Before you go into the mine, scan the tracking tag on your hat

A continuous miner is a machine that cuts entries and cross cuts (underground tunnels).

If you are a shuttle car operator, you'll transport the freshly mined coal to the conveyor belts, carrying up to 8 tons of raw coal per load.

The first machine a miner learns to operate is the roof bolter.

miner and secure the unsupported roof to make it safe for others to access and walk through the mined area.

After crosscuts and entries are cut and the roof is supported..

rock dust has to be applied on the exposed roof and floor to lower flammability.

Once your shift is over, you'll travel back up the elevator...
