With the exception of oceans, boundaries are artificial, man-made divisions of geography that many times make little sense and sometimes no sense at all. For example, why does the northern boundary of Minnesota protrude into Canada? Why does West Virginia have two panhandles? Why do Pennsylvania and Delaware have a common boundary that is a circle segment? Why do the boundaries of Colorado, Wyoming and Utah consist entirely of lines of latitude and longitude? The answers to these questions and many more can be found in this book, which explains why and how state boundaries are placed where they are. It begins with an introduction that provides general information about boundary placement, colonial boundaries, formation of territories, surveying and Supreme Court rulings. The 50 states are divided into ten regions (New England, Mid-Atlantic, Upper South, Lower South, Great Lakes, North Central, South Central, Rocky Mountain, West, and Noncontiguous). The text for each state begins with an overview of that state's boundaries that becomes more specific as its different boundaries are considered. The appendices include interesting facts about each state, citizen and state nicknames, and dates territories were created and states entered the Union. Richly illustrated with 138 maps.

Make social studies more accessible to students with Exploring Social Studies: Arkansas Student Handbook. This student-friendly handbook builds content-area literacy in the four strands of social studies: history, geography, civics, and economics. It includes pertinent information about Arkansas for third grade students, including historical figures and events that have shaped Arkansas's rich history. The fun activities include practice in reading, writing, mathematics, and art, and can be easily assigned for independent work. This handbook can be used in conjunction with social studies textbooks or to supplement the language arts block, and is organized by the four social studies strands to allow for teacher flexibility in deciding which activities to assign. Aligned to the NCSS standards, each page clearly identifies the purpose of every activity and the specific Arkansas social studies standard that the activity meets. The activities include nonfiction texts with questions, fiction texts with activities, puzzles, math pages, primary sources, critical-thinking activities, creative-thinking activities, and more.
