working on a piece of ply board transferring the whole of the drawing onto the watercolor paper start preparing a couple of our washes apply a plain water wash over the main part of the petal add a little bit more water using my larger brush mixing up some of the colors that we're going to use move down to the green calyx around the base of the bud mix up a nice purple color with the french ultramarine apply a water wash over the whole of that petal start bringing a little bit more depth of color start filling in some of the other little petals around the top start adding on a little bit of the detail of the veins add in a little bit more pencil detail blend it gently into the yellow finish off the very top petals now again with a dry brush mix a combination of permanent rose and french ultramarine start applying some gentle lines just showing the um texture
