NCLEX-PN EXAM QUESTIONS

A client is diagnosed with cancer and is told that surgery followed by chemotherapy will be necessary. The client states to the nurse, "I have read a lot about complementary therapies. Do you think I should try any? The nurse should respond by making which appropriate statement? 1. "I would try anything that I could if I had cancer." 2. "You need to ask your health care provider about

Rationale: Complementary (alternative) therapies include a wide variety of treatment modalities that are used in addition to conventional treatment to treat a disease or illness. These therapies complement conventional treatment, but they should be approved by the person's health care provider (HCP) to ensure that the treatment does not interact with prescribed therapy, Although the HCP should approve the use of a complementary therapy, it is important for the nurse to explore the complementary therapies first with the client, which would eliminate option 2. The statement in option 3 is inappropriate. Similarly, option 1 is an inappropriate response to the client. Option 4 addresses the client's question and encourages discussion.

The nurse is preparing to assist a client of Orthodox Jewish faith with eating lunch. A kosher meal is delivered to the client. Which nursing action is appropriate when assisting the client with the meal?

1. Unwrapping the eating utensils for the client 2. Replacing the plastic utensils with metal utensils 3. Carefully transferring the food from paper plates to glass plates 4. Allowing the client to unwrap the utensils and prepare his own meal for eating

The nurse is caring for a group of clients who are taking herbal medications at home. Which client should be given instructions in regard to avoiding the use of herbal medications? 1. A 60-year-old male client with rhinitis 2. A 24-year-old male client with a lower back injury 3. A 10-year-old female client with a urinary tract infection 4. A 45-year-old female client with a history of migraine headaches

The client asks the nurse about various herbal therapies available for the treatment of insomnia. The nurse should encourage the client to discuss the use of which product with the health care provider? 1. Garlic 2. Valerian 3. Lavender 4. Glucosamine

The nurse is assisting with collecting data from an African-American client admitted to the ambulatory care unit who is scheduled for a hernia repair. Which information about the client is of least priority during the data collection? 1. Respiratory 2. Psychosocial 3. Neurological 4. Cardiovascular

The nurse is planning to reinforce nutrition instructions to an African-American client. When reviewing the plan, the nurse is aware that which food is a common dietary practice of clients with African-American heritage? 1. Raw fish 2. Red meat 3. Fried foods 4. Rice as the basis for all meals

The nurse consults with a dietitian regarding the dietary MD-SHORS preferences of an Asian-American client. Which food should the nurse suggest to include in the diet plan? 1. Rice 2. Fruits 3. Red meat 4. Fried foods

3 Rationale: Although herbal substances may have some beneficial effects, not all herbs are safe to use. Clients who are being treated with conventional medication therapy should be advised to avoid herbal substances with similar pharmacological effects, because the combination may lead to an excessive reaction or unknown interaction effects. Therefore, the nurse would advise the client to discuss the use of the herbal substance with the HCP.

A Hispanic-American mother brings her child to the clinic for an examination which is most important when gathering data about the child? 1. Avoiding eye contact 2. Using body language only 3. Avoiding speaking to the child 4. Touching the child during the examination

A nursing student is asked to identify the practices and beliefs of the Amish society. Which should the student identify? Select all that apply. 1. Many choose not to have health insurance. 2. They believe that health is a gift from God. 3. The authority of women is equal to that of men. 4. They remain secluded and avoid helping others. 5. They use both traditional and alternative health care, such as healers, herbs and massage 6. Funerals are conducted in the home without a eulogy, flower decorations, or any other display. Caskets are plain and simple, without adornment

Which is a recommended guideline for safe computerized charting 1. Passwords to the computer system should only be changed if lost. 2. Computer terminals may be left unattended during client care activities 3. Accidental deletions from the computerized file need to be reported to the nursing manager or

The licensed practical nurse (LPN) enters a client's room and finds the client sitting on the floor. The LPN assesses the client thoroughly and then assists the client back into bed. Supervisor and health care provider (HCP) are notified. What action regarding the incident? 1. Place the incident report in the client's chart 2. Make a copy of the incident report for the

An unconscious client, bleeding profusely, is brought to the emergency department after a serious accident. Surgery is required immediately to save the client's life. With regard to informed consent for the surgical procedure, which is the best action? 1. Call the nursing supervisor to initiate a court order for the surgical procedure 2. Try calling the client's spouse to obtain telephone consent before the surgical procedure. 3. Ask the friend who accompanied the client to the emergency department to sign the consent form 4. Transport the client to the operating department immediately, as required by the health care provider without obtaining an informed consent

Answer: 4 Rationale: Generally there are only two instances in which the informed consent of an adult client is not needed. One instance is when an emergency is present and delaying treatment for the purpose of obtaining informed consent would result in injury or death to the client. The second instance is when the client waives the right to give informed consent. Options 1, 2, and 3 are inappropriate

The nurse arrives at work and is told to report (float) to the pediatric unit for the day because the unit is understaffed and needs additional nurses to care for the clients. The nurse has never worked in the pediatric unit. Which is the appropriate nursing action? 1. Call the hospital lawyer

The nurse enters a client's room and notes that the client's lawyer is present and that the client is preparing a living will. The living will requires that the client's signature be witnessed, and the client asks the nurse to witness the signature. Which is the appropriate nursing action? 1. Decline to sign the will 2. Sign the will as a witness to the signature only 3. Call the hospital lawyer before signing the will 4. Sign the will clearly identifying credentials and employment agency

The nurse observes that a client received pain medication 1 hour ago from another nurse, but the client still has severe pain. The nurse has previously observed this same occurrence. Based on the nurse practice act, the observing nurse should plan to take which action? 1. Report the information to the police 2. Call the Impaired nurse organization. 3. Talk with the nurse who gave the medication 4. Report the information to a nursing supervisor

A client has died, and the nurse asks a family member about the funeral arrangements. The family member refuses to discuss the issue. Which is the appropriate nursing action? 1. Show acceptance of feelings 2. Provide information needed for decision making 3. Suggest a referral to a mental health professional 4. Remain with the family member without discussing funeral arrangements

A nurse lawyer provides an education session to the nursing staff regarding client rights. The nurse asks the lawyer to describe an example that may relate to invasion of client privacy. Which nursing action indicates a violation of client privacy? 1. Threatening to place a client in restraints 2. Performing a surgical procedure without consent 3. Taking photographs of the client without consent 4. Telling the client that he or she cannot leave the hospital

The Birds of Canada

Excerpt from The Birds of Canada: With Descriptions of Their Plumage, Habits, Food, Song, Nests, Eggs, Times of Arrival and Departure My object in presenting this volume to the public is in some measure to supply a want long felt by those interested in the study of Canadian Ornithology. This work is simply, as the title page states, a description of the habits, food, nests, eggs, times of arrival and departure of the birds of Canada. The birds described consist of the permanent and summer residents, and also such birds as regularly or accidentally stop in Canada during the spring and autumn migrations. I have in my collection (which has been made in Ontario) a specimen of each bird described, except a few of the sea birds that frequent the coasts of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. The Birds of Canada

In the summer of 1833, John James Audubon, his son and several friends embarked on the schooner Ripley and sailed from Eastport, Maine to Nova Scotia to the St. Lawrence. Audubon kept a detailed diary describing the land, the sea, the vegetation, the people and, above all, the birds that he encountered. Many of the paintings he created along the way are considered his most beautiful and are reproduced here in Audubon's Wilderness Palette. Many of the birds represented here have become extinct or are threatened. With the strokes of his brush, Audubon has in many ways preserved a natural legacy, permitting those who view his paintings and engravings the opportunity to visit a world that has vanished.

BIRDS OF CANADA

This is the first volume in a 4-volume set, which is the culmination of two decades of research and writing. For the first time, the natural history, migration patterns, habitat requirements, reproductive biology, and distribution of the province's birdlife are combined in one publication. This is a reprint of the original volume published in 1990 by the Royal British Columbia Museum and the Canadian Wildlife Service. No changes or updates in content have been made from the original edition.

BIRDS OF CANADA

Excerpt from Catalogue Canadian Birds In compiling this catalogue of the birds of Canada, the author has endeavoured to bring together facts on the range and nesting habits of all birds known to reside in, migrate to or visit, the northern part of the continent. In addition to the Dominion of Canada he has therefore included Newfoundland, Greenland and Alaska. The nomenclature and the numbers given in the latest edition and supplements of the Check-list published by the American Ornithologists' Union have been made the basis of arrangement of the catalogue. The order followed in the notes on each bird is from east to west. Greenland is generally cited first and British Columbia and Alaska last. As the catalogue is intended to be a popular and practical one, the English names of the birds are placed first, but the species are arranged in their scientific order and in accordance with the latest nomenclature. While recognizing the differences upon which many of the technical names have been based, the writer holds that some of them, depending as they do upon local and almost upon individual variations from a common type, possess from any practical or educational standpoint but a minor value. To an investigator of changes resulting from environment such differences are of great interest, but to any one anxious only to obtain the facts in regard to the distribution of our birds as readily determinable, they are unimportant. Since the publication of the Fauna Borcali Americana by Swainson and Richardson, in 1831, no attempt has been made to produce a work dealing with the ornithology of the region now embraced in the Dominion of Canada. In the work referred to, the authors include separate notices of all birds that had been recorded north of Lat. 48 . Two hundred and forty species are described and twenty-seven additional West Coast species are added, making a total of two hundred and sixty-seven species known at that date. No attempt was subsequently made to catalogue the birds of Canada as a whole until 1887, when Mr. Montague Chamberlain, of St. John, New Brunswick, published A Catalogue of Canadian Birds with Notes on the distribution of the Species.
