In task-based job analysis, we describe the job as a function of the tasks performed within the job, while in competency-based job analysis, we look at the capabilities that an individual would need to COMPETENCIES Competencies include such things as teamwork, leadership, interpersonal communication, and critical thinking.

TASK-BASED Task-based job analysis tends to be simpler in form and execution, while competency-based job analysis is more complex due to the fact that we have to think about a broader set of skills and abilities as opposed to the ability to do a set task.
