In troubled times it's hard to get the rest you need, with thoughts keeping you awake at night.

let go of any muscle tension let out a long steady exhale breathing in through your nose relax your body softening all the muscles in your body feeling the relaxation up and down your spine unfurl dissolve any tension in your face muscles lower your shoulders away from your ears releasing all your tensions from the day let go of the tension in your muscles find the perfect spot take your time slowly walking to your chosen area settle on a patch of ground arrange your sleeping pad and blanket lay back on your sleeping pad and pillow dropping any form of pretense press your hands onto the ground for support scan your body again for any tension or pain letting go rest your attention on the air flowing through your nostrils opening up the picture into a wide screen feel the vast area of your peace of mind reconstructing your entire digestive system feel yourself drifting off to sleep drift into a peaceful sleep
