Access to Citizenship and Political Participation - Access to Citizenship and Political Participation by EUI TV 711 views 6 years ago 3 minutes, 47 seconds - Europe has become an immigration, continent. Yet, in most EU Member States, citizenship is acquired by descent rather than ...

BUILDING A PEOPLE'S EUROPE

60 years ago the Treaty of Rome gave birth to the European Communities that later became the European Union.

But has the European Union been successful in shaping a common identity based on citizenship? Have European Societies become more open through free movement and have they welcomed immigrants as new citizens?

In most EU Member States. citizenship is however acquired only by descent rather than birth in the territory.

The conditions for becoming citizens differ strongly across EU Member States.

Democratic participation has expanded beyond territorial borders.

Until 1990 only few states allowed their expatriates to participate in elections.

Today, nearly all EU Member States permit their citizens to vote from abroad.

Unity in Diversity is the motto of the European Union and describes the complex idea of European identity.

The combination of diversity of national identities and the unifying impulse of a common citizenship forms the basis for the common future of the peoples of the EU.

Knowledge is an important part of empowerment in our globalised world!
