Do you love your pet? Well, what kind of a question is that? Of course I do! And you also believe that this yearly check up by an extremely competent authority (in this case a veterinary doctor) would add some more healthy years into the actual lifespan of your dear pet, correct? However, in reality this is not the case. Most veterinary organizations have data that proves that the lifespan of pets in America has actually decreased by half of what it used to be in the early 1950's. The reason for this is the manner in which we are treating our adorable companions. We think that we are doing everything that is right for our pets, we get them the fanciest of the food, clothes and toys and the moment they fall sick, we rush to a veterinarian who looks at the symptoms and treats our pets. And this is where the problem lies, the veterinarian only treats the symptoms - he does not treat the complete animal! This is also one of the main reasons why the world today is shifting towards holistic medicine. Did you know that Aromatherapy or use of essential oils and aromatic plant extracts for the purposes of healing is no longer 'just for humans?' Essential Oils can be used for pets too! This book will teach you how!

Part of the Pet Lover's Guide series, this volume presents detailed information on alternative therapies for both dogs and cats. Written in a clear, simple manner, the book is divided into three main parts. Part 1, on diet and natural therapies, addresses the importance of diet for pets, and discusses the pros and cons of both commercially available and homemade diets. It also covers the basic explanations of the various alternative therapies widely used by holistic veterinarians and readily available to pet owners (e.g., supplements and herbs, acupuncture, homeopathy, chiropractic and other manual healing). Part 2 makes recommendations for specific health conditions, such as skin problems or digestive tract problems, and describes how various alternative therapies are used alone or in combination with allopathic therapies to treat or relieve the condition. Finally, Part 3 offers an overview of health maintenance and preventive health, and includes information about vaccinations, flea and tick control, weight control, and caring for the aging pet. Full-color line art and photographs illustrate various plants and herbs, and also techniques such as manual therapies, massage, and other hands-on healing techniques in a user-friendly and easily identifiable manner. Special boxes labeled "Where We Stand" present the author's strong opinions on specific (sometimes controversial) issues in a highlighted, easy-to-find format. Key terms are highlighted, making them easy to locate and reference - these terms are also included in the glossary with clear, simple definitions. Important information is bulleted and placed in a shaded box, bringing the main points to the reader's attention in a quick and useful way. Clear readability makes information easily accessible to pet owners, helping them to better understand natural therapies and their uses in treating pets. It also enables veterinarians to carry the book in their practices and recommend it to clients. Written by established, recognized veterinarians, this book is a reliable source for veterinary professionals.

Cannabidiol, also called CBD essential oil, is one of the active substances in cannabis. Cannabis has over 100 energetic compounds, like the significant energetic compound tetrahydrocannabinol, also known as THC. CBD is quite different from THC because it generally does not have any psychoactive results; it won't supply the consumer a state of being out of control (high) after usage; instead, it is mainly used because of its health and curing properties. CBD essential oil is a highly concentrated form of the CBD substance within Hemp and can be used for therapeutic purposes. It is also known as "tincture." It is made by moving a solvent (like essential olive oil or alcoholic beverages) to a hemp herb; this solvent makes its way through the plant, absorbing the cannabinoids in the plant. This creates a natural, non-toxic, and safe medication for your domestic pets.....
