What readers are saying: "There was so much that I loved about "Champion in the Darkness" including its well-paced plot, inspiring stories of redemption, interesting characters, and fantastical creatures. But what I loved the most about this book is that it centers on Clara, a teen-aged girl who receives a calling to become her people's champion." - Ellen Jacobsen "'Champion in the Darkness' is YA fantasy/Christian fiction, and while the religious side was evident, it never overwhelmed the story. I appreciated how Martinson not only showed people displaying faith when times were easy, but how she explored loss of faith when times were hard, and how different people coped with doubt, anger, and fear." - A. McCall "The worldbuilding is incredible. I love the peeks at the history and the inner workings of the council. There are lovely details about the land and the people, and creatures that are beautiful and horrific. I'm a fan of the people of Aerland and their griffins. I would love to be chosen by griffin to become its partner!" - Christine Rains

The Lost City: Champions of Darkness

About the Book There's no looking back. The Champion must keep moving forward, one step ahead of the evil that resides in the human world, and in himself. The darkness within threatens to overtake him, to pour out in uncontrolled fury, but The Champ clings to his dreams of being a hero among men. Shimmer, a gifted magician and beacon of hope, helps keep the other-worldly champion on the straight and narrow. Without her, he would surely succumb to the evil voice that encourages his darkest desires. He still might give in to it. Even with Shimmer by his side, The Champ's righteous endeavor could easily cross the line to self-righteous domination of the human realm. Will who he wants to be triumph over who he is? The Man Wrapped in Darkness

There I sat in this dilapidated run down shack. It's in the middle of the night and I had to light a fire in the hearth so that I could see better. Now I'm sitting on a wobbly stool. In front of me is a low laying bed with a small figure in it. It was covered all the way to its chin. I watched as my shadow danced on the wall and splayed across the bed and the lonely figure. I can't believe that I came all this way in the pursuit of knowledge. I sat there waiting and finally the person in front of me sat up and was instantly cloaked in the darkness that was my shadow. It was kind of discomfoting when his small voice spoke. "Now come closer sonny you need to hear this. I, Brentwin Forrester, the last of the great story tellers, am about to tell you a tale. It is about an extraordinary man with an extraordinary life. I shall begin with his rise to power. If I do not last through the night, the journals on the dresser shall tell you the rest of his story." I leaned closer and watched as Brentwin began his tale of a man that was both myth and legend.
