Biostatistics in Clinical Research

Clinical research is a branch of healthcare science that focuses on determining the safety and effectiveness of medications, devices, diagnostic products, and treatment regimens

Biostatistics is the application of statistics to data generated from living organisms. It involves the design of experiments and the collection, summary, analysis, interpretation, and reporting of data collected • It is used to draw conclusions about disease prevalence, risk factors, and

Biostatistics forms the backbone of clinical research Designing clinical trials with factors like sample size, randomization method, and statistical power • Biostatisticians assist in gathering and analyzing data • Interpreting and reporting results

Biostatistics in a clinical trial for a new drug • Biostatistics in epidemiological research Biostatistics in genetics and genomics research

Making informed decisions that impact patients' lives Providing objective evidence, it guides decision-making in healthcare from individual patient care to global health policies • It is the basis of evidence-based medicine

Tooth brushing should be carried out twice a day

Please remember that tooth-brushing takes a full two minutes

Use a small headed medium texture bristles toothbrush, with a small amount of fluoride toothpaste.

Start by tilting the toothbrush against your teeth

Move the brush in small circular movements

Next brush the outer surfaces of each tooth keeping the bristles angled against the gumline.

Do the same thing for the inside surfaces of all the teeth.

Now brush the biting surfaces of the teeth

To clean the inside surface of the front teeth gently move the brush longways down the tooth from the gum for a few seconds.

For the lower teeth tilt the brush vertically and pull the toothbrush gently upwards from the gum for a few seconds.

If you eat or drink sweet things, plaque mixes with sugar and causes tooth decay.

Finally, spit out any remaining toothpaste.

Do not rinse the mouth with water, or any kind of mouthwash.
