Draw two circles as guides for the sheep's body

Draw a smaller circle on the top right side as a guide for the head.

This circle should be about one-fourth the size of the first, and their edges should be touching.

Draw a U-shaped arc on the right side of the head as a guide for the muzzle.

Draw two lines under the body (one below each circle) as guides for the legs.

The line on the left should bend a little, while the one on the right should be straight.

Draw a series of lines that connect the major shapes to form the body

Draw the eye on the upper right side of the circle.

Draw a circle inside the eye for the actual eyeball.

Shade in the rest of the eye using a lighter value than the pupil and add a few lines around the eye for extra detail

Draw the nose on the tip of the initial arc guide.

Draw the rest of the muzzle using the arc as a guide.

Draw the ear to the left of the eye

Draw the rest of the head using the circle as a guide.

First draw the portion of wool on the head right above the eye.

Use quick, short, curved strokes to draw the wool for a fluffy feel

Follow the basic path of the circle and add the wool on the back of the head.

Using the line as a guide, draw the front legs.

Lightly sketch out the shape of the leg as you follow the path of the line.

When you get the structure right, darken it using quick, short curved, strokes for the wool. The top or base of the leg should be thick and get thinner at the bottom. Add the hoof at the bottom using straight lines and draw a small line in the middle to split the hoof. Draw the leg on the other side the same way. Only draw the front portion of it since most of it is hiding behind the first one.

Now use the other line as a guide to draw the hind legs. Remember to sketch lightly at first as you follow the guide line. Once you get the shape right, darken the leg using quick, short, curved strokes for the wool. Add the split hoof at the bottom and make the base of the leg thicker than the bottom. Draw the visible portion of the leg on the other side using the same technique. Draw the rest of the body by using the remaining lines as guides. Follow the basic path of the guide lines and draw the wool using quick, short, curved strokes for a fluffy texture. Draw, the wool farther away from the guide lines for a ... The farther away from the guide lines you draw the wool, the thicker the coat will be. You can draw, the wool really far away from the ... optional): You can stop here for a sketchy look or erase as much as you can of the initial guide lines for a cleaner look. Don't worry about erasing all of the guides. It's okay to leave some behind. Also re-draw any final sketch lines that you may have accidentally erased. optional): Add some shading to your drawing to give it more dimension and volume. Pick the direction of the light source when shading so that the shadows are consistent with it. Use small, arching, curved strokes when adding the shadows to give the wool a fluffy texture. Vary the pressure on your pencil to get different degrees of tonal value. optional): Add a cast shadow underneath. This helps ground the sheep so it doesn't appear to be floating. optional): You can add more value throughout your drawing for extra detail. You can add a darker value to the wool too for a black sheep. It's always a good idea to use reference for accuracy, and remember to PAUSE the video any time you need help.
