When the winter light is falling
And the streets are dark and grey
See reflections in the water
Winter day
Through the shifting of the shadows
For the windows call a welcome
When the air is cold and bitter
And the wind rides every hill
Heads are lowered, fingers tingle
Winter chill
When the night is never ending
When the journey seems too far
Overhead a light to guide me
Winter star
And i'll drink that cup of chocolate
Fingers start to thaw
All the trees are standing silent
And the branches sparkle white
There the silver moon is shining
Winter night

I can hear the blackbird calling

When the winter light is falling

And the streets are dark and grey

See reflections in the water

Winter day

Through the shifting of the shadows

For the windows call a welcome

When the air is cold and bitter

And the wind rides every hill

Heads are lowered, fingers tingle

Winter chill

When the night is never ending

When the journey seems too far

Overhead a light to guide me

Winter star

And i'll drink that cup of chocolate

Fingers start to thaw

All the trees are standing silent

And the branches sparkle white

There the silver moon is shining

Winter night

I can hear the blackbird calling
