I Dont Want To Know Anyone Too Well

#avoid deep relationships #maintain personal distance #value personal privacy #superficial social interactions #setting social boundaries

Embracing a philosophy to avoid deep connections, some individuals consciously choose to maintain personal distance in their social circles. This approach is often driven by a strong desire to value personal space and establish setting social boundaries, leading to a preference for superficial social interactions rather than intense, emotionally taxing relationships. It's a statement about managing one's energy and privacy.
