A perfect Bedtime story, for Grown Ups. Part 2. If you prefer your sleep stories, ...

And Let's Begin the Seven Voyages of Sinbad the Sailor in the Times of the Caliph Haran Rashid There Lived in Baghdad a Poor Porter Named Hindbad Who on a Very Hot Day Was Sent To Carry a Heavy Load from One End of the City to the Other before He Had Accomplished Half the Distance He Was So Tired that Finding Himself in a Quiet Street Where the Pavement Was Sprinkled with Rose Water and a Cool Breeze Was Blowing He Set His Burden upon the Ground and Sat Down To Rest in the Shade

He Was So Tired that Finding Himself in a Quiet Street Where the Pavement Was Sprinkled with Rose Water and a Cool Breeze Was Blowing He Set His Burden upon the Ground and Sat Down To Rest in the Shade of a Grand House Very Soon He Decided that He Could Not Have Chosen a Pleasanter Place a Delicious Perfume of Aloes Wood and Pastels Came from the Open Window and Mingled with the Scent of the Rose Water Which Steamed Up from the Hot Pavement within the Palace He Heard some Music as of Many Instruments Cunningly Played and the Melodious Wallball of Nightingales

And Mingled with the Scent of the Rose Water Which Steamed Up from the Hot Pavement within the Palace He Heard some Music as of Many Instruments Cunningly Played and the Melodious Wallball of Nightingales and Other Birds and by this and the Appetizing Smell of Many Dainty Dishes of Which He Presently Became Aware He Judged that Feasting and Merrymaking Were Going on He Wondered Who Lived in this Magnificent House Which He Had Never Seen before the Street in Which It Stood Being One of Which He Seldom Had Occasion To Pass To Satisfy His Curiosity He Went Up to some Splendidly Dressed Servants Who Stood at the Door

However the Lackey Promised Him that It Should Be Taken Care of and Urged Him To Obey the Call So Pressingly that at Last the Porter Was Obligated To Yield He Followed the Servant to a Vast Room Where a Great Company Was Seated around a Table Covered with all Sorts of Delicacies in the Place of Honor Such a Tall Grave Man Whose Long White Beard Gave Him a Venerable Heir beside His Chair Stood a Crowd of Attendants Eager to Minister to His Wants this Was the Famous Sinbad Himself the Porter More than Ever Alarmed at the Sight of So Much Magnificence Tremblingly Saluted the Noble Company Simbad Making a Sign to Him to Approach Caused Him To Be Seated at His Right Hand and Himself Keep Choice Morsels upon His Plate

This Was the Famous Sinbad Himself the Porter More than Ever Alarmed at the Sight of So Much Magnificence Tremblingly Saluted the Noble Company Simbad Making a Sign to Him to Approach Caused Him To Be Seated at His Right Hand and Himself Keep Choice Morsels upon His Plate and Poured Out for Him Bedraught of Excellent Wine and Presently When the Banquets Drew to a Close Sinbad Spoke to Him Familiarly Asking His Name and Occupation My Lord Replied the Porter I'M Hindbad I'M Glad To See You Here Continued Sinbad and I Will Answer for the Rest of the Company That They Are Equally Pleased but I Wish You To Tell Me What Is that You Said Just Now on the Street the Sinbad Passing by the Open Window before the Feast Began

But this Is Far Indeed from Being the Case I Have Only Reached this Happy State after Having Years but Suffered every Possible Kind of Toil and Danger Yes My Noble Friends He Continued Addressing the Company I Assure You that My Adventures Have Been Strange Enough To Deter Even the Most Vacuous Men from Seeking Wealth by Traversing the Seas since You Have Perhaps Heard but Confused Accounts of My Seven Voyages and the Dangers and Wonders that I've Met by Sian Land I Will Now Give You a Full and True Account of Them Which I Think You Will Be Well Pleased To Hear

Should Be Carried by some of His Own Servants to the Place Which Hinbad Had Set Out at First Where He Remained To Listen to the Story the First Voyage I Had Inherited Wealth from My Parents and Being Young and Foolish I Had First Squandered It Recklessly upon every Kind of Pleasure but Presently Finding that Riches Speedily Take to Themselves Wings if Managed As Badly as I Was Managing Mine and Remembering Also that To Be Old and Poor Is Misery Indeed I Began To Rethink Me of How I Could Make the Best of What Still Remained to Me I Sold All My Household Goods by Public Auction

And Joined a Company of Merchants Who Traded by Sea Embarking with Them at Balsaura in a Ship Which We Had Fitted Out between Us We Set Sail and Took Our Course towards the East Indies by the Persian Gulf Having the Coast of Persia upon Our Left Hand and upon Our Right the Shores of Arabia Phoenix I Was at First Much Troubled by the Uneasy Motion of the Vessel but Speedily Recovered My Health and since that Hour Have Been no More Played by Seasickness from Time to Time We Landed at Various Islands Where We Sold or Exchanged Our Merchandise and One Day When the Wind Dropped Suddenly We Found Ourselves Be Calmed Close to a Small Island like a Green Meadow Which Only Rose Slightly above the Surface of the Water

From Time to Time We Landed at Various Islands Where We Sold or Exchanged Our Merchandise and One Day When the Wind Dropped Suddenly We Found Ourselves Be Calmed Close to a Small Island like a Green Meadow Which Only Rose Slightly above the Surface of the Water Our Sails Were Filled and the Captain Gave Permission to all Who Wished To Land for a While and Amuse Themselves I Was among the Number but When after Strolling About for some Time We Lighted a Fire and Sat Down To Enjoy the Repast We Have Brought with Us We Were all Startled by a Sudden Violent Trembling of the Island

And the Captain Gave Permission to all Who Wished To Land for a While and Amuse Themselves I Was among the Number but When after Strolling About for some Time We Lighted a Fire and Sat Down To Enjoy the Repast We Have Brought with Us We Were all Startled by a Sudden Violent Trembling of the Island while at the Same Moment those Left upon the Ship Set Up an Outcry Bidding Is To Come on Board for Our Lives since What We Had Taken for an Island Was Nothing but the Back of a Sleeping Whale

While at the Same Moment those Left upon the Ship Set Up an Outcry Bidding Is To Come on Board for Our Lives since What We Had Taken for an Island Was Nothing but the Back of a Sleeping Whale those Who Were Nearest to the Boat Threw Themselves into It another Sprang into the Sea but before I Could Save Myself the Whale Plunged Suddenly into the Depths of the Ocean Leaving Me Clinging to a Piece of Wood Which We Had Brought To Make Our Fire Meanwhile a Breeze Had Sprung Up But before I Could Save Myself the Whale Plunged Suddenly into the Depths of the Ocean Leaving Me Clinging to a Piece of Wood Which We Had Brought To Make Our Fire Meanwhile a Breeze Had Sprung Up and in the Confusion That Ensued on Board Our Vessel in Hoisting the Sails and Taking Up those Who Were in the Boat and Clinging to Its Sides no One Missed Me and I Was Left at the Mercy of the Waves All that Day I Floated Up and down Now Beating this Way Now that and When Night Fell I Despaired for My Life

All that Day I Floated Up and down Now Beating this Way Now that and When Night Fell I Despaired for My Life but Weary and Spent as I Was I Clung to My Frail Support and Great Was My Joy When the Morning Light Showed Me that I Drifted against an Island the Glyphs Were High in Steep but Luckily for Me some Tree Roots Protruded in Places and by Their Aid I Climbed Up at Last and Stretched Myself upon the Turf at the Top Where I Lay More Dead than Alive till the Sun Was High in the Heavens

And When I Had Eaten of the Food They Set before Me They Made Me Think Myself Fortunate To Have Come upon Them When I Did since They Were Going Back to Their Master on the Morrow and without Our Aid I Could Certainly Never Have Found My Way to the Inhabited Part of the Island Early the Next Morning We Accordingly Set Out and When We Reached the Capitol I Was Graciously Received by the King to Whom I Related My Adventures upon Which She Ordered that I Should Be Well Cared for and Provided with Such Things as I Needed Being a Merchant I Sought Out Men of My Own Profession

I Was Graciously Received by the King to Whom I Related My Adventures upon Which She Ordered that I Should Be Well Cared for and Provided with Such Things as I Needed Being a Merchant I Sought Out Men of My Own Profession and Particularly those Who Came from Foreign Countries as I Hoped in this Way To Hear News from Baghdad and Find Out some Means of Returning Thither for the Capital Was Situated upon the Seashore and Visited by Vessels from all Parts of the World And Particularly those Who Came from Foreign Countries as I Hoped in this Way To Hear News from Baghdad and Find Out some Means of Returning Thither for the Capital Was Situated upon the Seashore and Visited by Vessels from all Parts of the World in the Meantime I Heard Many Curious Things and Answered Many Questions Concerning My Own Country before I Talked Willingly with all

Who Came to Me Also To While Away the Time of Waiting I Explored a Little Island Called Cassell Which Belonged to King Mirage and Which Was Supposed To Be Inhabited by Spirit Named Daggiel Indeed the Sailors Assure Me That Often at Night the Playing of Timbals Could Be Heard upon It However I Saw Nothing Strange upon My Voyage Saving some Fish That Were Full 200 Cubits Long but Were Fortunately More Indrediverse than Even We Were of Them

And Fled from Us if We Did but Strike upon a Boar To Frighten Them Other Fishes That Were Only a Cubit Long Which Had Heads like Owls One Day after My Return as I Went Down to the Key I Saw a Ship Which Had Just Cast Anchor and Was Discharging Her Cargo on the Merchants to Whom It Belonged Were Busily Directing the Removal of It to Their Warehouses Drawing Nearer I Pleasantly Noticed that My Own Name Was Marked upon some of the Packages and Having Carefully Examined Them I Felt Sure that They Were Indeed those Which I Had Put on Board Our Ship at Balzora And Was Discharging Her Cargo on the Merchants to Whom It Belonged Were Busily Directing the Removal of It to Their Warehouses Drawing Nearer I Pleasantly Noticed that My Own Name Was Marked upon some of the Packages and Having Carefully Examined Them I Felt Sure that They Were Indeed those Which I Had Put on Board Our Ship at Balzora and Then Recognized the Captain of the Vessel but as I Was Certain that He Believed Me To Be Dead I Went Up to Him and Asked Who Owned the Packages That I Was Looking at They Were aboard My Ship He Replied a Merchant of Baghdad Named Sinbad One Day He and Several of My Other Passengers Landed upon What Was Supposed To Be in Ireland

They Were aboard My Ship He Replied a Merchant of Baghdad Named Sinbad One Day He and Several of My Other Passengers Landed upon What Was Supposed To Be in Ireland but Was Really an Enormous Whale Floating Asleep upon the Waves No Sooner Did It Feel upon Its Back the Heat of the Fire Which Had Been Kindled Then It Plunged into the Depths of the Sea Several of the People Who Were upon It Perished into the Waters and among Others this Unlucky Sinbad this Merchandise Is His but I've Resolved To Dispose of It for the Benefit of His Family

But Was Really an Enormous Whale Floating Asleep upon the Waves No Sooner Did It Feel upon Its Back the Heat of the Fire Which Had Been Kindled Then It Plunged into the Depths of the Sea Several of the People Who Were upon It Perished into the Waters and among Others this Unlucky Sinbad this Merchandise Is His but I've Resolved To Dispose of It for the Benefit of His Family if I Should Have a Chance To Meet with Them Captain Said Ii Am that Sinbad Whom You Believe To Be Dead and those Are My Possessions

And among Others this Unlucky Sinbad this Merchandise Is His but I've Resolved To Dispose of It for the Benefit of His Family if I Should Have a Chance To Meet with Them Captain Said Ii Am that Sinbad Whom You Believe To Be Dead and those Are My Possessions When the Captain Heard those Words He Cried Out in Amazement Lack a Day and What Is the World Coming to in these Days There's Not an Honest Man To Be Met with Do I Not with My Own Eyes Ceasing Bad Drown and Now You Have the Audacity To Tell Me that You Are He I Should Have Taken You To Be a Just Man and Yet for the Sake of Obtaining that Which Does Not Belong to You You Are Ready To Invent this Horrible Falsehood Have Patience and Do Me the Favor To Hear My Story Said I Speak Then Reply the Captain

And after the Arrival of some of the Other Merchants Who Showed Great Joy at Once More Seeing Me Alive He Declared that He Also Recognized Me Throwing Himself upon My Neck He Exclaimed Heaven Be Praised that You Have Escaped from So Great a Danger as to Your Gods I Pray You Take Them and Dispose of Them as You Please I Thanked Him and Praised His Honesty Begging Him To Accept Several Bales of Merchandise in Token of My Gratitude but He Would Tame Nothing of the Choicest of My Gods I Prepared a Present for the King Who Was a First Amazed Having Known that I Had Lost My All However When I Explained to Him How My Bales Had Been Miraculously Restored to Me He Graciously Accepted My Gifts and in Return Gave Me Valuable Things I Then Took Leave of Him and Exchanging My Merchandise for Sandal and Aloe Woods Campbell Nutmegs Clothes Peppers and Ginger I Embarked upon the Same Vessel and Traded So Successfully upon Our Homewood Voyage That I Arrived in Balsaura with About 100 000 Sequins My Family Received Me as with Much Joy as I Felt upon Seeing Them Once More I Bought Land and Slaves

Here Sinbad Paused and Commanded the Musicians To Play Again One the Feasting Continued until Evening When the Time Came for the Porter To Depart Sinbad Gave Him a Purse Containing 100 Sequins Saying Take this Him Bad and Go Home but Tomorrow Come Again and You Shall Hear More of My Adventures the Porter Retired Quite Overcome by So Much Generosity and You May Imagine that He Was Also Well Received at Home Where His Wife and Children Thanked Their Lucky Stars That He Had Found Such a Benefactor the Next Day Hinbad Dressed in His Best Returned to the Voyage's House and Was Received with Open Arms As Soon as All the Guests Had Arrived the

Banquet Began as before and When They Had Feasted Long and Merrily Sinbad Addressed Them Thus My Friends I Beg that You Will Give Me Your Attention while I Relate the Adventures of My Second Voyage

And Was Received with Open Arms As Soon as All the Guests Had Arrived the Banquet Began as before and When They Had Feasted Long and Merrily Sinbad Addressed Them Thus My Friends I Beg that You Will Give Me Your Attention while I Relate the Adventures of My Second Voyage Which You Will Find Even More Astonishing than the First the Second Voyage I Had Resolved as You Know on My Return from the First Voyage To Spend the Rest of My Days Quietly in Baghdad

But Very Slowly I Grew Tired of Such an Idle Life Unlonged Once More To Find Myself upon the Sea I Procured Therefore Such Goods as Were Suitable for the Places I Intended To Visit and Embarked for the Second Time in a Good Ship with Other Merchants Whom I Knew To Be Honorable Men We Went from Island to Island Often Making Excellent Bargains until One Day We Landed at a Spot Which though Covered with Fruit and Trees and Abounding in Springs of Excellent Water Appeared To Possess neither Houses nor People while My Companions Wandered Here and There Gathering Flowers and Fruit I Sat Down in a Shady Place

And Started to My Feet I Perceived with Horror That I Was Alone and the Ship Was Gone I Rushed To and Fro like One Distracted Uttering Cries of Despair and When from the Shore I Saw the Vessel and a Full Sail Just Disappearing upon the Horizon I Wished Bitterly Enough that I Had Been Content To Stay at Home in Safety but since Wishes Could Do Me no Good I Presently Took Courage and Looked about Me for a Means of Escape When I Climbed Tall Tree I First of all Directed My Anxious Glances towards the Sea but Finding Nothing Hopeful There I Turned Landward

And Set Off As Fast as I Could towards It as I Drew near It It Seemed to Me To Be a White Ball of Immense Size and Height and When I Could Touch It I Found It Marvelously Smooth and Soft as It Was Impossible To Climb It Presented no Foothold I Walked around It Seeking some Opening but There Was None I Counted However that It Was At Least 50 Paces Round by this Time the Sun Was Near Setting but Quite Suddenly It Fell Dark Something like a Huge Black Cloud Came Swiftly over Me and I Saw with Amazement that It Was a Bird of Extraordinary

And Then Suddenly It Ascended So Swiftly that I Almost Lost Consciousness but I Became Aware that the Rock Had Settled and that I Was Once Again upon Solid Ground I Hastily Unbound My Turban from His Foot and Freed Myself and that's Not a Moment Too Soon for the Bird Pouncing upon a Huge Snake Killed It with a Few Blows from Its Powerful Beak and Seizing It Up Rose into the Air Once More and Soon Disappeared from My View When I'D Looked about Me I Began To Doubt if I Had Gained Anything by Quitting the Desolate Island the Valley in Which I Found Myself Was Deep and Narrow

And Seizing It Up Rose into the Air Once More and Soon Disappeared from My View When I'D Looked about Me I Began To Doubt if I Had Gained Anything by Quitting the Desolate Island the Valley in Which I Found Myself Was Deep and Narrow and Surrounded by Mountains Which Towered into the Clouds and Was So Steep and Rocky that There Was no Way Up of Climbing Up Their Sides as I Wondered about Seeking Anxiously for some Means of Escaping this Trap I Observed from the Ground Was Strewed with Diamonds some of Them an Astonishing Size Their Sight Gave Me Great Pleasure

As I Wondered about Seeking Anxiously for some Means of Escaping this Trap I Observed from the Ground Was Strewed with Diamonds some of Them an Astonishing Size Their Sight Gave Me Great Pleasure but My Delight Was Speedily Damped When I Saw the Numbers of Horrible Snakes So Long and So Large that the Smallest of Them Could Have Swallowed an Elephant with Ease Fortunately for Me They Seemed To Hide in Caverns of the Rocks My Day and Only Came Out by Night Probably because of Their Enemy the Rock all Day Long I Wondered Up and down the Valley and When It Grew Dusk I Crept into a Little Cave

And Only Came Out by Night Probably because of Their Enemy the Rock all Day Long I Wondered Up and down the Valley and When It Grew Dusk I Crept into a Little Cave and Having Blocked Up the Entrance to It with a Stone I Ate Part of My Little Store of Food and Laid Down to Sleep but all through the Night the Serpents Crawled To and Fro Hissing Horribly so that I Could Scarcely Close My Eyes for Terror I Was Thankful When the Morning Light Appeared and Then I Judged by the Silence that the Serpents Had Retreated to Their Dens

But all through the Night the Serpents Crawled To and Fro Hissing Horribly so that I Could Scarcely Close My Eyes for Terror I Was Thankful When the Morning Light Appeared and Then I Judged by the Silence that the Serpents Had Retreated to Their Dens I Came Trembling out of My Cave and Wandered up and down the Valley Once More Kicking the Diamonds Contemptuously out of My Path for I Felt that They Were Indeed Vain Things to a Man in My Situation at Last Overcome with Wariness

I Sat Down upon a Rock When I Had Hardly Closed My Eyes When I Was Startled Had Hatched Their Young the Merchants Then Threw Great Lumps of Meat into the Valley Bees Falling with So Much Force upon the Diamonds Were Sure To Take Up some of the Precious Stones with Them When the Eagles Pounced upon the Meat and Carried It Off to Their Nests To Feed Their Hungry Broods When the Merchants Scaring Away the Parent Birds with Shouts and Our Cries Would Secure Their Treasures until this Moment I'D Looked upon the Valley as My Grave but I Had Seen no Possibility of Getting out of It Alive but Now I Took Courage and Began To Devise a Means of Escape I Began by Picking Up All the Largest Diamonds I Could Find Storing Them Carefully in the 11 Wallet Which Had Held My Provisions

I Began by Picking Up All the Largest Diamonds I Could Find Storing Them Carefully in the 11 Wallet Which Had Held My Provisions this I Tied Securely to My Belt I Then Chose the Piece of Meat Which Seemed Most Suited to My Purpose and with the Aid of My Turban Bounded Firmly to My Back this Done I Laid Down upon My Face and Awaited the Coming of the Eagles I Soon Heard the Flapping of Their Mighty Wings above Me and Had the Satisfaction of Feeding One of Them Seas upon My Piece of Meat

I Soon Heard the Flapping of Their Mighty Wings above Me and Had the Satisfaction of Feeding One of Them Seas upon My Piece of Meat and Me with It and Rise Slowly towards His Nest into Which He Presently Dropped Me Luckily for Me the Merchants Were on the Watch and Setting Up Their Usual Outcries They Rushed to the Nest Scaring Away the Eagle Their Amazement Was Great When They Discovered Me and Also Their Disappointment and with One Accord They Fell to Abusing Me for Having Robbed Them of Their Usual Prophet Addressing Myself to One Who Seemed Most Aggrieved I Said I'M Sure if You Knew all That I Have Suffered

And When They Had Led Me to Their Camp and Examined My Diamonds They Assured Me that in All the Years They Had Carried on Their Trade They Had Seen no Stones To Be Compared with Them for Size and Beauty I Found that each Merchant Chose a Particular Nest and Took His Chance of What He Might Find in It So I Begged the One Who Owned the Nest to Which I'D Been Carried To Take As Much as He Would of My Treasure

And Took His Chance of What He Might Find in It So I Begged the One Who Owned the Nest to Which I'D Been Carried To Take As Much as He Would of My Treasure but He Contented Himself with One Stone and that by no Means the Largest Assuring Me that with Such a Gem His Fortune Was Made and He Need Toil So More I Stayed with the Merchants Several Days and Then as They Were Journeying Onwards I Gladly Accompanied Them Our Way Lay across High Mountains Infested with Frightful Serpents

And that by no Means the Largest Assuring Me that with Such a Gem His Fortune Was Made and He Need Toil So More I Stayed with the Merchants Several Days and Then as They Were Journeying Onwards I Gladly Accompanied Them Our Way Lay across High Mountains Infested with Frightful Serpents but We Had the Good Luck To Escape Them and Come At Last to the Seashore Thence We Sailed to the Island of Rohat Where the Kample Trees Grow to Such a Size That a Hundred Men Could Shelter under One of Them with Ease

But We Had the Good Luck To Escape Them and Come At Last to the Seashore Thence We Sailed to the Island of Rohat Where the Kample Trees Grow to Such a Size That a Hundred Men Could Shelter under One of Them with Ease the Sap Flows from an Incision Made High Up in the Tree Thence We Sailed to the Island of Rohat Where the Kample Trees Grow to Such a Size That a Hundred Men Could Shelter under One of Them with Ease the Sap Flows from an Incision Made High Up in the Tree into a Vessel Hung There To Receive It and Soon Hardens into the Substance Known as Kampal but the Tree Itself Withers Up and Dies When It Has Been So Treated in the Same Island We Saw the Rhinoceros an Animal Who Was Smaller than the Elephant and Larger than the Buffalo It Has One Horn about a Cubit Long Which Is Solid but Has a Furrow from the Base to the Tip

And Transfixing Him with His Horn Carries Him Off upon His Head but Becomes Blinded with the Blood of the Enemy He Falls Helpless to the Ground and Then Comes the Rock and Clutches Them both in His Talons and Takes Them To Feed His Young this Doubtless Astonishes You but if You Do Not Believe My Tale Go to Rohat and See for Yourself for Fear of Wearying You I Pass Over in Silence Many Other Wonderful Things Which We Saw on this Island before We Left I Exchanged One of My Diamonds for Much Goodly Merchandise by Which I Profited Greatly on Our Homeward Way at Last We Reached Balsaura Whence I Hastened to Baghdad

After Which I Settled Down To Enjoy Tranquilly the Riches I Had Gained with So Much Toil and Pain Having Thus Related the Adventures of this Second Voyage Sinbad Again Bestowed a Hundred Sequence upon Hinbad Inviting Him To Come Again on the Following Day and Hear How He Fed

upon His Third Voyage the Other Guests Also Departed to Their Homes but all Returned at the Same Hour Next Day Including the Porter Whose Former Life of Hard Work and Poverty Had Already Began To Seem like a Bad Dream Again after the Feast Was over Sinbad Claimed the Attention of His Guests and Began the Account of His Third Voyage the Third Voyage after a Very Short Time the Pleasant Easy Life I Led Made Me Quite Forget the Perils of My Two Voyages Moreover as I Was Still on the Prime of Life It Pleased Me Better To Be Up and Doing

We Were Caught by a Terrible Wind Which Blew Us Completely out of Our Reckoning and Lasting for Several Days Finally Drove Us into Harbour on a Strange Island I Would Rather Have Come To Anchor Anywhere than Here Said Our Captain this Island and all Adjoining It Are Inhabited by Hairy Savages Who Were Certain To Attack Us and Whatever these Dwarfs May Do We Dare Not Resist since They Swarm like Locusts and if One of Them Is Killed the Rest Will Fall upon Us and Speedily Make an End of Us these Words Cause Great Consternation among All the Ship's Company Not More than Two Feet High and Covered with Reddish Fur Throwing Themselves into the Waves They Surrounded Our Vessel Chattering Meanwhile in a Language We Could Not Understand and Clutching at Ropes and Gun Wyes They Swarmed Up the Ship's Side with Such Speed and Agility They Were Almost Seem To Fly You May Imagine the Rage and Terror That Seized Us as We Watch Them neither Daring To Hinder Them nor Able To Speak a Word To Deter Them from Their Purpose They Surrounded Our Vessel Chattering Meanwhile in a Language We Could Not Understand and Clutching at Ropes and Gun Wyes They Swarmed Up the Ship's Side with Such Speed and Agility They Were Almost Seem To Fly You May Imagine the Rage and Terror That Seized Us as We Watch Them neither Daring To Hinder Them nor Able To Speak a Word To Deter Them from Their Purpose Whatever It Might Be of this We Were Not Left Long in Doubt Hoisting the Sails and Cutting the Cable of the Anchor

You May Imagine the Rage and Terror That Seized Us as We Watch Them neither Daring To Hinder Them nor Able To Speak a Word To Deter Them from Their Purpose Whatever It Might Be of this We Were Not Left Long in Doubt Hoisting the Sails and Cutting the Cable of the Anchor They Sailed Our Vessel to an Island Which Lay a Little Further Off When They Drove Us Ashore Then Taking Possession of Her They Made Off to the Place from Which They Had Come Leaving Us Helpless upon Ashore Avoided with Horror by all Mariners for a Reason Which You Will Soon Learn Turning Away from the Sea We Wandered Miserably Inland Finding as We Went Various Herbs and Fruits Whatever It Might Be of this We Were Not Left Long in Doubt Hoisting the Sails and Cutting the Cable of the Anchor They Sailed Our Vessel to an Island Which Lay a Little Further Off When They Drove Us Ashore Then Taking Possession of Her They Made Off to the Place from Which They Had Come Leaving Us Helpless upon Ashore Avoided with Horror by all Mariners for a Reason Which You Will Soon Learn Turning Away from the Sea We Wandered Miserably Inland Finding as We Went Various Herbs and Fruits Which We Ate Feeling that We Might As Well Live As Long as Possible though We Had no Hope of Escape

They Sailed Our Vessel to an Island Which Lay a Little Further Off When They Drove Us Ashore Then Taking Possession of Her They Made Off to the Place from Which They Had Come Leaving Us Helpless upon Ashore Avoided with Horror by all Mariners for a Reason Which You Will Soon Learn Turning Away from the Sea We Wandered Miserably Inland Finding as We Went Various Herbs and Fruits Which We Ate Feeling that We Might As Well Live As Long as Possible though We Had no Hope of Escape Presently We Saw in the Far Distance What Seemed to Us To Be a Splendid Palace towards Which We Turned Our Weary Steps but When We Reached It We Saw that It Was a Castle Lofty and Strongly Built Pushing Back the Heavy Ebony Doors We Entered the Courtyard but upon the Threshold of the Great Hall

But When We Reached It We Saw that It Was a Castle Lofty and Strongly Built Pushing Back the Heavy Ebony Doors We Entered the Courtyard but upon the Threshold of the Great Hall beyond It We Paused Frozen with Horror and the Sight Which Greeted Us on One Side Lay a Huge Pile of Bones Human Bones and on the Other Numberless Spits for Roasting Overcome with Despair We Sank Trembling to the Ground and Lay There without Speech or Motion the Sun Was Setting When a Loud Noise Aroused Us the Door of the Hall Was Violently Burst Open and a Horrible Giant Entered He Was Tall as a Palm Tree

And Lay There without Speech or Motion the Sun Was Setting When a Loud Noise Aroused Us the Door of the Hall Was Violently Burst Open and a Horrible Giant Entered He Was Tall as a Palm Tree and Perfectly Black and Had One Eye Which Flamed like a Burning Coal in the Middle of His Forehead His Teeth Were Long and Sharp and Grinned Horribly while His Lower Lip Hung Down upon His Chest and He Had Ears like Elephant's Ears Which Covered His Shoulders and Nails like the Claws of some Fierce Bird at this Terrible Sight Our Senses Left Us and We Lay like Dead Men

When at Last We Came to Ourselves

The Giants Sat Examining Us Attentively with His Fearful Eye Presently When He Had Looked at Us Enough He Came towards Us Stretching Out His Hand Took Me by the Back of the Neck Turning Me this Way and that but Feeling that I Was Mere Skin and Bone He Sat Me Down Again and Went On to the Next Whom He Treated in the Same Fashion at Last He Came to the Captain and Finding Him the Fattest of all He Took Him Up in One Hand and Stuck Him upon a Spit and Proceeded to Kindle a Huge Fire at Which He Presently Roasted Him after the Giant Had Sucked He Lay Down To Sleep Snoring like the Loudest Thunder while We Lay Shivering with Horror the Whole Night through and When Day Broke He Awoke and Went Out Leaving Us in the Castle

And Proceeded to Kindle a Huge Fire at Which He Presently Roasted Him after the Giant Had Sucked He Lay Down To Sleep Snoring like the Loudest Thunder while We Lay Shivering with Horror the Whole Night through and When Day Broke He Awoke and Went Out Leaving Us in the Castle When We Believed Him To Be Really Gone We Started Up Bemoaning a Horrible Fate until the Hall Echoed with Our Despairing Cries though We Were Many and Our Enemy Was Alone It Did Not Occur to Us To Kill Him and Indeed We Should Have Found that a Hard Task Even if We Have Thought of It and no Plan Could We Devise To Deliver Ourselves

Having Sought in Vain for any Other Place of Shelter at Sunset the Giant Returned Sucked upon One of Our Unhappy Comrades Slept and Snowed till Dawn and Then Left Us as before Our Conditions Seemed to Us So Frightful that Several of My Many Companions Thought It Would Be Better To Leap from the Cliffs and Perish in the Waves at Once Rather Await So Miserable an End but I Had a Plan of Escape Which I Now Unfolded to Them and Which They at Once Agreed To Attempt Listen My Brothers I Added You Know that Plenty of Driftwood Lies along the Shore

Here all Agreed with Me and We Spent the Day in Building Rafts each Capable of Carrying Three Persons at Nightfall We Returned to the Castle and Very Soon in Came the Giant and One More of Our Number Was Sacrificed but the Time of Our Vengeance Was at Hand As Soon as He Had Finished His Horrible Repast He Lay Down to Sleep as before and When We Heard Him Begin To Snore I and Nine of the Boldest of My Comrades Rose Softly and Took each a Spit Which We Made Red Hot in the Fire and Then at a Given Signal We Plunged It In with One Accord to the Giant's Eye Completely Blinding Him Uttering a Terrible Cry He Sprang to His Feet Clutching in all Directions To Try and Seize One of Us

And Then at a Given Signal We Plunged It In with One Accord to the Giant's Eye Completely Blinding Him Uttering a Terrible Cry He Sprang to His Feet Clutching in all Directions To Try and Seize One of Us but We Had all Fled in Different Ways As Soon as the Deed Was Done and Thrown Ourselves Flat upon the Ground in Corners Where He Was Not Likely To Touch Us with His Feet after a Vain Search He Fumbled about till He Found the Door and Flared out of It Howling Frightfully as for Us When He Was Gone We Made Haste To Leave the Fatal Castle and Stationing Ourselves beside Our Rafts We Waited To See What Would Happen Our Idea Was that if When the Sun Rose

And Flared out of It Howling Frightfully as for Us When He Was Gone We Made Haste To Leave the Fatal Castle and Stationing Ourselves beside Our Rafts We Waited To See What Would Happen Our Idea Was that if When the Sun Rose We Saw Nothing of the Giant and No Longer Heard His House We Still Came Faintly through the Darkness Growing More and More Distant We Should Conclude that He Was Dead and that We Might Safely Stay upon the Island and Need Not Risk Our Lives upon the Frail Roughs

And I Were Running for Our Lives to some Place Where We Might Hope To Be Safe from this New Horror and Seeing a Tall Tree We Climbed into It Having First Provided Ourselves with a Store of Fruit off the Surrounding Bushes When Night Came I Fell Asleep but Only To Be Awakened Once More by the Terrible Snake Which after Hissing Horribly round the Tree at Last Reared Itself Up against It and Finding My Sleeping Comrade It Was Perched Just below Me It Swallowed Him Also and Crawled Away Leaving Me Half Dead with Terror

When the Sun Rose I Crept Down from the Tree with Hardly a Hope of Escaping the Dreadful Fate Which Had Overtaken My Comrades but Life Is Sweet and I Determined To Do all I Could To Save Myself all Day Long I Toiled with Frantic Haste and Collected Quantities of Dry Brushwood Reeds and Thorns Which I Bound with Bundles of Sticks and Making a Circle of Them under My Tree I Piled Them Firmly One upon another until I Had a Kind of Tent in Which I Crouched like a Mouse in a Hull When She Sees the Cat

And I Determined To Do all I Could To Save Myself all Day Long I Toiled with Frantic Haste and Collected Quantities of Dry Brushwood Reeds and Thorns Which I Bound with Bundles of Sticks and Making a Circle of Them under My Tree I Piled Them Firmly One upon another until I Had a Kind of Tent in Which I Crouched like a Mouse in a Hull When She Sees the Cat Coming You May

Imagine What a Fearful Night It Was for the Snake Returned Eager To Devour Me and Glided Round and round My Frail Shelter Seeking an Entrance every Moment I Feared that It Would Succeed in Pushing Aside the Bundles of Sticks but Happily for Me They Held Together and When It Grew Light My Enemy Retired Baffled and Hungry to Its Den as for Me I Was More Dead than Alive Shaking with Fright and Half Suffocated by the Poisonous Breath of the Monster

And When It Grew Light My Enemy Retired Baffled and Hungry to Its Den as for Me I Was More Dead than Alive Shaking with Fright and Half Suffocated by the Poisonous Breath of the Monster I Came out of My Tent and Crawled Down to the Sea Feeling that It Would Be Better To Plunge from the Cliffs and End My Life at Once than Pass Such another Night of Horror but to My Joy and Relief I Saw a Ship Sailing By and by Shouting Wildly and Waving My Turban I Managed To Attract the Attentions of Her Crew a Boat Was Sent To Rescue Me

As for Me I Was More Dead than Alive Shaking with Fright and Half Suffocated by the Poisonous Breath of the Monster I Came out of My Tent and Crawled Down to the Sea Feeling that It Would Be Better To Plunge from the Cliffs and End My Life at Once than Pass Such another Night of Horror but to My Joy and Relief I Saw a Ship Sailing By and by Shouting Wildly and Waving My Turban I Managed To Attract the Attentions of Her Crew a Boat Was Sent To Rescue Me and Very Soon I Found Myself on Board Surrounded by a Wondering Crowd of Sailors and Merchants Eager To Know by What Chance I Found Myself in that Desolate Island

After I Had Told My Story They Regaled Me with the Choicest Food the Ship Afforded and Then the Captain Seeing that I Was in Rags Generously Bestowed upon Me One of His Own Coats after Sailing about for some Time and Touching at Many Ports We Came at Last to the Island of Salahat Where Sandalwood Grows in Great Abundance Here We Anchored and as I Stood Watching the Merchants Disembarking Their Goods and Preparing To Sell or Exchange Them the Captain Came Up to Me and Said I Have Here Brother some Merchandise Belonging to a Passenger of Mine Who Is Dead Will You Do Me the Favor To Trade with It

And as I Stood Watching the Merchants Disembarking Their Goods and Preparing To Sell or Exchange Them the Captain Came Up to Me and Said I Have Here Brother some Merchandise Belonging to a Passenger of Mine Who Is Dead Will You Do Me the Favor To Trade with It and When I Meet with His Heirs I Shall Be Able To Give Him the Money though It Will Be Only Just that You Shall Have a Portion for Your Trouble I Consented Gladly for I Did Not Like Standing by Idle Whereupon He Pointed the Bales Out to Me and Sent for the Person Whose Duty It Was To Keep a List of the Goods That Were upon the Ship When this Man Came He Asked in What Name the Merchandise Was To Be Registered

And Sent for the Person Whose Duty It Was To Keep a List of the Goods That Were upon the Ship When this Man Came He Asked in What Name the Merchandise Was To Be Registered in the Name of Simbad the Sailor Replied the Captain at this I Was Greatly Surprised by Looking Carefully at Him I Recognized Him To Be the Captain of the Ship upon Which I Had Made My Second Voyage though He Had Altered Much since that Time as for Him Believing Me To Be Dead It Was no Wonder that He Had Not Recognized Me so Captain Said I the Merchant Who Owned those Bales Was Called Sinbad

Though He Had Altered Much since that Time as for Him Believing Me To Be Dead It Was no Wonder that He Had Not Recognized Me so Captain Said I the Merchant Who Owned those Bales Was Called Sinbad Yes He Replied He Was So Named He Belonged to Baghdad and Joined My Ship at Belsura but by Miss Mischance He Was Left Behind upon It as an Island Where We Had Landed To Fill Up Our Water Casks and It Was Not until Four Hours Later that He Was Missed by that Time the Wind Had Freshened and It Was Impossible To Put Back for Him You Suppose Him To Have Perished Then Said I Alas Yes He Answered Why Captain I Cried Look at Me I Am Sinbad Who Fell Asleep upon the Island

And It Was Impossible To Put Back for Him You Suppose Him To Have Perished Then Said I Alas Yes He Answered Why Captain I Cried Look at Me I Am Sinbad Who Fell Asleep upon the Island and Awoke To Find Himself Abandoned the Captain Stared at Me in Amazement but Was Presently Convinced that I Was Indeed Speaking the Truth and Rejoiced Greatly in My Escape I Am Glad To Have that Piece of Carelessness off My Conscience at any Rate He Said Now Take Your Girths and the Profit I've Made for You upon Them

I Am Glad To Have that Piece of Carelessness off My Conscience at any Rate He Said Now Take Your Girths and the Profit I've Made for You upon Them and May You Prosper in Future I Took Them Gratefully and as We Went from One Island to another I Laid in Stores of Clothes Cinnamon and Other Spices in One Place I Saw a Tortoise Which Was 20 Cubits Long and as Many Broad a Fish That Was like a Cow and Had Skin So Thick It Was Used To Make Shields another I Saw that Was like a Camel in Shape and Color So by Degrees We Came Back till Basara and Returned to Baghdad

Grade 2: More Tales From The Arabian Nights

Discover mystery and wonder in Tales from the Arabian Nights. The next elegant edition in the Knickerbocker Classic series, Tales from the Arabian Nights is comprised of twenty-one of the most popular tales that were told by Scheherazade to her husband, King Shahryar, in the course of 1,001 nights in order to save her life. Dating over a thousand years, with origins from Persia, India, Egypt, and Mesopotamia, among others, the stories include "The Tale of Scheherazade," "Aladdin and the Wonderful Lamp," and "Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves." For folktale fans worldwide, this stunning gift edition has a cloth binding, ribbon marker, and is packaged neatly in an elegant slipcase. Featuring a new introduction, 24 color illustrations by Edmund Dulac, and the classic translation by Sir Richard Francis Burton (1821-1890), this volume of Tales from the Arabian Nights is an indispensable classic for every home library.

Unlike some other reproductions of classic texts (1) We have not used OCR (Optical Character Recognition), as this leads to bad quality books with introduced typos. (2) In books where there are images such as portraits, maps, sketches etc We have endeavoured to keep the quality of these images, so they represent accurately the original artefact. Although occasionally there may be certain imperfections with these old texts, we feel they deserve to be made available for future generations to enjoy.

One Thousand and One Nights

"[A]n electric new translation . . . Each page is adorned with illustrations and photographs from other translations and adaptations of the tales, as well as a wonderfully detailed cascade of notes that illuminate the stories and their settings. . . . The most striking feature of the Arabic tales is their shifting registers—prose, rhymed prose, poetry—and Seale captures the movement between them beautifully." —Yasmine Al-Sayyad, New Yorker A magnificent and richly illustrated volume—with a groundbreaking translation framed by new commentary and hundreds of images—of the most famous story collection of all time. A cornerstone of world literature and a monument to the power of storytelling, the Arabian Nights has inspired countless authors, from Charles Dickens and Edgar Allan Poe to Naguib Mahfouz, Clarice Lispector, and Angela Carter. Now, in this lavishly designed and illustrated edition of The Annotated Arabian Nights, the acclaimed literary historian Paulo Lemos Horta and the brilliant poet and translator Yasmine Seale present a splendid new selection of tales from the Nights, featuring treasured original stories as well as later additions including "Aladdin and the Wonderful Lamp" and "Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves," and definitively bringing the Nights out of Victorian antiquarianism and into the twenty-first century. For centuries, readers have been haunted by the homicidal King Shahriyar, thrilled by gripping tales of Sinbad's seafaring adventures, and held utterly, exquisitely captive by Shahrazad's stories of passionate romances and otherworldly escapades. Yet for too long, the English-speaking world has relied on dated translations by Richard Burton, Edward Lane, and other nineteenth-century adventurers. Seale's distinctly contemporary and lyrical translations break decisively with this masculine dynasty, finally stripping away the deliberate exoticism of Orientalist renderings while reclaiming the vitality and delight of the stories, as she works with equal skill in both Arabic and French. Included within are famous tales, from "The Story of Sinbad the Sailor" to "The Story of the Fisherman and the Jinni,” as well as lesser-known stories such as “The Story of Dalila the Crafty,” in which the cunning heroine takes readers into the everyday life of merchants and shopkeepers in a crowded metropolis, and “The Story of the Merchant and the Jinni,” an example of a ransom frame tale in which stories are exchanged to save a life. Grounded in the latest scholarship, The Annotated Arabian Nights also incorporates the Hanna Diyab stories, for centuries seen as French forgeries but now acknowledged, largely as a result of Horta’s pathbreaking research, as being firmly rooted in the Arabic narrative tradition. Horta not only takes us into the astonishing twists and turns of the stories’ evolution. He also offers comprehensive notes on just about everything readers need to know to appreciate the tales in context, and guides us through the origins of ghouls, jinn, and other supernatural elements that have always drawn in and delighted readers. Beautifully illustrated throughout with art from Europe and the Arab and Persian world, the latter often ignored in English-language editions, The Annotated Arabian Nights expands the visual dimensions of the stories, revealing how the Nights have always been—and still are—in dialogue with fine artists. With a poignant autobiographical foreword from best-selling novelist Omar El Akkad and an illuminating afterword on the Middle Eastern roots of Hanna Diyab’s tales from noted scholar Robert Irwin, Horta and Seale have created a stunning edition of the Arabian Nights that will enchant and inform both devoted and novice readers alike.

The Annotated Arabian Nights: Tales from 1001 Nights

Once upon a time, the name Baghdad conjured up visions of the most magical, romantic city on earth, where flying carpets carried noble thieves off on wonderful adventures, and vicious viziers and beautiful princesses mingled with wily peasants and powerful genies. This is the world of the Arabian Nights, a magnificent collection of ancient tales from Arabia, India, and Persia. The tales—often stories within stories—are told by the sultana Scheherazade, who relates them as entertainments for her jealous and murderous husband, hoping to keep him amused and herself alive. Three fantastic tales have been chosen from our new translation to introduce readers to the delights of Arabian Nights: 'Ali Baba and the forty thieves killed by the slave girl' is a well-known and well-loved classic, placed alongside the equally enchanting 'Judar and his brothers' and 'Ma'rus the cobbler'.

MORE TALES FROM THE ARABIAN NI

The most famous of all story collections, The Arabian Nights, also known as The Book of the Thousand and One Nights, is beloved around the world. Composed of Persian, Arabic, Greek, Indian, and other sources that accumulated over hundreds of years, these fabulous stories-within-stories have long fired readers' imaginations with an enchanted world of flying carpets, magic lamps, genies, demons, magicians and sorceresses, carnivorous giants, and bloodthirsty bandits. Translation has played a key role in the formation of The Arabian Nights as we know it, making it far more prominent in the West than it has ever been in the Arab world. Westerners' first discovery of some of the tales in the early eighteenth century sparked a feverish thirst for more, which led to compilations that freely adapted, reconfigured, and even added to the originals. The resulting love affair with the art, architecture, literature, cuisine, and culture of the East significantly remapped the European literary landscape. Editor Wen-chin Ouyang has compiled a carefully chosen selection from influential English translations, showcasing the strengths of different translators, including Richard Burton, Edward Lane, Jonathan Scott, and John Payne. Here are Shahrazad, Sinbad the Sailor, Aladdin, Ali Baba, and many more, in the most readable and enjoyable versions available.

More Tales from the Arabian Nights, Based on the Translation from the Arabic

One Thousand And One Arabian Nights is a collection of Middle Eastern and South Asian stories and folk tales compiled in Arabic during the Islamic Golden Age. It is often known in English as the Arabian Nights, from the first English language edition (1706), which rendered the title as The Arabian Nights' Entertainment. The work was collected over many centuries by various authors, translators, and scholars across West, Central, and South Asia and North Africa. The tales themselves trace their roots back to ancient and medieval Arabic, Persian, Mesopotamian, Indian, and Egyptian folklore and literature. The stories proceed from this original tale; some are framed within other tales, while others begin and end of their own accord. Some editions contain only a few hundred nights, while others include 1,001 or more. Tales of The Arabian Nights Book is a novels highly recommended to read. ### The Arabian Nights

The Arabian Nights (or One Thousand and One Nights) is a collection of stories compiled by various authors, translators and scholars from countries across the Middle East and South Asia. The tales trace their roots back to ancient Arabia and Yemen, ancient Indian literature and Persian literature, ancient Egyptian literature and Mesopotamian mythology, ancient Syria and Asia Minor, and medieval Arabic folk stories from the Caliphate era. Though the oldest Arabic manuscript dates from the fourteenth century, scholarship generally dates the collection's genesis to somewhere between AD 800-900.

The Arabian Nights

Almost three centuries have passed since the oldest manuscript of "The Thousand and One Nights" arrived in Europe. Since then, the "Nights" have occupied the minds of scholars world-wide, in particular the questions of origin, composition, language and literary form. In this book, Muhsin Mahdi, whose critical edition of the text brought so much praise, explores the complex literary history of the "Nights," bringing to fruition the search for the archetype that constituted the core of the surviving editions, and treating the fascinating story of the growth of the collection of stories that we now know as "The Thousand and One Nights,"

Aladdin and Other Tales from the Arabian Nights

ISSN: 2397-9607 Issue 231 In this 231st issue of the Baba Indaba's Children's Stories series, Baba Indaba narrates the Arabian Nights tale of "The Story of the Fisherman" Plus four more Tales from the Arabian Nights. Also included in this bumper edition are "the story of king yoonán and the sage doobán", "the story of the husband and the parrot", "the story of the envious wezeer and the prince and the ghooleh" and lastly, "the story of the young king of the black islands" In The Story of the Fisherman Baba tells how a poor fisherman unexpectedly hauls in the carcass of an ass in his nets. Even though his catch was worthless he gave praise to God for his ability to work and catch fish. He brought the carcass ashore and laid it out to dry thinking the skin may be of value and returned to his fishing. On the second cast of his nets he found them to be even heavier than the first. Still he dragged them ashore. On examining the nets he found in it only a large jar, full of sand and mud. On seeing this, his heart was troubled as he wondered what he and his family were to eat that night. He put the jar aside and a third time, cast the net, and waited till it had sunk and was motionless: he then drew it out, and found in it a quantity of broken jars and pots. Upon seeing this, he raised his head towards heaven, and said, O God, Thou knowest that I cast not my net more than four times; and I have now cast it three times! Then—exclaiming, In the name of God!—he cast the net again into the sea, and waited till it was still; when he attempted to draw it up, but could not, for it clung to the bottom. He worked away at the nets and found in it a bottle of brass, filled with something, and having its mouth closed with a stopper of lead, bearing the impression of the seal of our lord Suleymán. At the sight of this, the fisherman was rejoiced, and said, This I will sell in the copper-market; for it is worth ten pieces of gold. He then shook it, and found it to be heavy, and said, I must open it, and see what is in it, and store it in my bag; and then I will sell the bottle in the coppermarket. So he took out a knife, and picked at the lead until he extracted it from the bottle. He then laid the bottle on the ground, and shook it, that its contents might pour out; but there came forth from it nothing but smoke, which ascended towards the sky, and spread over the face of the earth; at which he wondered excessively. After a little while, the smoke collected together, and was condensed, and then became agitated, and was converted into an 'Efreet (a Genie), whose head was in the clouds, while his feet rested upon the ground: his head was like a dome: his hands were like winnowing forks; and his legs, like masts: his mouth resembled a cavern: his teeth were like stones; his nostrils, like trumpets; and his eyes, like lamps. And so begins the story of the fisherman and the genie which takes many twists and turns along the way with altogether surprising results. And just what are they you ask? And what of the other stories you ask? Well, you'll just have to download and read the full story to find out what they're about and how they relate to The Story of the Fisherman . 33% of the profit from the sale of this book will be donated to charities. The texts of the Syrian recension do not contain much beside that core. It is debated which of the Arabic recensions is more "authentic" and closer to the original: the Egyptian ones have been modified more extensively and more recently, and scholars such as Muhsin Mahdi have suspected that this may have been caused in part by European demand for a "complete version"; but it appears that this type of modification has been common throughout the history of the collection, and independent tales have always been added to it

The Arabian Nights: Their Best-known Tales by Smith, Wiggin, and Parrish Nowhere in the whole realm of literature will you find such a Marvel, such a Wonder, such a Nonesuch of a book; nowhere will you find impossibilities so real and so convincing than in the Tales of a Thousand and One nights, also known as the Tales from the Arabian Nights. The scene is Indian, Egyptian, Arabian, Persian; but Bagdad and Balsora, Grand Cairo, the silver Tigris and the golden Euphrates, and the blooming gardens of Damascus, though they can be found indeed on the map, live much more truly in the enchanted realms of these tales. Herein you will find eleven of the most popular tales of the Arabian Nights, taken from the original two hundred and sixty four, with color illustrations by Maxfield Parrish. Here you will find Tales and stories of The Talking Bird, The Singing Tree, and The Golden Water, The

Story of The Fisherman and the Genie, The History of the Young King of the Black Isles, The Story of Gulnare of the Sea, The Story of Aladdin; or, The Wonderful Lamp, The Story of Prince Agib, The Story of the City Of Brass, The Story of Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves, The History of Codadad and His Brothers and The Seven Voyages Of Sinbad the Sailor. Once a child has once read of Prince Agib, of Gulnare or Periezade, Sinbad or Codadad, in this or any other volume of its kind, the magic will have been instilled into their blood forever, for the Oriental flavour in the Arab tales is like nothing so much as magic. NOTE: The editors have purposely shortened the stories so as to keep a child's attention, omitting some of the tedious repetitions that creep in from time to time when Arabian story-tellers were embellishing the text to suit their purposes. We are delighted to publish this classic book as part of our extensive Classic Library collection. Many of the books in our collection have been out of print for decades, and therefore have not been accessible to the general public. ### Tales from the Arabian Nights

Full of mischief, valor, ribaldry, and romance, The Arabian Nights has enthralled readers for centuries. These are the tales that saved the life of Shahrazad, whose husband, the king, executed each of his wives after a single night of marriage. Beginning an enchanting story each evening, Shahrazad always withheld the ending: A thousand and one nights later, her life was spared forever. This volume reproduces the 1932 Modern Library edition, for which Bennett A. Cerf chose the most famous and representative stories from Sir Richard F. Burton's multivolume translation, and includes Burton's extensive and acclaimed explanatory notes. These tales, including Alaeddin; or, the Wonderful Lamp, Sinbad the Seaman and Sinbad the Landsman, and Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves, have entered into the popular imagination, demonstrating that Shahrazad's spell remains unbroken.

More Stories from the Arabian Nights. As Translated from the Arabic by Sir Richard Burton. Edited and Arranged with an Introduction by Julian Franklyn and a Glossary by Eric Partridge. Illustrated by McDonald Sinclair

Tales from the Arabian Nights is one of the oldest continuously circulated collections of shorts stories in the world. It consists of well-known Arabic folk tales penned during the Islamic Golden Age, including “Aladdin’s Lamp,” “Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves,” “The Three Apples,” “The Seven Voyages of Sinbad the Sailor,” and many more. Since their origins they have inspired countless adaptations, most notably the Disney film Aladdin. The stories begin with one of the earliest female protagonists in literature, Scheherazade, who is set to be executed by an evil Arabian king. The book highlights the incredible adventure stories she tells to the king each night, and how she purposefully ends them on cliffhangers in order to peak his interest and survive the next morning. These exciting tales, with their languid prose and wild adventures, form the basis of the book and its narrative arc. Accompanying these timeless short stories are stunning, vintage illustrations by renowned artist Milo Winter, only enhancing their glow and adding to their magic.
