Shine in My Window a Little I Got Up and Look Around I Got a Little Wooden Box in My Corner for a Stool because I Ain't Got no Chair I Picks Up that Box and under It There's a Roast Goose on a Platter I Can't Believe My Eyes I Carry It to the Window Where the Light Comes In and Touch It and Smell It To Find Out and Then I Taste It To Be Sure I Say I Will Eat Just One Little Bite of Deku so I Can Go to Sleep and Tomorrow I Won't Eat None At All but I Tell You Boys

Where the Light Comes In and Touch It and Smell It To Find Out and Then I Taste It To Be Sure I Say I Will Eat Just One Little Bite of Deku so I Can Go to Sleep and Tomorrow I Won't Eat None At All but I Tell You Boys When I Stop One Half of that Goose Was Gone the Narrator Bowed His Head and the Boys Shouted but Little Josephine Slipped behind His Chair and Kissed Him on the Neck beneath His Ear Poor Little Papa I Don't Want Him To Be Hungry that's Long Ago Child I Ain't Never Been Hungry since I Had Your Mutter To Cook for Me Go On and Tell Us the Rest Please Said Paulie Well When I Come To Realize

And It all Come to Me How that Poor Woman Saved To Buy that Goose and How She Could some Neighbor To Cook It That Got More Fire and How She Put It in My Corner To Keep It Away from Them Hungry Children There Was an Old Carpet Hung Up To Shut My Corner Off and the Children Wasn't Allowed To Go In There and I Know She Put It in My Corner because She Trusts Me More and She Did the Violin Boy I Can't Stand To Face Her after I Spoiled a Christmas

There Was an Old Carpet Hung Up To Shut My Corner Off and the Children Wasn't Allowed To Go In There and I Know She Put It in My Corner because She Trusts Me More and She Did the Violin Boy I Can't Stand To Face Her after I Spoiled a Christmas So I Put On My Shoes and I Go Out into the City I Tell Myself I Better Throw Myself in the River but I Guess I Ain't that Kind of a Boy It Was after 12 O'clock and Terrible Cold and I Start Out To Walk about London all Night I Walk along the River a While but There Was Lots of Drunks All along Men and Women Too I Just Move Along To Keep Away from the Police I Get On to Districts Fir'D Street Where There Was a Big German Restaurant on the Ground Floor with Big Windows all Fixed Up Fine and I Could See the People Having Parties

I Guess I Went Crazy and I Done What I Ain't Never Done Before nor since I Went Right Up to Them Gay People and Begun To Beg Them Fellow Countrymen for God's Sake Give Me Money Enough To Buy a Goose They Laugh of Course but the Ladies Speak Awful Kind to Me and They Take Me Back into the Restaurant and Give Me Hot Coffee and Cakes and Make Me Tell All about How I Happen To Come to London and What I Was Doing There They Take My Name and Where I Work Down on Paper and both the Dem Ladies Give Me Ten Shillings the Big Market at Covent Garden a Very Far Away and by that Time It Was Opened I Go There and Buy a Big Goose

When I Get Home Everybody Is Still Asleep I Pile all I Bought onto the Kitchen Table and I Go In and Lay Down on My Bed and I Ain't Waking Up til I Hear that Woman Scream When She Come Out Here into Her Kitchen My Goodness but She Was Surprised She Laugh and Cry at the Same Time and Hug Me and Waken All the Children She Ain't Stopped for no Breakfast She Get to Christmas Dinner Ready Dabbe Morning and We all Sit Down and Eat all We Can Hold Ain't Never Seen Doubt Island Boy Have all He Can Hold

And He Give Me a Good Report and Tell Them I Was a Steady Boy All Right One of Them Bohemians Was Very Smart and Run a Bohemian Newspaper in New York and the Other Was a Rich Man in the Importing Business and They've Been Travelling Together They Told Me How Things Was Easier in New York and Offered To Pay My Passage When They Was Going Home Soon on a Boat My Boss Say to Me You Go You Ain't Got no Chance Here and I Like To See You Get Ahead for You Always Been a Good Boy to My Woman and for that Fine Christmas Dinner You Give Us all and that's How I Got to New York

And Polly Were Having Such a Hard Start Sitting beside His Flowering Window while the Panes Rattled in the Wind Blew In under the Door Rocky Gave Himself to Reflection as He Had Not Done since those Sundays in the Loft of the Furniture Factory in New York Long Ago Then He Was Trying To Find What He Wanted in Life for Himself Now He Was Trying To Find What He Wanted for His Boys and Why It Was He So Hungered To Feel Sure They Would Be Here Working this Very Land Now He Was Trying To Find What He Wanted for His Boys and Why It Was He So Hungered To Feel Sure They Would Be Here Working this Very Land after He Was Gone They Would Have To Work Hard on the Farm and Probably They Would Never Do Much More than Make a Living but if He Could Think of Them as Staying Here on the Land He Wouldn't Have To Fear any Great Unkindness for Them Hardships Certainly It Was a Hardship To Have the Wheat Freeze in the Ground When the Seed Was So High and To Have To Sell Your Stock because You Had no Feed

Rasika Got the Thistles Raked Up but Did Not Stop To Burn Them That Would Take some Time and His Breath Was Pretty Short so He Thought He Had Better Get the Horses Back to the Barn He Got Them into the Barn and to Their Stalls but the Pain Had Come On So Sharp in His Chest that He Didn't Try To Take the Harness off He Started for the House Bending Lower with every Step the Cramp in His Chest Was Shutting Him like a Jackknife

And Blue with the Sweat Pouring off Him as the Pain Gradually Loosed Its Grip the Stiffness Went out of His Jaws the Black Circles around His Eyes Disappeared and a Little of His Natural Color Came Back When His Daughter-in-Law Buttoned His Shirt over His Chest at Last He Sighed that's Fine the Way I Feel Now Polly It Was a Awful Bad Spell and I Was So Sorry It all Come on You Like It Did Polly Was Flushed and Excited Is the Pain Really Gone Can I Leave You Long Enough To Telephone Over to Your Place Rocky's Eyelids Leonard Don't Telephone Poly It Ain't no Use To Scare My Wife It's Nice and Quiet Here and if I Ain't Too Much Trouble to You Just Let Me Lay Still Till I Feel like Myself I Ain't Got no Pain Now It's Nice Here Pauli Bent over Him and Wiped the Moisture from His Face Oh I'M So Glad It's over She Broke Out Impulsively It Just Broke My Heart To See You Suffer so Father Rasika Motioned Her To Sit Down on the Chair Where the Tea Kettle Had Been and Looked Up at Her with that Lively Affectionate Gleam in His Eyes He Was Awful Good to Me and I Will Never Forget that I Hate It To Be Sick on You like this Down at the Bar and I Say to Myself that Younger Lean Had Much Experience in Sickness I Don't Want To Scare Her and Maybe She's Got a Baby Coming or Something Polly Took His Hand

But I Haven't Told Anyone Yet Not My Mother or Rudolph He'LI Be the First To Know His Hand Pressed Hers She Noticed that It Was Warm Again the Twinkle and His Yellow Brown Eyes Seemed To Come Nearer I'D Like Mighty Well To See that Little Child Polly Was all He Said Then He Closed His Eyes and Lay Half Smiling but Polly Sat Still Thinking Hard She Had a Sudden Feeling that Nobody in the World Not Her Mother Not Rudolph or Anyone Really Loved Her As Much as Old Rossik He Did It Perplexed Her She Sat Frowning and Trying To Puzzle It Out It Was as if Rocky Had a Special Gift for Loving People Something That Was like an Ear for Music or in for Color

He Suffered So I Was Afraid He Was Going To Die Rudolf Jumped to the Ground Where Is He Now on the Bed He's Asleep I Was Terribly Scared because You Know I'M So Fond of Your Father She Slipped Her Arm through His and They Went into the House that Afternoon They Took Rossi Key Home and Put Him to Bed though He Protested that He Was Quite Well Again the Next Morning He Got Up and Dressed and Sat Down to Breakfast with His Family He Told Mary that His Coffee Tasted Better than Usual to Him and He Warned the Boys Not To Bear any Tales to Dr Ed When He Got Home after Breakfast He Sat Down by His Window To Do some Patching

He Told Mary that His Coffee Tasted Better than Usual to Him and He Warned the Boys Not To Bear any Tales to Dr Ed When He Got Home after Breakfast He Sat Down by His Window To Do some

Patching and Asked Mary to Thread Several Needles for Him before She Went To Feed Her Chickens Her Eyes Were Better than His and Her Hands Steadier He Lit His Pipe and Took Up John's Overalls Mary Had Been Watching Him Anxiously all Morning and as She Went out of the Door with Her Bucket of Scraps She Saw that He Was Smiling He Was Thinking Indeed about Polly and How He Might Never Have Known What a Tender Heart She Had if He Hadn't Got Sick over There Girls Nowadays Don't Wear Their Heart on Their Sleeve

At the Door He Fell When Mary Came in She Found Him Lying There and the Moment She Touched Him She Knew that He Was Gone Dr Ed Was Away When Rossi Key Died and for the First Few Weeks after He Got Home He Was Hard Driven every Day He Said to Himself that He Must Get Out To See that Family That Had Lost Their Father One Soft Warm Moonlight Night in Early Summer He Started for the Farm

Dr Ed Was Away When Rossi Key Died and for the First Few Weeks after He Got Home He Was Hard Driven every Day He Said to Himself that He Must Get Out To See that Family That Had Lost Their Father One Soft Warm Moonlight Night in Early Summer He Started for the Farm His Mind Was on Other Things and Not until His Road Ran by the Graveyard Did He Realize that Rossi Key Wasn't Over There on that Hill Where the Red Lamp Light Shone but Here in the Moonlight He Stopped His Car Shut Off the Engine and Sat There for a While a Sudden Hush Had Fallen on His Soul Everything Here Seems Strangely Moving and Significant though Signifying What He Did Not Know Close by the Wire Fence Stood Rossi Keyes Mowing Machine Where One of the Boys Had Been Cutting Hay that Afternoon

The Sky Was Very Blue and Soft the Stars Rather Faint because the Moon Was Full for the First Time It Struck Dr Edy that this Was Really a Beautiful Graveyard He Thought of City Cemeteries Acres of Shrubbery in Heavy Stone So Arranged and Lonely and unlike Anything in the Living World Cities of the Dead Indeed Cities of the Forgotten of the Put Away but this Was Open and Free this Little Square of Long Grass Which the Wind Forever Stirred Nothing but the Sky Overhead and the Many Color Fields Running on until They Met that Sky the Horses Worked Here in the Summer the Neighbors Passed on Their Way to Town

Still Writing

This national bestseller from celebrated novelist and memoirist Dani Shapiro is an intimate and eloquent companion to living a creative life. Through a blend of memoir, meditation on the artistic process, and advice on craft, Shapiro offers her gift to writers everywhere: a guide of hard-won wisdom and advice for staying the course. In the ten years since the first edition, Still Writing has become a mainstay of creative writing classes as well as a lodestar for writers just starting out, and above all, an indispensable almanac for modern writers.

Still Writing

Examines the process of creative writing and storytelling through the author's personal stories and experiences of living a writer's life and offers lessons and insights to aspiring authors.

Still Writing

"Still Writing offers up a cornucopia of wisdom, insights, and practical lessons gleaned from Dani Shapiro's long experience as a celebrated writer and teacher of writing. The beneficiaries are beginning writers, veteran writers and everyone in between."--Jennifer Egan From Dani Shapiro, bestselling author of Devotion and Slow Motion, comes a witty, heartfelt, and practical look at the exhilarating and challenging process of storytelling. At once a memoir, a meditation on the artistic process, and advice on craft, Still Writing is an intimate companion to living a creative life. Writers--and anyone with an artistic temperament--will find inspiration and comfort in these pages. Offering lessons learned over twenty years of teaching and writing, Shapiro shares her own revealing insights to weave an indispensable almanac for modern writers.

Devotion

In her midforties and settled into the responsibilities and routines of adulthood, Dani Shapiro found herself with more questions than answers. Was this all life was—a hodgepodge of errands, dinner dates, e-mails, meetings, to-do lists? What did it all mean? Having grown up in a deeply religious and traditional family, Shapiro had no personal sense of faith, despite repeated attempts to create a connection to something greater. Feeling as if she was plunging headlong into what Carl Jung termed "the afternoon of life," she wrestled with self-doubt and a searing disquietude that would awaken her in the middle of the night. Set adrift by loss—her father's early death; the life-threatening illness of her infant son; her troubled relationship with her mother—she had become edgy and uncertain. At the heart of this anxiety, she realized, was a challenge: What did she believe? Spurred on by the big questions her young son began to raise, Shapiro embarked upon a surprisingly joyful quest to find meaning in a constantly changing world. The result is Devotion: a literary excavation to the core of a life. In this spiritual detective story, Shapiro explores the varieties of experience she has pursued—from the rituals of her black hat Orthodox Jewish relatives to yoga shalas and meditation retreats. A reckoning of the choices she has made and the knowledge she has gained, Devotion is the story of a woman whose search for meaning ultimately leads her home. Her journey is at once poignant and funny, intensely personal—and completely universal.

Why We Write

Twenty of America's bestselling authors share tricks, tips, and secrets of the successful writing life. Anyone who's ever sat down to write a novel or even a story knows how exhilarating and heartbreaking writing can be. So what makes writers stick with it? In Why We Write, twenty well-known authors candidly share what keeps them going and what they love most—and least—about their vocation. Contributing authors include: Isabel Allende David Baldacci Jennifer Egan James Frey Sue Grafton Sara Gruen Kathryn Harrison Gish Jen Sebastian Junger Mary Karr Michael Lewis Armistead Maupin Terry McMillan Rick Moody Walter Mosley Susan Orlean Ann Patchett Jodi Picoult Jane Smiley Meg Wolitzer

Hourglass

The best-selling novelist and memoirist delivers her most intimate and powerful work: a piercing, life-affirming memoir about marriage and memory, about the frailty and elasticity of our most essential bonds, and about the accretion, over time, of both sorrow and love. Hourglass is an inquiry into how marriage is transformed by time--abraded, strengthened, shaped in miraculous and sometimes terrifying ways by accident and experience. With courage and relentless honesty, Dani Shapiro opens the door to her house, her marriage, and her heart, and invites us to witness her own marital reckoning--a reckoning in which she confronts both the life she dreamed of and the life she made, and struggles to reconcile the girl she was with the woman she has become. What are the forces that shape our most elemental bonds? How do we make lifelong commitments in the face of identities that are continuously shifting, and commit ourselves for all time when the self is so often in flux? What happens to love in the face of the unexpected, in the face of disappointment and compromise--how do we wrest beauty from imperfection, find grace in the ordinary, desire what we have rather than what we lack? Drawing on literature, poetry, philosophy, and theology, Shapiro writes gloriously of the joys and challenges of matrimonial life, in a luminous narrative that unfurls with urgent immediacy and sharp intelligence. Artful, intensely emotional work from one of our finest writers.

Slow Motion

From one of the most gifted writers of her generation comes the harrowing and exquisitely written true story of how a family tragedy saved her life. Dani Shapiro was a young girl from a deeply religious home who became the girlfriend of a famous and flamboyant married attorney—her best friend's stepfather. The moment Lenny Klein entered her life, everything changed: she dropped out of college, began to drink heavily, and became estranged from her family and friends. But then the phone call came. There had been an accident on a snowy road near her family's home in New Jersey, and both her parents lay hospitalized in critical condition. This haunting memoir traces her journey back into the world she had left behind. At a time when she was barely able to take care of herself, she was faced with the terrifying task of taking care of two people who needed her desperately. Dani Shapiro charts a riveting emotional course as she retraces her isolated, overprotected Orthodox Jewish childhood in an anti-Semitic suburb, and draws the connections between that childhood and her inevitable rebellion and self-destructiveness. She tells of a life nearly ruined by the gift of beauty, and then saved by the worst thing imaginable. This is a beautiful and unforgettable memoir of a life utterly transformed by tragedy.

Writing Past Dark

"In the spirit of Annie Dillard's The Writing Life, Friedman...gives heartfelt counsel to those who need to be coaxed into the creative process."--Washington Post An indispensable guide for writers that explores the emotional side of writing and offers insightful advice on overcoming writer's block, procrastination, guilt, and more. Charting the emotional side of the writer's life, Writing Past Dark is a writing companion to reach for when you feel lost and want to regain access to the memories, images, and the ideas inside you that are the fuel of strong writing. Combining personal narrative and other writers' experiences, Bonnie Friedman explores a whole array of emotions and dilemmas writers face--envy, distraction, guilt, and writer's block--and shares the clues that can set you free so that you can write the book you've always dreamed of writing. Supportive, intimate, and reflective, Writing Past Dark is a comfort and resource for all writers.

Design Your Life

Design Your Life is a series of irreverent and realistic snapshots about objects and how we interact with them. By leading design thinker Ellen Lupton and her twin sister Julia Lupton, it shows how design is about much more than what's bought at high-end stores or the modern look at IKEA. Design is critical thinking: a way to look at the world and wonder why things work, and why they don't. Illustrated with original paintings of objects both ordinary and odd, Design Your Life casts a sharp eye on everything from roller bags, bras, toilet paper, and stuffed animals to parenting, piles, porches, and potted plants. Using humor and insight Ellen and Julia explore the practical side of everyday design, looking at how it impacts your life in unexpected ways and what you can do about it. Speaking to the popular interest in design as well as people's desire to make their own way through a mass-produced world, this thoughtful book takes a fresh and humorous approach to make some serious points about the impact of design on our lives. Find out what's wrong with the bras, pillows, potted plants, and the other hopeless stuff you use, buy, clean, water, or put away everyday. Discover how to secretly control the actions of those around you by choosing and placing objects carefully. Find out how roller bags are threatening civilization, and how the layout of your own house might be making you miserable. Use the tools of self-publishing to take the power of branding into your own hands. Taking a fresh, funny look at parenthood, housekeeping, entertaining, time management, crafting, and more, Design Your Life shows you how to evaluate the things you use, and how to recognize forms of order that secretly inhabit the messes of daily life, be it a cluttered room or a busy schedule. Use this book to gain control over your environment and tap into the power of design to communicate with friends, family, and the world.

Ron Carlson Writes a Story

Ron Carlson has been praised as "a master of the short story" (Booklist). In this essay collection, Ron Carlson Writes a Story, he offers a full range of notes and gives rare insight into a veteran writer's process by inviting the reader to watch over his shoulder as he creates the short story "The Governor's Ball." "This is a story of a story" he begins, and proceeds to offer practical advice for creating a great story, from the first glimmer of an idea to the final sentence. Carlson urges the writer to refuse the outside distractions—a second cup of coffee, a troll through the dictionary—and attend to the necessity of uncertainty, the pleasures of an unfolding story. "The Governor's Ball"—included in its entirety—serves as a fascinating illustration of the detailed anatomy of a short story.

Waiting For Snow In Havana

A childhood in a privileged household in 1950s Havana was joyous and cruel, like any other-but with certain differences. The neighbour's monkey was liable to escape and run across your roof. Surfing was conducted by driving cars across the breakwater. Lizards and firecrackers made frequent contact. Carlos Eire's childhood was a little different from most. His father was convinced he had been Louis XVI in a past life. At school, classmates with fathers in the Batista government were attended by chauffeurs and bodyguards. At a home crammed with artifacts and paintings, portraits of Jesus spoke to him in dreams and nightmares. Then, in January 1959, the world changes: Batista is suddenly gone, a cigar-smoking guerrilla has taken his place, and Christmas is cancelled. The echo of firing squads is everywhere. And, one by one, the author's schoolmates begin to disappear-spirited away to the United States. Carlos will end up there himself, without his parents, never to see his father again. Narrated with the urgency of a confession, WAITING FOR SNOW IN HAVANA is both an ode to a paradise lost and an exorcism. More than that, it captures the terrible beauty of those times in our lives when we are certain we have died-and then are somehow, miraculously, reborn.

Picturing the Wreck

Estranged from his wife and child for 30 years following an affair with one of his patients, a Jewish psychoanalyst begins a journey toward redemption which leads him to Los Angeles in search of a reconciliation with his son.

Working Days

John Steinbeck wrote The Grapes of Wrath during an astonishing burst of activity between June and October of 1938. Throughout the time he was creating his greatest work, Steinbeck faithfully kept a journal revealing his arduous journey toward its completion. The journal, like the novel it chronicles, tells a tale of dramatic proportions—of dogged determination and inspiration, yet also of paranoia, self-doubt, and obstacles. It records in intimate detail the conception and genesis of The Grapes of Wrath and its huge though controversial success. It is a unique and penetrating portrait of an emblematic American writer creating an essential American masterpiece.

The Empty Chair

Composed of two companion novellas, The Empty Chair is a profound, heart-wrenching piece of spiritual storytelling from Bruce Wagner, the internationally acclaimed author of such novels as Dead Stars, I'm Losing You and Force Majeure. In First Guru, a fictional Wagner narrates the tale of a Buddhist living in Big Sur, who achieves enlightenment in the horrific aftermath of his child's suicide. In Second Guru, Queenie, an aging wild child, returns to India to complete the spiritual journey of her youth. Told in ravaged, sensuous detail to the author-narrator by two strangers on opposite sides of the country, years apart from each other, both stories illuminate the random, chaotic nature of human suffering and the miraculous strength of the human spirit. A deeply affecting and meditative reading experience, The Empty Chair is an exquisitely rendered, thought-provoking, and humbling new work.

Shimmering Images

Rich, funny, and moving personal narratives depend on a few key moments in time to anchor the story and give it impact. Shimmering Images teaches the aspiring memoirist how to locate key memories using Lisa's technique for finding, linking, and fleshing out those vibrant recollections of important moments and situations. Shimmering Images will address: *the difference between memoir and autobiography *how to claim your voice *the art of storytelling *honesty, truth, and compassion in writing *authentic dialogue and the need for specificity Readers will learn how to craft a short piece of narrative nonfiction grounded in their core memories and master a technique they can use over and over again for writing other narratives. A must-have book for anyone who has treasured Bird by Bird by Anne Lamott or Writing Down the Bones by Natalie Goldberg.

Even Cowgirls Get the Blues

"This is one of those special novels—a piece of working magic, warm, funny, and sane."—Thomas Pynchon The whooping crane rustlers are girls. Young girls. Cowgirls, as a matter of fact, all "bursting with dimples and hormones"—and the FBI has never seen anything quite like them. Yet their rebellion at the Rubber Rose Ranch is almost overshadowed by the arrival of the legendary Sissy Hankshaw, a white-trash goddess literally born to hitchhike, and the freest female of them all. Freedom, its prizes and its prices, is a major theme of Tom Robbins's classic tale of eccentric adventure. As his robust characters attempt to turn the tables on fate, the reader is drawn along on a tragicomic joyride across the badlands of sexuality, wild rivers of language, and the frontiers of the mind.

An Absorbing Errand

An Absorbing Errand uses stories of artists' lives, personal anecdotes, and insights from the author's work as a psychotherapist to examine the psychological obstacles that prevent people from staying with, and relishing, the process of art-making. Each chapter is devoted to a problem intrinsic to the creative process and illustrates how these very obstacles, once understood, can become prime sources of the energy that actually fuels the mastery of art-making. Ultimately, An Absorbing Errand provides a philosophical, historical, and analytical look at the creative impulse and how certain artists from a wide field mastered their craft. From Julia Child to Charlie Chaplin, Lady Gaga to Michael Jackson, famous painters to established writers, Smith shows us how each overcame the obstacles they faced in the pursuit of their creative visions. Many people carry within their hearts an aching sense that they have something they want to express through art; or that they will not feel complete until they've brought out some hidden part of themselves. Yet they cannot begin to do the work of bringing their creative idea into the world. Or, maybe they've begun over and over, but they can't stay with their labor long enough to finish it. An Absorbing Errand is a supportive companion, an enlightened and compassionate ballast, a guide for anyone who has ever picked up a pencil to write, or a paint brush to paint, or any tool—from chisel to loom—to pursue any serious craft, and then put it down again frustrated, discouraged, and unable to continue. An Absorbing Errand is unlike any book about creating art of any kind, and aspiring and working artists alike will find it both original and invaluable.

On Moral Fiction

“Fearless, illuminating” criticism from a New York Times–bestselling author and legendary teacher, “proving . . . that true art is moral and not trivial” (Los Angeles Times). Novelist John Gardner’s thesis in On Moral Fiction is simple: “True art is by its nature moral.” It is also an audacious statement, as Gardner asserts an inherent value in life and in art. Since the book’s first publication, the passion behind Gardner’s assertion has both provoked and inspired readers. In examining the work of his peers, Gardner analyzes what has gone wrong, in his view, in modern art and literature, and how shortcomings in artistic criticism have contributed to the problem. He develops his argument by showing how artists and critics can reintroduce morality and substance to their work to improve society and cultivate our morality. On Moral Fiction is an essential read in which Gardner presents his thoughtfully developed criteria for the elements he believes are essential to art and its creation. This ebook features an illustrated biography of John Gardner, including original letters, rare photos, and never-before-seen documents from the Gardner family and the University of Rochester Archives.

Dilettante

A witty, insightful, and delightfully snarky blend of pop culture meets memoir meets real-life Devil Wears Prada as readers learn the stories behind twenty-five years at Vanity Fair from the magazine’s former deputy editor “Dilettante offers the best seat in the house into the workings of one of the great cultural institutions of our time.”—Buzz Bissinger, New York Times bestselling author of Friday Night Lights Dana Brown was a twenty-one-year-old college dropout playing in punk bands and partying his way through downtown New York’s early-nineties milieu when he first encountered Graydon Carter, the legendary editor of Vanity Fair. After the two had a handful of brief interactions (mostly with Brown in the role of cater waiter at Carter’s famous cultural salons he hosted at his home), Carter saw what he believed to be Brown’s untapped potential, and on a whim, hired him as his assistant. Brown instantly became a trusted confidante and witness to all of the biggest parties, blowups, and takedowns. From inside the famed Vanity Fair Oscar parties to the emerging world of the tech elite, Brown’s job offered him access to some of the most exclusive gatherings and powerful people in the world, and the chance to learn in real time what exactly a magazine editor does—all while trying to stay sober enough from the required party scene attendance to get the job done. Against all odds, he rose up the ranks to eventually become the magazine’s deputy editor, spending a quarter century curating tastes at one of the most storied cultural shops ever assembled. Dilettante reveals Brown’s most memorable moments from the halcyon days of the magazine business, explores his own journey as an unpedigreed outsider to established editor, and shares glimpses of some of the famous and infamous stories (and people) that tracked the magazine’s extraordinary run all keenly observed by Brown. He recounts tales from the trenches, including encounters with everyone from Anna Wintour, Lee Radziwill, and Condé Nast owner Si Newhouse, to Seth Rogen, Caitlyn Jenner, and acclaimed journalists Dominick Dunne and Christopher Hitchens. Written with equal parts affection, cultural exploration, and nostalgia, Dilettante is a defining story within that most magical time and place in the culture of media. It is also a highly readable memoir that skillfully delivers a universal coming-of-age story about growing up and finding your place in the world.

What Should We Tell Our Daughters?

We have reached a tricky crossroads in modern women’s lives and our collective daughters are bearing the brunt of some intolerable pressures. Although feminism has made great strides forward since our mothers’ and grandmothers’ day, many of the key issues - equality of pay, equality in the home, representation at senior level in the private, public and political sectors - remain to be tackled. Casual sexism in the media and in everyday life is still rife and our daughters face a host of new difficulties as they are bombarded by images of unrealistically skinny airbrushed supermodels, celebrity role-models who depend on their looks and partners for status, and by competitive social media. The likes of Natasha Walter and Katie Roiphe deal with feminism from an adult point of view, but our daughters need to be prepared for stresses that are coming into play now as early as pre-school. This is a manifesto for every mother who has ever had to comfort a daughter who doesn't feel 'pretty', for every young woman who out-performs her male peers professionally and wonders why she is still not taken seriously, and for anyone interested in the world we are making for the next generation.

Family History

From the New York Times bestselling author of Inheritance and host of the hit podcast Family Secrets—"a bona fide page turner" (The New York Times Book Review) about the mysteries of teenage pain and family crisis. Rachel Jensen is perfectly happy: in love with her husband, devoted to their daughter Kate, gratified by her work restoring art. And finally, she's pregnant again. But as Rachel discovers, perfection can unravel in an instant. The summer she is thirteen, Kate returns from camp sullen, angry, and withdrawn. Everyone assures Rachel it's typical adolescent angst. But then Kate has a terrifying accident with her infant brother, and the ensuing guilt brings forth a dreadful lie—one that ruptures their family, perhaps irrevocably.

The Pleasures and Sorrows of Work

We spend most of our waking lives at work y in occupations often chosen by our unthinking sixteen-year-old selves. And yet we rarely ask ourselves how we got there or what it might mean for us. Equally intrigued by work's pleasures and its pains, Alain de Botton here heads out into the under-charted worlds of the office, the factory, the fishing fleet and the logistics centre, ears and eyes open to the beauty, interest and sheer strangeness of the modern workplace. Along the way he tries to answer some of the most urgent questions we can ask about work: Why do we do it? What makes it pleasurable? What is its meaning? And why do we daily exhaust not only ourselves but also the planet? Characteristically lucid, witty and inventive, Alain de Botton's 'song for occupations' is a celebration and exploration of an aspect of life which is all too often ignored and yet as central to us as our love lives.

Still Life with Bread Crumbs

LONGLISTED FOR THE BAILEYS WOMEN'S PRIZE FOR FICTION 2014 THE NEW YORK TIMES BESTSELLER Still Life with Bread Crumbs begins with an imagined gunshot and ends with a new tin roof. Between the two is a wry and knowing portrait of Rebecca Winter, a photographer whose work made her an unlikely heroine for many women. Her career is now descendent, her bank balance shaky, and she has fled the city for the middle of nowhere. There she discovers, in a tree stand with a roofer named Jim Bates, that what she sees through a camera lens is not all there is to life. Brilliantly written, powerfully observed, Still Life with Bread Crumbs is a deeply moving and often very funny story of unexpected love, and a stunningly crafted journey into the life of a woman, her heart, her mind, her days, as she discovers that life is a story with many levels, a story that is longer and more exciting than she ever imagined.

Daybook

A beautiful new edition of the cult classic that counts Zadie Smith and Rachel Kushner among its fans – with a new introduction by Celia Paul. 'I am an artist. Even to write it makes me feel deeply uneasy.' Renowned American artist Anne Truitt kept this illuminating and inspiring journal between 1974-8, determined to come to terms with the forces that shaped her art and life. She recalls her childhood on the eastern shore of Maryland, her career change from psychology to art, and her path to a sculptural practice that would 'set colour free in three dimensions'. She reflects on the generous advice of other artists, watches her own daughters' journey into motherhood, meditates on criticism and solitude, and struggles to find the way to express her vision. Resonant and true, encouraging and revelatory, Anne Truitt guides herself – and her readers – through a life in which domestic activities and the needs of children and friends are constantly juxtaposed against the world of colour and abstract geometry to which she is drawn in her art. Beautifully written and a rare window on the workings of a creative mind, Daybook showcases an extraordinary artist whose insights generously and succinctly illuminate the artistic process. 'Truitt wrote as she sculpted, returning to the past again and again to find fresh truths.' The New Yorker 'This miracle of a book will inspire artists for generations to come.' Celia Paul

Inheritance

A New York Times BestsellerIn the spring of 2016, a genealogy website to which she had whimsically submitted her DNA for analysis gave Dani Shapiro the stunning news that her father was not her biological father. Her entire history, the life she had lived, crumbled beneath her. Inheritance is a book about secrets -- secrets within families, kept out of shame or self-protectiveness; secrets we keep in the name of love. It is about a woman's urgent quest to unlock the story of her identity, which was scrupulously hidden from her for over fifty years -- years she had spent writing brilliantly, and compulsively, on themes of identity and family history.

Black & White

From the New York Times bestselling author of Inheritance and host of the hit podcast Family Secrets—"a cool depiction of a mother and daughter's fraught and fiery relationship" (USA Today). Clara Brodeur has spent her entire adult life pulling herself away from her famous mother, the renowned and controversial photographer Ruth Dunne, whose towering reputation rests on the unsettling nude portraits she took of her young daughter. At age eighteen, sick of her notoriety as "the girl in the pictures," Clara fled New York City, settling and making her own family in small-town Maine. But years later, when Ruth reaches out from her deathbed, Clara suddenly finds herself drawn back to the past she thought she had escaped. From the beloved author of Family History and Slow Motion, a spellbinding novel that asks: How do we forgive those who failed to protect us?

The Ramblers

For fans of J. Courtney Sullivan, Meg Wolitzer, Claire Messud, and Emma Straub, a gorgeous and absorbing novel of a trio of confused souls struggling to find themselves and the way forward in their lives, set against the spectacular backdrop of contemporary New York City. Set in the most magical parts of Manhattan—the Upper West Side, Central Park, Greenwich Village—The Ramblers explores the lives of three lost souls, bound together by friendship and family. During the course of one fateful Thanksgiving week, a time when emotions run high and being with family can be a mixed blessing, Rowley's sharply defined characters explore the moments when decisions are deliberately made, choices accepted, and pasts reconciled. Clio Marsh, whose bird-watching walks through Central Park are mentioned in New York Magazine, is taking her first tentative steps towards a relationship while also looking back to the secrets of her broken childhood. Her best friend, Smith Anderson, the seemingly-perfect daughter of one of New York's wealthiest families, organizes the lives of others as her own has fallen apart. And Tate Pennington has returned to the city, heartbroken but determined to move ahead with his artistic dreams. Rambling through the emotional chaos of their lives, this trio learns to let go of the past, to make room for the future and the uncertainty and promise that it holds. The Ramblers is a love letter to New York City—an accomplished, sumptuous novel about fate, loss, hope, birds, friendship, love, the wonders of the natural world and the mysteries of the human spirit.

From Room to Room

The poems in Jane Kenyon's first book are full of respect for a life deeply felt. Her vision apprehends the mystery beneath everyday circumstances and objects, from the thimble to the edges of the map. The final section is translations of six poems by Anna Akhmatova.

The Perils of Pleasure

A rescued rogue . . . Scandal has rocked the city of London. Colin Eversea, a handsome, reckless unapologetic rogue is sentenced to hang for murder and, inconveniently for him, the only witness to the crime disappears. Then again, throughout history, the Everseas have always managed to cheat fate in style: Colin is snatched from the gallows by a beautiful, clever mercenary. A captivating captor. . . Cool-headed, daring Madeleine Greenway is immune to Colin's vaunted charm. Her mission is not to rescue Colin but to kidnap him, and to be paid handsomely for it. But when it becomes clear that whoever wants Colin alive wants Madeline dead, the two become uneasy allies in a deadly race for truth. Together, they'll face great danger—and a passion neither can resist.

The Collected Stories

This reissue of Grace Paley's classic collection—a finalist for the National Book Award—demonstrates her rich use of language as well as her extraordinary insight into and compassion for her characters, moving from the hilarious to the tragic and back again. Whether writing about the love (and conflict) between parents and children or between husband and wife, or about the struggles of aging single mothers or disheartened political organizers to make sense of the world, she brings the same unerring ear for the rhythm of life as it is actually lived. The Collected Stories is a 1994 National Book Award Finalist for Fiction.

How to Fly

NOW INCLUDING THE FIRST CHAPTER OF DEMON COPPERHEAD FROM THE WINNER OF THE PULITZER PRIZE FOR FICTION TWICE WINNER OF THE WOMEN'S PRIZE FOR FICTION THE MULTI-MILLION COPY BESTSELLING AUTHOR> The poems of How to Fly (in Ten Thousand Easy Lessons) find breath and lightness in the common business of living. Barbara Kingsolver's generous collection is divided into thematic sections that loop and interweave to form a carefully patterned whole: a series of 'How to' poems that smartly balance tongue-in-cheek pragmatism with revelatory wisdom, a complicated yet affirmative family pilgrimage to Italy, cherished childhood memories, the perils and pleasures of being a [female] writer, elegies to lost loved ones, and elegies to the planet. Blending resourcefulness and wonder with all the compassionate humanity of her prose, How to Fly will both delight Kingsolver's devoted readership and welcome a host of new readers to her startling verse, while revealing an intimate side to her creative practice as yet unseen.

A Coffin for Dimitrios

From Roxane Gay to Leslie Jamison, thirty brilliant writers share their timeless stories about the everlasting magic—and occasional misery—of living in the Big Apple, in a new edition of the classic anthology. In the revised edition of this classic collection, thirty writers share their own stories of loving and leaving New York, capturing the mesmerizing allure the city has always had for writers, poets, and wandering spirits. Their essays often begin as love stories do, with the passion of something newly discovered: the crush of subway crowds, the streets filled with manic energy, and the sudden, unblinking certainty that this is the only place on Earth where one can become exactly who she is meant to be. They also share the grief that comes like a gut-punch, when the grand metropolis loses its magic and the pressures of New York's frenetic life wear thin for even the most dedicated dwellers. As friends move away, rents soar, and love—still—remains just out of reach, each writer's goodbye is singular and universal, just like New York itself.

Goodbye to All That (Revised Edition)

A stunning masterclass on the creative process, the craft of writing, and the art of finding inspiration from Stephen King, Elizabeth Gilbert, Amy Tan, Khaled Hosseini, Roxane Gay, Neil Gaiman, and more of the most acclaimed writers at work today "For artists in need of a creative fix, Light the Dark is as good as a visit from the divine muse." -Bookpage What inspires you? That's the simple, but profound question posed to forty-six renowned authors in LIGHT THE DARK. Each writer begins with a favorite passage from a novel, a song, a poem—something that gets them started and keeps them going with the creative work they love. From there, incredible lessons and stories of life-changing encounters with art emerge, like how sneaking books into his job as a night security guard helped Khaled Hosseini learn that nothing he creates will ever be truly finished. Or how a college reading assignment taught Junot Díaz that great art can be a healing conversation, and an unexpected poet led Elizabeth Gilbert to embrace an unyielding optimism, even in the face of darkness. LIGHT THE DARK collects the best of The Atlantic's much-acclaimed "By Heart" series edited by Joe Fassler and adds brand new pieces, each one paired with a striking illustration. Here is a guide to creative living and writing in the vein of Daily Rituals, Bird by Bird, Draft No. 4, and Big Magic for anyone who wants to learn how great writers find inspiration—and to find some of your own. CONTRIBUTING AUTHORS: Elizabeth Gilbert, Junot Díaz, Marilynne Robinson, Jonathan Lethem, Michael Chabon, Aimee Bender, Mary Gaitskill, Stephen King, Neil Gaiman, Roxane Gay, Angela Flournoy, Jonathan Franzen, Yiyun Li, Leslie Jamison, Claire Messud, Edwidge Danticat, David Mitchell, Khaled Hosseini, Ayana Mathis, Kathryn Harrison, Azar Nafisi, Hanya Yanagihara, Jane Smiley, Nell Zink, Emma Donoghue, Jeff Tweedy, Eileen Myles, Maggie Shipstead, Sherman Alexie, Andre Dubus III, Billy Collins, Lev Grossman, Karl Ove Knausgaard, Charles Simic, Jim Shepard, T.C. Light the Dark

"A few years ago, Alice Steinbach, a Pulitzer prize winning journalist decided to take a break from her life. She took a leave from her job, friends and family to go on a European journey of self-discovery, and her first book, Without Reservations, was the exquisite result of that trip. But once Steinbach had opened the door to a new way of living, she found herself unwilling to return to her old routine. She left her job and went travelling again, only this time her objective was not so much one of self-discovery as it was a reaching out. She wanted to learn, by taking lessons and courses, but also by connecting to and learning from the people she would encounter along the way. Choosing exactly where to go and what to study turned out to be harder than she'd anticipated, but Steinbach found herself repeatedly drawn to the interests and fantasies of her youth. And so her lifelong fascination with writing, animals, gardening, and food led her to study dog training in Scotland, writing in Prague, gardening in Provence, calligraphy and flower arranging in Kyoto, music in Cuba, cooking in Paris and Jane Austen in Exeter. Her weeks and months spent with fellow students of all ages are, as she'd hoped, every bit as educational as her courses. And studying side by side with people preparing for careers in these various fields gives Steinbach a second chance at some roads not taken - a chance to reconnect with her past, when so many options were still open to her. In pursuing interests she's never had time to fully explore, she finds that her sense of curiosity is as strong as it ever was, and, as she discovers during the course of this wonderful trip, we are never too old to learn."--Amazon website.

Educating Alice

In a remarkable memoir written with insight and humor, Glenn Kurtz takes us from his first lessons at the age of eight to his acceptance at the elite New England Conservatory of Music. After graduation, he attempts a solo career in Vienna but soon realizes that he has neither the ego nor the talent required to succeed and gives up the instrument, and his dream, entirely. But not forever: Returning to the guitar, Kurtz weaves into the narrative the rich experience of a single practice session. Practicing takes us on a revelatory, inspiring journey: a love affair with music.

Practicing

From an important new American writer comes this powerful collection of personal essays on fear, creativity, art, faith, academia, the Internet, and justice. In this poignant and inciting collection of literary essays, Megan Stielstra tells stories to ward off fears both personal and universal as she grapples toward a better way to live. In her titular piece "The Wrong Way To Save Your Life," she answers the question of what has value in our lives—a question no longer rhetorical when the apartment above her family's goes up in flames. "Here is My Heart" sheds light on Megan's close relationship with her father, whose continued insistence on climbing mountains despite a series of heart attacks leads the author to dissect deer hearts in a poetic attempt to interrogate her own feelings about mortality. Whether she's imagining the implications of open-carry laws on college campuses, recounting the story of going underwater on the mortgage of her first home, or revealing the unexpected pains and joys of marriage and motherhood, Stielstra's work informs, impels, enlightens, and embraces us all. The result is something beautiful—this story, her courage, and, potentially, our own. Intellectually fierce and viscerally intimate, Megan Stielstra's voice is witty, wise, warm, and above all, achingly human. "Stielstra is a masterful essayist."—Roxane Gay, author of Bad Feminist and Hunger
