Ovid

Ovid's Amores Book II continues his witty and often satirical exploration of love and desire in ancient Rome. This collection of elegiac poems delves into the complexities of romantic relationships, the poet's personal experiences, and his observations on the art of seduction and infidelity within Roman society.

As hard as solid stone? My empty dream

Plagued by the tossing of each aching limb.

Does love make life lust for the gloom and grim?

Are these her tricks? For I would think to know

His arrow in the heart there must be roots

I've seen flames surge when the servants begin

To fan their fires yet the sparks therein

The horse that isn't apt bites down in pain
