really happens when you Die | End-of-life-phenomena • At Home with Peter Fenwick by Thanatos TV
3,789,501 views 5 years ago 59 minutes - Peter Fenwick (born 25 May 1935) is a neuropsychiatrist and neurophysiologist who is known for his pioneering studies of end ...

What is a neuropsychiatrist?

What does your daily work involve?

In broad terms, what can we learn from these scans?

How did you get involved with near-death experiences?

How did you go about studying these phenomena?

Did you get the whole spectrum of near-death experiences?

Is that dependent on your worldview, on your background?

What do you think is the value of NDE research?

Do you think that near-death experiences provide some kind of proof that consciousness can exist without a brain?

Can you tell us about the end-of-life phenomena which you describe in your book?

So there are visitors and spiritual beings. Are there any other phenomena around death?

What happens then when the dying is more difficult?

Do you have a sense of frequently these things occurring?

How can we achieve a good death?

Do you think there is any connection between the way we think and the way we live our lives and the way we experience our death and what comes after?

The cliché we often find in movies and in literature that a good person has a good death and a bad guy has a bad death – is this what you observed in your research?

Many of my colleagues, many doctors would say these are just hallucinations. What do you say about that?

What do you say about the so-called hellish near-death experiences?

What have you learnt from all this? Is there a special message for our culture?
