John Hattie on Visible Learning and Feedback in the Classroom - John Hattie on Visible Learning and Feedback in the Classroom by Taylor & Francis Books 100,383 views 5 years ago 4 minutes, 24 seconds - Leading educationalist John Hattie introduces the Visible Learning, project and explains the value of feedback in the classroom.

What are the influences that really make the biggest difference to kids lives.

So the first part of Visible Learning is the research. The second part is implementing it in schools.

You can get two teachers using exactly the same high intervention strategy.

And the third part of Visible Learning is the students. Listening to them speak, listening to them think.

When you look at all the different influences on student learning, one of the most powerful is feedback.

About a third of the feedback doesn't work, it's negative.

The same feedback for one child doesn't work with another child.

The same feedback today doesn't work tomorrow.

And it turns out there are two things that really matter the most.

The first is feedback is the answer to one of three questions.

The second thing and most powerful thing is it's not about the feedback you give

It's about the feedback that you hear.

How do students, how do teachers hear the feedback about what they're doing in their classrooms
