

finance and economics discussion series school desegregation school choice and changes in residential location patterns by race

#school desegregation #school choice #residential location patterns #racial segregation education #economics education policy

This discussion series, rooted in finance and economics, delves into the complex interplay between school desegregation efforts, the implementation of school choice programs, and their resulting influence on residential location patterns across different racial demographics. It analyzes how these educational policies contribute to or mitigate changes in community demographics and housing segregation, offering critical insights for urban planning and social policy.
