Skyful of Love: A Short Collection of Stories and Poems

DEAREST LOVE, two words that seem simple yet engraved with emotions of togetherness and an inseparable bond or a distance too long that may never be bridged, a distance that exists because love does. Two words, we might have written for someone we long to express amidst the pale pages of our diaries, hoping, someone that may never be ours could read them. These words aren't mere words but feelings that we harbor with hope within us. Hope, that exists because love does, because he does. Love that is never defined by sunsets and unfinished letters. The love that grows inspite of thousands of maybes. A love that becomes the rhythm of this book. 'Dearest Love' isn't just a collection of poems, it's a journey of a love that breathes, exists and hopes. The phases of emotions where heart hopes if loving was easier but then it wouldn't have been this beautiful. Sad, happy but beautiful.

Life in Pieces

How did we fall in love???? Well, I like to tell our hurricane story--it was a fated, romantic, and seminal point in our lives. But it never was as simple as the hurricane--never just about one story, one moment, one point in time. To the contrary, with you, it has always been every moment, every story, every point in time. It is impossible to catch that in a bottle--falling in love with you makes me feel free, dancing across the sky with a Butterfly. Maybe that is why I keep falling more and more in love--because in every moment, I just keep falling. Every time I look into your eyes, I fall. Every time I hear your voice, I fall. Every thought, every memory, everything about you--I fall. And in truth, I know it even goes back to the first moments, the first time we met. We were both on different paths back then. Certainly, we were not in love. But you were just as an amazing person then as you are now, and I think that whether I knew it or understood it then, I already started to fall. I am fortunate that I fell right next to a Butterfly with powerful wings. And yet, how we fell in love does not really matter. What came before is not as important as what we do today, tomorrow, and into forever. Our future is new and exciting. We are Monet with a blank canvas. No matter how many masterpieces we have lived, we are beginning our next one. And I have a feeling that our next will be our best yet. Welcome to "How To Love A Butterfly: A Collection Of Poems, Short Stories, & Inspirations" by TBurg.

Dearest Love

These poems and short stories are arranged in chronological order as they were inspired by a long-term love affair and written from 1989 to 2007. For the perceptive reader one can trace the ups and downs of our relationship. These 18 years were filled with love and passion. Perhaps it was fantasy; perhaps it was the most real thing we will ever experience. These inspired poems were written mostly during the first ten years. As it became obvious that my dream would never come true, the inspiration dwindled and fewer poems were written in later years. The heartbreaking part of this 18 year love affair is that I am not sure my lover ever really understood or appreciated my unconditional deep love for her. I opened my heart to her through poetry, but I never knew what was in her heart. Perhaps it was a one-sided love affair, but I think and hope not. I was convinced that she loved me through her words and actions. At least I experienced a love that I had only dreamed possible. Each image carefully placed in this book carries a very special meaning for the poem and for our love journey. Even the clock photo carries a meaning related to the untimely death of US. Each word is carefully chosen to convey my feelings. While I tried to express my love in poetic words, there was an enormous amount left unsaid. I can only hope you find meaning and joy in the thoughts and feelings these words convey to you. A fuller story of this passionate love affair will be unfolded in an upcoming book.

How to Love a Butterfly: A Collection of Poems, Short Stories, & Inspirations

In his debut collection of published poetry, Leroy G. Carey shows why his is a unique new voice in the world of poetry. Writing on a variety of subjects including love, romance, imagination, color, and laughter, Mr. Carey draws from a wealth of personal experience to make readers feel true emotion. His poetry book, Goldmine: A Book of Poems and Beautiful Love Stories, is just that... a gathering of heartfelt verse that proves just how vulnerable a human being can be. It is also a tribute to the strength we all have to overcome whatever obstacles life throws at us. For example, the poem "In the Grace of Your Love" shows the poet's ability to rise above feeling "sad and blue" when he concludes: "For I had found a place in / Her heart. so kind,, so gentle / For only an angel from heaven / Can offer me more and / I am proud to stand / In the grace of her love." Elsewhere, Mr. Carey questions the definitions attached to everyday emotions in "What Is Love?" when he writes: "What is love? Someone tell me / For I would like to know / Is it here in my heart or is it / There on my mind or is it / There on the other side of the / Rainbow?" By opening to any page in this thought-provoking book, readers can surely find themselves.

Goldmine

After so many years spent, what can we do someone like us humans to expect from love. Love can be a great love story. There's a story that's not like the rest. How can two so different love each other and be so far away? The Sun and the Moon is a story of how two great stars gathered and made a great spectacle when falling in love. Complete with a collection of poems. The story of how the Sun and the Moon fell in love.

Love Is In The Air

This story is based on a true love story that spanned almost two decades. The names and places have been changed to protect the privacy of the individuals involved in this affair. The chronological sequence of events has been maintained for continuity. All the stories and experiences are based on facts. This book is about a love story that was kept secret for 18 years and perhaps should've remained a secret. The first book related to this love story was a book of poems entitled Somewhere, Sometime, Somehow: Love Poems and Short Stories published in 2008 by this author and Xlibris. For the perceptive reader of this book one can trace the ups and downs of our love relationship. These 18 years were filled with robust love and passion for each other. Perhaps it was fantasy; perhaps it was the most real thing we will ever experience. The heartbreaking part of this love affair is that I am not really sure my lover ever really understood or appreciated my profound and unconditional love for her. I opened my heart to her through poetry and thoughtful letters, but she rarely showed me what was in her heart. Perhaps it was a one-sided love affair, but I surely think and hope not. I was convinced that she truly loved me through her words and actions. At least I experienced a pure love that I had only dreamed was possible. The story is told mainly through the exchange of letters and emails to each other. Perhaps readers can experience and hopefully feel the deep love we felt for each other.

Seasons of Love

The poems and short stories in this book are about true emotions. From the very first kiss from the one who has awakened everything within you, to that undying love that your heart and soul feels you can never live without. These writings express the headaches, the heartaches, and the heartbreaks of loving and being in love with that special person. It shows how love can restore, uplift, and rejuvenate one's belief in love after vowing to never, ever love again; just because of the pain it caused. For anyone who has loved, is in love, or for those who love has yet to touch; you will discover that it is a challenging, puzzling effervescent roller-coaster of emotion. And at many times, it can be "unspoken." The poems and short stories in this book will remind many that love is all of the wonderful things that they first thought to believe. You just have to believe in yourself, believe in the love, and the love that lies deep inside your heart. "Love, love, love - read some today"

Chronicles of Love

Fiction. Asian & Asian American Studies. Short Stories. ALL THE LOVE IN THE WORLD is a debut prose collection by award-winning poet Cathy Song. The deeply personal, interconnected short stories follow highlights in a family history from Korean immigrant grandparents toiling in rural Hawai'i, through a young Asian-American couple's post-World War II life on the mainland and their daughters growing up in Honolulu in the 1960s, to travels in New Zealand and India in the twenty-first century. "With lyric grace and the luminosity that is a distinct signature of her poetry, Cathy Song has created a rich tapestry of powerful stories and vividly drawn characters that can be read both sequentially as a novel and as a short story collection that takes a searching look at the cycle of human existence. Individually the pieces offer a satisfying narrative arc that yields beautifully crafted portraits of real people, the turning points of their lives, their stories of travel, love, aging, and death played out against the changing social and historical backdrop of Hawai'i. Collectively the stories affirm the power of memory to redeem, to bridge lives and bind three generations in a timeless tale of love and its endurance. It is a collection to cherish, as much for its compelling images and characters as for its profound wisdom and insights into what it means to be human, to love, to grow old and lose what you love."--Boey Kim Cheng "The best book of short stories I ever read. 'Feeling absorbed instantly into deep cultural resonance, / fascinating places, mixtures and connections, unexpected difficulties, / but most especially, greatest tenderness for a precious, particular / father and family, was a journey of a reader's lifetime as well as a writer's.' This exquisitely written and remembered book is a treasure of love and care."--Naomi Shihab Nye "This powerful and beautiful novel in stories recounts the interconnectedness of the immigrant experience on a global scale. The epic scope of the collection ranges from Hawai'i to Oklahoma to California to New York to New Zealand to India, to name just a few of the stops along the ride. And what a ride it is! Beginning with the first generation of the Park family, immigrants to Hawai'i during the Korean diaspora, ALL THE LOVE IN THE WORLD does not merely retrace the painful and familiar struggle by immigrants everywhere to preserve the connection to their cultural inheritance; the book goes deeper in parsing what is left to us when those bonds are broken or erased by the overwhelming pressures to acculturate by a dominant culture. Who do we become? What is to be done? Cathy Song's contemplation of these questions is, in the end, filled with light, untinged by easy despair."--Sylvia Watanabe
