#34 Bernardo Kastrup PHD - JUNG'S METAPHYSICS AND THE MIND AT LARGE HYPOTHESIS

by Chasing Consciousness Podcast 53,049 views 1 year ago 2 hours, 17 minutes - What are the implications of Jung's theories about the Collective Unconscious, Archetypes, Synchronicity and Individuation?

Intro

Materialism VS the church: The history of Idealism

Materialism was a weapon against the church

The dissociative boundary between us and the mind at large

A field of mind

Split personality MRI scans are markedly different

Life is what dissociation looks like

Neural correlates + interacting across the dissociative boundary

Anaesthesia: Mistaking unresponsiveness for unconsciousness

Jung's Metaphysics

The unconscious is active and creative, not a passive container

'The light' of metacognition

Archetypes are primordial templates of manifestation

'The ego is a little boat floating on a raging ocean of psychic activity that it cannot control'

Was Jung an idealist?

Causality + synchronicity: Wolfgang Pauli and Jung

Individual quantum events are not causal, so they are governed by synchronicities

Causality itself is an aggregate effect of microscopic level synchronistic effects

There is an organising principle underlying nature, that you can't isolate under laboratory conditions

Active Imagination: Interacting with the imaginal field

The psyche is an 'Ousia': something in and of itself

James Hollis: One of the best Jungian analysts and authors

Bernardo's midlife crisis - the first and second half of life

Individuation explained

'The freedom of the Slave': The impersonal flow of nature channeled through you

The difference between the individuation in the second part of life and the eastern idea of renunciation, and 'leaving' the world

Etiology: spontaneous VS deliberate purpose

Individuation = bringing the unconscious into consciousness

Nature's mind may not have cognitive planning abilities, be personal or have awareness

Interpreting quantum phenomena through an idealist, Jungian lens

Physical quantities only exist if you look, if you measure

Entanglement and materialism's difficulty

The states of the world are not physical but probabilistic states, physical states arise from measurement

The implication of the relativity of time regarding evolution

Space time is not fundamental, it's a cognitive instrument

Primordial truth beyond space time, is projected into space-time

Evolution is a spatio-temporal projection

Are Psi phenomena and military UAP experiencers manifestations of the unconscious?

Anomalous 'traffic' across the dissociative boundary

Whoever is behind UAP phenomena knows something about reality that we don't

Humility in the face of the unknown about the nature of reality

Another problem is mind body interaction. I know that feel like having pizza (mental), so get up and eat some (physical). But how do those two things relate to one another?

Philosophical Zombies One question that arises from this is if philosophical zombies can exist le a person who may interact with the world as normal, but not experience any qualia. For example, stubbing your toe but experiencing no pain. Again, they seem conceivable, but only if phenomenal properties are not physical.

However, one argument against everything being physical in its nature is Frank Jackson's Knowledge Argument. Jackson asks us to imagine a brilliant scientist called Mary, locked in a black and white room. Mary is a world expert on colour, but has never seen the colour red. Can it be the case that Mary knows everything about the colour without directly experiencing it?

Behaviourism For Behaviourists, mental states are nothing more than behavioural dispositions. The mental manifestation of a physical occurrence is behavioural. For example, you cannot see pain, but you can see the behaviour associated with pain. Oilbert Ryle claimed that dualists made a category mistake when they attempted to distinguish the two.

There are of course difficulties with this explanation. We could think of people who suppress the behaviour associated with pain. But if the two are associated, how does this explain Behaviourism expects us to act in a certain way.

Eliminative Materialism Eliminative Materialism suggest that much of what we talk about when discussing mental states is concerned with general concepts, rather than specific, neuroscientific concepts. Paul Churchland, argues against the use of folk psychology. Whilst reasonably predictive, it has remained the same for hundred of years without development. In contrast, folk psychology offers a reasonably good predictive outcome in contrast to neuroscience. Eliminative Materialism also has problems in explaining the intentional content of thought
