Birders of Africa

Fans of narrative non-fiction, true dog stories, and African wildlife will want to check out Bulu! Born on a crocodile farm in Zambia's untamed South Luangwa Valley, the puppy seemed different from his littermates. Too quiet. Unresponsive. Terriers are usually full of energy and bouncing off walls. But not this one. Nobody wanted him. Enter Anna and Steve Tolan—former police officers who had left behind their life in England to live in the African bush. People thought the Tolans were a bit different, too. The peculiar puppy suited them perfectly. They named him Bulu, or "wild dog" in the local Nyanja language. Living in the bush, Bulu not only found his voice, he also found his calling as a foster parent to the orphaned baby animals—including warthogs, monkeys, elephants, baboons, bushbucks, and buffalo—cared for by the Tolans. But Bulu's protective nature led him into terrifying situations in the wild. It's a miracle he survived! But survive he did, disarming people with his wacky ways and nurturing once-unwanted creatures like him until they too could be set free. Bulu's story is a joyful confirmation of dogs as unique spirits, capable of love, compassion, and bravery. Packed with vivid descriptions of encounters with crocodiles, lions, leopards, poisonous snakes, armed poachers, and more—and illustrated throughout with black-and-white photographs—Bulu: African Wonder Dog is a great resource for meeting Common Core State Standards that will be enjoyed by readers of all ages.

Encyclopedia of Indian Cinema

What remains of the “national” when the nation unravels at the birth of the independent state? The political truncation of India at the end of British colonial rule in 1947 led to a social cataclysm in which roughly one million people died and ten to twelve million were displaced. Combining film studies, trauma theory, and South Asian cultural history, Bhaskar Sarkar follows the shifting traces of this event in Indian cinema over the next six decades. He argues that Partition remains a wound in the collective psyche of South Asia and that its representation on screen enables forms of historical engagement that are largely opaque to standard historiography. Sarkar tracks the initial reticence to engage with the trauma of 1947 and the subsequent emergence of a strong Partition discourse, revealing both the silence and the eventual “return of the repressed” as strands of one complex process. Connecting the relative silence of the early decades after Partition to a project of postcolonial nation-building and to trauma’s disjunctive temporal structure, Sarkar develops an allegorical reading of the silence as a form of mourning. He relates the proliferation of explicit Partition narratives in films made since the mid-1980s to disillusionment with post-independence achievements, and he discusses how current cinematic memorializations of 1947 are influenced by economic liberalization and the rise of a Hindu-chauvinist nationalism. Traversing Hindi and Bengali commercial cinema, art cinema, and television, Sarkar provides a history of Indian cinema that interrogates the national (a central category organizing cinema studies) and participates in a wider process of mourning the modernist promises of the nation form.

This work covers ninety years of animation from James Stuart Blackton's 1906 short Humorous Phases of Funny Faces, in which astonished viewers saw a hand draw faces that moved and changed, to Anastasia, Don Bluth's 1997 feature-length challenge to the Walt Disney animation empire. Readers will come across such characters as the Animaniacs, Woody Woodpecker, Will Vinton's inventive Claymation figures (including Mark Twain as well as the California Raisins), and the Beatles trying to save the happy kingdom of Pepperland from the Blue Meanies in Yellow Submarine (1968). Part One covers 180 animated feature films. Part Two identifies feature films that have animation sequences and provides details thereof. Part Three covers over 1,500 animated shorts. All entries offer basic data, credits, brief synopsis, production information, and notes where available. An appendix covers the major animation studios.

This book explores Indonesian cinema, focusing on moments of unique creativity by Indonesian film artists who illuminate important but less-widely-known aspects of their multi-dimensional society. It begins by exploring early 1950s 'Indonesian neorealist films' of the Perfini group, which depict the ethos and emerging moral issues of the period of struggle for independence (1945–49). It continues by discussing four audacious political allegories produced in four discrete political eras—including the Sukarno, Suharto and Reformasi periods. It also surveys the main approaches to Islam in both popular cinema and auteur films during the Suharto New Order. One chapter celebrates the popular songs and B-movies of the Betawi comedian, Benyamin S, which dramatize the experience of the poor in 'modernizing' Jakarta. Another examines persisting Third World dimensions of Indonesian society as critiqued in two experimental features. The concluding chapter highlights innovation in a renewed Indonesian cinema of the post-Suharto Reformasi period (1999–2020), including films by an unprecedented generation of women writer-directors

Body Trade exposes myths surrounding the trade in heads, cannibalism, captive white women, the display of indigenous people in fairs and circuses, the stolen generations, the 'comfort' women and the making of the exotic/erotic body. This is a lively and intriguing contribution to the study of the postcolonial body.

Moments in Indonesian Film History

First Published in 1989. One Hundred Indian Films attempts to bring together a representative selection from the first talkies to the present day. The book originated as a project under the National Film Heritage programme at the Centre for Development of Instructional Technology in Delhi, along with the efforts to build up a collection of Indian cinema at the United States Library of Congress.

The Essential Mystery

This investigation into the little-known genre of mission-oriented films uncovers how Protestant missionaries overseas sought to bring back motion picture footage from remote parts of the world. In the broader religious community, mission films aimed to educate congregants back home about efforts to evangelize communities around the world. This book, however, demonstrates the larger impact of mission films on American visual culture. The evolution and development of the genre is highlighted from an early emphasis on "foreign views" in the 1910s, to interwar films providing a more detailed look at how mission stations functioned in far-flung lands, to Cold War productions which at times functioned as veritable propaganda tools parroting anti-communist discourse emanating from the CIA.

Buku ini juga merupakan hasil pergulatan akademis penulis selama tiga setengah tahun dibimbing dua supervisor di universitas tempat saya studi, Curtin University, Perth Western Australia. Mereka adalah Antonio Traverso, Ph.D., dan Thor Kerr, Ph.D. Mereka berdua membaca dengan teliti dan memberikan masukan sekaligus berdiskusi intensif mengenai arah riset dan penulisan hasil riset ini. Tanpa kritik dan saran mereka, riset saya tidak akan bisa mengarah pada titik ini. Setelah proses tersebut, dua pembaca sekaligus penguji riset saya, Intan Paramaditha, Ph.D., dari Macquarie University, Sydney dan Professor Kate McGregor, dari University of Melbourne, Melbourne Australia, memberikan kritik dan saran yang komprehensif atas laporan riset yang saya tulis. Saran dan kritik mereka berdua menjadi pedoman saya dalam melakukan revisi dan pada akhirnya menjadi buku ini.

The properties of soft-matter thin films (e.g. liquid films, polymer coatings, Langmuir-Blodgett multilayers) nowadays play an important role in materials science. They are also very exciting with respect to fundamental questions: When liquids and polymers form thin films, they may be considered as trapped in a quasi-two-dimensional geometry. This confined geometry is expected to alter the properties and structures of these materials considerably. This volume is dedicated to the scattering of x-rays by soft-matter interfaces. X-ray scattering under grazing angles is the only tool for investigating these materials on atomic and mesoscopic length scales. A review of the field is presented with many examples.

Going beyond the box-office hits of Disney and Dreamworks, this guide to every animated movie ever released in the United States covers more than 300 films over the course of nearly 80 years of film history. Well-known films such as Finding Nemo and Shrek are profiled and hundreds of other films, many of them rarely discussed, are analyzed, compared, and catalogued. The origin of the genre and what it takes to make a great animated feature are discussed, and the influence of Japanese animation, computer graphics, and stop-motion puppet techniques are brought into perspective. Every film analysis includes reviews, four-star ratings, background information, plot synopses, accurate running times, consumer tips, and MPAA ratings. Brief guides to made-for-TV movies, direct-to-video releases, foreign films that were never theatrically released in the U.S., and live-action films with significant animation round out the volume.

From The Story of the Kelly Gang in 1906 to the Lord of the Rings trilogy, Australia and New Zealand have made a unique impact on international cinema. This book celebrates the commercially successful narrative feature films produced by these cultures as well as key documentaries, shorts, and independent films. It also invokes issues involving national identity, race, history, and the ability of two small film cultures to survive the economic and cultural threat of Hollywood. Chapters on well known films and directors, such as The Year of Living Dangerously (Peter Weir, 1982), The Piano (Jane Campion, 1993), Fellowship of the Ring (Peter Jackson, 2001), and Rabbit Proof Fence (Philip Noyce, 2002), are included with less popular but equally important films and filmmakers, such as Jedda (Charles Chauvel, 1955), They're a Weird Mob (Michael Powell, 1966), Vigil (Vincent Ward, 1984), and The Goddess of 1967 (Clara Law, 2000).

Horror Film Stars

Covering the years spanning cinema's emergence as a popular form in Bengal in the first half of the twentieth century, this book examines the main genres and trends produced by this cinema, and leads up to Bengali cinema's last phase of transition in the 1980s. Arguing that Bengali cinema has been a key economic and social institution, the author highlights that the Bengali filmic imaginary existed over and above the imaginary of the Indian nation. This book argues that a definitive history of Bengali cinema presents an alternative understanding to the currently influential notion of the Hindi film as the 'Indian' or 'national' cinema. It suggests that the Bengali cinema presents a history which brings to the fore the deeply contested terrain of 'national' cinema, and shows the creation of the 'alternative imaginary' of the Bengali film. The author indicates that the case of the Bengali cinema demonstrates the emergence of a public domain that set up a definitive discourse of difference with respect to the 'all-India' Hindi film, popularly classified as Bollywood cinema, and which pre-empted its subsumption within the more pervasive culture of the Bombay Hindi cinema. As the first comprehensive historical work on Bengali cinema, this book makes a significant contribution to both Film and Cultural Studies and South Asian Studies in general.

This thesis proposes a reliable and repeatable method for implementing Spoof Surface Plasmon (SSP) modes in the design of various circuit components. It also presents the first equivalent circuit model for plasmonic structures, which serves as an insightful guide to designing SSP-based circuits. Today, electronic circuits and systems are developing rapidly and becoming an indispensable part of our daily life; however the issue of compactness in integrated circuits remains a formidable challenge. Recently, the Spoof Surface Plasmon (SSP) modes have been proposed as a novel platform for highly compact electronic circuits. Despite extensive research efforts in this area, there is still an urgent need for a systematic design method for plasmonic circuits. In this thesis, different SSP-based transmission lines, antenna feeding networks and antennas are designed and experimentally evaluated. With their high field confinement, the SSPs do not suffer from the compactness limitations of traditional circuits and are capable of providing an alternative platform for the future generation of electronic circuits and electromagnetic systems.

This cognitive contrastive study of ten languages (Chinese, Dalabon, English, French, Spanish, Romanian, Kurdish, Khmer, Polish, Tibetan) focuses on the concept of giving from six main points of view, namely argument structure, lexical semantics and event structure, role marking in the three argument construction and in other constructions, lexicalization, grammaticalization and constructionalization of the verb from a cognitive construction grammar point of view, and central and extended meanings. It is proposed that a continuum approach to grammar and lexicon is needed in order to describe the typological and historical facts. The volume argues for a concrete and abstract transfer 'cluster model' involving coverage of lexical and grammatical extension or bleaching phenomena and that the semantic extensions (metaphorical and otherwise) exploit various portions of this schema. The volume is deeply anchored in the Cognitive Construction Grammar theoretical movement, and proposes analyses of constructional phenomena to illustrate a grammar to lexicon continuum, in synchrony and diachrony: language change, grammaticalization chains, constructionalization analysis, and an invariant hypothesis of giving as a basic activity in human cognition.

La pasión según G.H.

Una persona está sola en un apartamento con vistas a unas colinas graníticas. De forma inesperada, descubre una enorme cucaracha dentro de sí y tiene que derrotarla o huir, expulsarla o renunciar. Y, ante la cucaracha, hace un repaso de su vida, se identifica con el animal y toma la determinación de vencer todos sus miedos. Profunda y angustiante reflexión sobre la condición del ser y su no ser en el mundo, con una trabazón inextricable entre los diversos capítulos que acrecienta el desasosiego del lector, La pasión según G. H. indaga en la misma naturaleza de la persona con emoción desbordada."Este libro es como cualquier libro. Pero me sentiría contenta si lo leyese únicamente personas de alma ya formada. Aquellas que saben que el acercamiento, o lo que quiera que sea, se hace de modo gradual y penoso, atravesando incluso lo contrario de aquello a lo que uno se aproxima."Clarice Lispector

The Passion According to G.H

One of Elena Ferrante's Top 40 Books by Women G.H., a well-to-do Rio sculptress, enters the room of her maid, which is as clear and white 'as in an insane asylum from which dangerous objects have been removed'. There she sees a cockroach - black, dusty, prehistoric - crawling out of the wardrobe and, panicking, slams the door on it. Her irresistible fascination with the dying insect provokes a spiritual crisis, in which she questions her place in the universe and her very identity, propelling her towards an act of shocking transgression. Clarice Lispector's spare, deeply disturbing yet luminous novel transforms language into something otherworldly, and is one of her most unsettling and compelling works. Clarice Lispector was a Brazilian novelist and short story writer. Her innovation in fiction brought her international renown. References to her literary work pervade the music and literature of Brazil and Latin America. She was born in the Ukraine in 1920, but in the aftermath of World War I and the Russian Civil War, the family fled to Romania and eventually sailed to Brazil. She published her first novel, Near to the Wildheart in 1943 when she was just twenty-three, and the next year was awarded the Graça Aranha Prize for the best first novel. Many felt she had given Brazilian literature a unique voice in the larger context of Portuguese literature. After living variously in Italy, the UK, Switzerland and the US, in 1959, Lispector with her children returned to Brazil where she wrote her most influential novels including The Passion According to G.H. She died in 1977, shortly after the publication of her final novel, The Hour of the Star.

La pasión según G.H.

La pasión según G.H. (1964) narra la historia de la relación de la mujer con un hombre, de la mujer consigo misma, de la mujer con otro, de la mujer con todos los otros, de la mujer con el Ser, finalmente, no deja de ser también la historia de la mujer con la novela que ella misma construye. Este trayecto que va en busca de sentidos, representa también el modo por el cual G.H. se redescubre.

This book examines Clarice Lispector's body of work, foregrounding its theoretical insights and exploring its philosophical questions, which are placed in conversation with a range of theoretical frameworks and approaches. Contributions to this volume engage with the philosophical dimension of one of the most important writers of the twentieth century. The book features essays by renowned and emerging philosophers and literary critics from multiple parts of the world, which examine Lispector's different novels, chronicles, and short stories, acknowledging their inherent theoretical claims and placing them in contact with other relevant theoretical angles. They develop conversations between Lispector and well-known philosophers on questions of time, being, writing, and risk, and they also explore Lispector's critiques of the human, the concept of woman, fertility, temporality, and the common binaries of life and death, and thought and feeling. This volume furthermore includes recent perspectives in psychoanalysis, ecofeminism, affect theory, theology, and black and decolonial studies, showing the generative effects of dialogue between these frameworks and Lispector's writing. Philosophy with Clarice Lispector will interest humanities scholars and graduate students who seek philosophical approaches to literary studies and literary perspectives on gender and sexuality studies, theology, and criticism and theory. It will engage readers in pursuit of transdisciplinary methods and creative explorations of Clarice Lispector's writing that disclose her contribution to the ideas of established philosophers. The book was originally published as a special issue of Angelaki.

La pasion segun G.H.

En esta edición crítica de la novela de Clarice Lispector, coordinada por Benedito Nunes, participan los profesores de literatura brasileña Benjamin Abdala Junior y Samira Youssef Campedelli, quienes analizan la obra dentro del contexto de la vanguardia brasileña de los años cincuenta; Olga de S. estudia el carácter alegórico de la obra, mientras Affonso Romano de Sant'Anna hace un análisis intertextual y Norma Tasca realiza una interpretación semiótico-lingüística de la novela. Complementa este estudio una cronología de la autora y una entrevista realizada por João Salgueiro, Affonso Romano de Sant'Anna y Marina Colasanti.

Contributors to this edited collection use a psychoanalytic lens to examine the historical and political silencing of women as portrayed through Latin American art and literature.

Philosophy with Clarice Lispector

This book comprises various chapters which explore a variety of topics related to the manner in which ideological and epistemological changes in the 19th, 20th and 21st centuries shaped the Spanish language, literature, and film, among other forms of expression, in both Spain and Latin America, and how these media served the purpose of spreading ideas and demands. There are articles on ideological representations of linguistic differences and sameness; linguistic changes associated with loan words and the ideas they bring in modifying our communicative landscape; the role of the Catholic religion on the construction of our dictionary; analysis of some political discourses, ideologies and social imaginaries; new visions of old literature (a return to the parody in the Middle Ages to analyze its modernity) and postmodern narrative; discussions on contemporary Spanish poetry and Central American literature; a new return to the liberation philosophy by analyzing Ellacuría's work; and several studies about concepts such as capitalism, patriarchy, identity, masculinity, homosexuality, globalization, and the Resistance in several forms of expression.

A paixão segundo G.H.

This volume examines the blending of fact and fiction in a series of cultural artefacts by post-dictatorship writers and artists in Argentina, many of them children of disappeared or persecuted parents. Jordana Blejmar argues that these works, which emerged after the turn of the millennium, pay testament to a new cultural formation of memory characterised by the use of autofiction and playful aesthetics. She focuses on a range of practitioners, including Laura Alcoba, Lola Arias, Félix Bruzzone, Albertina Carri, María Giuffra, Victoria Grigera Dupuy, Mariana Eva Perez, Lucila Quieto, and Ernesto Semán, who look towards each other's works across boundaries of genre and register as part of the way they address the legacies of the 1976-1983 dictatorship. Approaching these works not as second-hand or adoptive memories but as memories in their own right, Blejmar invites us to recognise the subversive power of self-figuration, play and humour when dealing with trauma.

The Silent Feminine

"(...) había dicho que quería que ella, al preguntarle su nombre, no respondiese 'Lori', sino que pudiese responder 'mi nombre es yo', ya que tu nombre, había dicho él, es un yo (...). Novela de aprendizaje, educación sentimental, pedagogía del amor; en Un Aprendizaje o El Libro de los Placeres (1969) el devenir se da en función del placer. Una aparente banal historia de amor entre Ulises, joven profesor de filosofía y Lori, solitaria y misteriosa maestra de primaria que aún no está preparada para entregarse. Ulises la instruye, la guía y, casto y sereno, la espera. Lori lo escucha, lo sigue y, no sin angustias, emprende un viaje a lo más profundo de su ser. En un gesto introspectivo también Clarice Lispector (1920-1977) experimenta con la lengua y la forma, llevando al límite su escritura y plasmando el ejercicio en la página misma. Se trata de una novela que reescribe textos autobiográficos anteriores, en parte, las crónicas que venía publicando desde 1967 en O Jornal do Brasil. Publicada luego de la excepcional La pasión según G.H. (1964), Un Aprendizaje retoma y resalta preocupaciones recurrentes en la obra de Clarice como el ser y el placer, y radicaliza la fuerza de esa escritura enigmática que años más tarde culminaría con La hora de la estrella (1977).

Ideology, Politics and Demands in Spanish Language, Literature and Film

In the wake of the spatial and affective turns in Literary Studies in general, and the study of Jewish literatures in particular, this volume shifts focus from the extensity of exile and return to the intensities of sense of place and belonging across a moving landscape of 20th and 21st century literatures, Jewish and other. It brings together contemporary writers and literary scholars who collectively map these intensities onto a bodily word world in transit and textures of habitable, readable space as passage. Works by Hélène Cixous, Cécile Wajsbrot, Alex Epstein, Almog Behar, and Svetlana Boym explore sites made up of layers of passages, taking configurations of sayability and readability as forms, poetic and political, of inhabiting the material world. The contributions by literary scholars explore the theoretical potential of a mapping of such sites in studies of modalities of belonging and unbelonging in modern and contemporary works of literature. The volume collects a collaborative investigation of the exigencies and potentialities of sense of place and belonging through literature, Jewish and other. It offers a literary perspective on current debates in a variety of fields, including literary criticism, human geography, architectural theory, and translation studies.

Playful Memories

Marta Cecilia Vélez Saldarriaga nos deja una tarea para que la continuemos: abrir la imaginación y la creatividad más allá de la muerte y de la destrucción; construir y reconstruir, las veces que sea necesario, las urdimbres de la solidaridad y la generosidad. Marta es, Marta está. Ella es presente, es ahora, porque su pensamiento es más actual que nunca. Flora María Uribe P.

Borges

Hay que leer El via crucis del cuerpo como una liberación de su condición de escritora esclava, pornógrafa, pero no por la pureza sino por el lixo (basura), pasando por la perversión y humillación que el capitalismo le inflinge a los escritores y a las mujeres. Sobre todo a escritoras mujeres. Clarice, con más de diez libros publicados y una vida entregada a la creación literaria, tiene que aclarar: "solo aviso que no escribo por dinero y sí por impulso".

La passion selon G.H.

En este libro la autora se propone el estudio de la ironía y el silencio como mecanismos que contribuyen al juego de la lectura, a la participación y a la pregunta existencial. El silencio como certeza de una realidad inefable es motivo para indagar en torno a su naturaleza, a su papel dentro de la creación literaria, sin excluir desde luego una poética que le sea afín. Una "literatura de lo inefable", como la califica Brenda Ríos, es la herencia literaria de la gran narradora brasileña.

Un aprendizaje o El libro de los placeres

Esta novela contiene trece títulos, una muchacha nordestina llamada Macabea, un escritor desesperado de nombre Rodrigo S.M., una cartomante que fue prostituta, un médico que detesta su oficio, un novio impaciente, un gallo que inesperadamente canta en el puerto de Río de Janeiro. Todas esas cosas están en la novela moduladas por la escritura singular de Clarice Lispector que logra incluir el silencio y el grito. La hora de la estrella es el último libro que Clarice Lispector publicó en vida, pocos meses antes de morir el 9 de diciembre de 1977. Como su personaje Macabea, ante la inminencia de la muerte, Clarice también supo darnos con esta novela su más poderoso resplandor.

Passages of Belonging

Esta obra conta o pensar e o sentir de G.H., a protagonista-narradora que despede a empregada doméstica e decide fazer uma limpeza geral no quarto de serviço, que ela supõe imundo e repleto de inutilidades. Após recuperar-se da frustração de ter encontrado um quarto limpo e arrumado, G.H. depara-se com uma barata na porta do armário. Depois do susto, ela esmaga o inseto e decide provar seu interior branco.

Creer llorando

La presencia múltiple y compleja del sexo en la literatura se estudia en las literaturas griega y latina, española e hispanoamericana, inglesa y norteamericana a lo largo de treinta ensayos monográficos. Este libro se concentra en el sexo como condicionante y como materia de la obra literaria y muestra las soluciones que distintas literaturas han dado a uno de los principales problemas de la existencia humana.

El via crucis del cuerpo

"Clarice Lispector realiza lo que llamo literatura o escritura pensante, aquella que permite pensar lo impensado y hasta lo impensable en las culturas occidentales, yendo mucho más allá del pensamiento humano en sentido vulgar: Estoy detrás de lo que permanece atrás del pensamiento. Y lo que permanece atrás del pensamiento son las sensaciones (es una sensación atrás del pensamiento), que no se oponen simplemente al razonamiento humano relacionado al lenguaje verbal, sino que lo anteceden, estableciendo con este más de una relación. De allí la necesidad de desplegar una poética y una estética de las sensaciones".

Del amor y otras cosas que se gastan por el uso

Ángela es mi intento de ser dos [...] Sin embargo ella me es yo, dice el autor. Soy una actriz para mí, replica Ángela, hablando de sí para sí. Declaradamente creación del autor, esa escritora tiene, sin embargo, una personalidad propia: la conclusión de él alterna con la de ella: dos monólogos alternados que jamás confluyen en un diálogo. No hay correspondencia entre las dos pautas verbales del mismo improvisado narrativo, que forman, aún, una sola escritura errante, empática, hiperbólica, repetitiva, contaminando al lector con la fuerza subterránea de un entusiasmo maligno, infeccioso de un infectious enthusiasm, como diría Jane Austen que se propaga de la presencia declarada de Clarice Lispector. Personaje de sus personajes, autora y lectora de su propio libro, que en él y a través de él se recapitula, Clarice Lispector, ortónima en medio de sus heterónimos, finalmente se incluye en el cierre de la obra, escribiendo el anticipado epitafio por donde comienza y acaba el texto de Un sople de vida.

La hora de la estrella

Texto clásico de la teoría feminista, en el que la filosofía, la sociología y los estudios culturales se dan cita para llevar a cabo una revisión crítica de los saberes recibidos y ofrecer representaciones que realmente sirvan para transformar la realidad social.

A paixão segundo G. H.

Apenas existen en lengua española investigaciones generales acerca de la literatura y cultura brasileñas, y aun menos si cabe sobre su recepción en España. La presente investigación acerca de la literatura brasileña en España, fundada en un modelo ya sometido a prueba y con muy buenos resultados sobre todo en un caso distante y difícil como lo es el de la literatura china, encierra una función instrumental que en gran medida se instituye previa a cualquier otro tipo de estudio sobre la materia tomada por objeto. Trazada con ambición totalizadora sobre el marco cultural e institucional y, específicamente, sobre la literatura de Brasil en España, sobre el conjunto bien contextualizado de sus producciones clasificado por géneros desde una rigurosa base documental bibliográfica y traductográfica, posee la virtud de ofrecer la imagen centrada, completa y eficiente de una relación cultural y literaria complicada, como todas las de envergadura, pero sin duda sujeta a unas peculiaridades que desde luego merecen gran atención y desde luego no sólo por tratarse de elaboraciones en lenguas de la misma familia románica e históricamente hermanas. Si la proximidad aleja por principio la virtualidad más fulgurante de toda relación en los estudios comparatistas, cabe decir que esto en el presente caso sólo es así hasta cierto punto, pues la proximidad de cultura y lengua puede albergar razones de mucha lejanía, pero al igual que de afectos difíciles, necesidades complejas, pasiones inconfesadas o latentes, y también secretos de extrema fidelidad que acaso penetran, o superan, la esfera de lo que a veces hemos denominado intracomparatismo y a menudo se despliega larga y casi sigilosamente en la Historia a través del hilo conductor de élites y genealogías.

La risa de la medusa

En Cerca del corazón salvaje, la primera novela de Clarice Lispector (1943), la lengua se expande y torsiona para darle intensidad a los momentos mínimos, comunes, banales, recortados del fluir de la vida. Lispector había inventado una lengua propia, una lengua rica en metáforas inusuales, cambios metonímicos, y efectos de extrañamiento, producidos por un flujo narrativo caracterizado por la descripción alusiva y la atención otorgada a detalles sensoriales. Lispector va así construyendo una narrativa que privilegia los estados interiores por sobre los acontecimientos de una trama narrativa, da vida a objetos y situaciones mínimas, irrelevantes para cualquier trama, pero fundamentales en tanto narración de una vida.

20th Century

The Brazilian author Clarice Lispector (1920-1977) is arguably Latin America's most celebrated female writer. Yet her prose has remained tantalisingly elusive, resisting any facile appropriation and lending itself to be read in a variety of contexts. Lispector's enigmatic yet luminous writings warrant fresh, multi-disciplinary readings. Here, twelve distinguished international scholars discuss the modernity pulsating throughout Lispector's work, examining not only her unconventional novels and famous short stories, but also her chronicles and children's books, in order to reassess her groundbreaking exploration of the fluid categories of gender and genre, her hybrid textualisations of time, self and nation.

El sexo en la literatura

Lazos de familia, publicado originalmente en 1960, es el primer libro de cuentos de Clarice Lispector y es el libro con el que, quizás, se empieza a afianzar la idea de que estamos, ya no ante una escritora capaz de innovar y sorprender de un modo esporádico sino más bien ante una obra literaria. Es decir, con este volumen de cuentos podemos empezar a establecer un hilo tanto retrospectivo como prospectivo, con ciertos temas y con un estilo que persistirán en su literatura, permitiéndonos afirmar una coherencia, una continuidad y el peso de una obra. Pero además de establecer un diálogo hacia adelante y hacia atrás con otros de sus textos, entre los trece cuentos que conforman el volumen, existe un aire de familia, un lazo que los une.

Agua viva

Hace un año se celebraba en la Facultad de Filología de la Universidad de Salamanca, el Congreso La Lengua Portuguesa, bajo los auspicios del Centro de Estudios Brasileños, promotor de esta justificada y necesaria iniciativa en el contexto hispánico. Estos volúmenes se publican, bajo la denominación genérica de La Lengua Portuguesa las más de ciento cincuenta conferencias y comunicaciones de este magno Congreso. En torno a dos grandes bloques, Lengua y Literatura, en los que hemos aglutinado todas las intervenciones, se articulan diversos ejes fundamentales, también semánticamente muy ricos, encuadrados todos ellos bajo el concepto de lengua y cultura de expresión portuguesa: metodología y enseñanza de la lengua, historia de la lengua (sintaxis, morfología, fonética, léxico...), lingüística diacrónica y sincrónica, dialectología, literatura comparada, literaturas de lengua portuguesa de diferentes épocas y países, etc., etc. No es fácil conseguir los textos escritos de todos los participantes cuando no se entregan antes o inmediatamente después de su intervención. Nuestra intención fue (y así lo comunicamos a los congresistas) su inmediata publicación posterior, y, aunque sabemos de la dificultad de cumplir plazos, nos hemos visto obligados a cerrar –después de varias demoras el elenco de intervenciones, sin poder incluirlas todas. A su sesión de apertura acudieron las autoridades académicas y municipales de esta ciudad, así como representantes diplomáticos de diferentes países de lengua portuguesa, como Portugal, Brasil, Angola y Cabo Verde, representado este país por su embajador en Madrid. A todos ellos nuestro agradecimiento.

Un soplo de vida

Esta es «la historia de una inocencia herida, de una miseria anónima», una breve e intensa visión del absurdo que supone una existencia anodina, una rutina vacía tanto de pensamientos como de afectos, como la de Macabea, la insignificante y escuálida joven del Noreste permanentemente anonadada, una muchacha que «no sabía que ella era lo que era» y que por ello «no se sentía infeliz». En las páginas de La hora de la estrella aparece con toda su fuerza el personalísimo estilo de Clarice Lispector: su peculiar forma de transformar las palabras en imágenes vigorosas y puras se une aquí a una compleja estructura formal.

Metamorfosis

TODOS LOS RELATOS DE LA MÍTICA ESCRITORA BRASILEÑA RECOGIDOS POR PRIMERA VEZ EN UN ÚNICO VOLUMEN. «El de Clarice Lispector es un arte que nos hace desear conocer a la mujer; y ella es una mujer que nos hace querer conocer su arte. Este libro ofrece una visión de ambas: un retrato inolvidable en y a través de su arte, de esa gran figura en toda su trágica majestad». Del prólogo de BENJAMIN MOSER Autora de brillantes y personalísimos relatos que figuran entre los más emblemáticos de la literatura brasileña, Clarice Lispector está unánimemente considerada como una de las más importantes voces del siglo XX. Su figura y su legado irradian a día de hoy el mismo poderoso magnetismo que ha venido cautivando a los lectores de todo el mundo desde que en 1943 apareciera publicado su primer texto. Todos los cuentos recoge por primera vez en un único volumen la totalidad de su narrativa breve, reconocida como la vertiente más rica, fascinante y acabada de su obra. En su centro, siempre con el inimitable hálito que Lispector supo insuflar a todos sus escritos, se encuentra la suma de sus inquietudes vitales: el impacto abrumador de la realidad cotidiana, lo efímero de la fulguración poética o el perpetuo interrogante sobre la identidad femenina y la condición del ser humano.

La literatura brasileña en España

Eulalia Valldosera has created an oeuvre of unusual beauty since 1990. Valldosera works in the media of sculpture, installation, photography and performance in a variety of combinations. She distills a constellation of dreamlike moments centering on the female body, domestic environments and the everyday objects. Her intimate work is crafted from light, shadow, reflection and movement. This book presents a significant body of her work first time and is co-produced with Fundacio Antoni Tapies.

Cerca del corazón salvaje

Volumen colectivo compuesto por 11 trabajos sobre literatura mexicana del siglo XX, los cuales continúan y actualizan temas que interesaron a Samuel Gordon (1945-2018), en homenaje a su magisterio y en diálogo con su obra crítica.
