Welcome Ladies and Gentlemen to this Simultaneous Special Session on Competition and Cooperation in the Indian Ocean Region My Name Is Rahul Roy Chaudhary I'M the Senior Fellow for South Asia Based at the Table Ss in London this Is the First Time in the Shangri-La Dialogue That We Have a Session on the Indian Ocean Region and We Already Have Had some Discussion on this Region in Yesterday's Keynote Address India's Prime Minister Narendra Modi Noted that the Indian Ocean Held the Key to India's Future this Morning Us Defense Secretary James mattis Jim Mattis Referred to the Symbolic Change of Name of Us Pacific Command to the Indo Pacific Command Emphasizing The Blue Economic Concept Summarizes the Importance of the Seas to the Global Economy as the Second Living Domain of the World while Its Sister Concept of Maritime Security and Discuss the Importance of Securing the Maritime Domain from All the Maritime Threats Be They of Accidental Natural or Illicit Nature this Increasing Importance of Oceans in Today's Global Village Has Further Catapulted the Indian Ocean Region to the Status of the World's Most Strategic Water Mass because of the Interplay of Economic Factors like all Routes Important Sea Lanes Onshore

The Balance between Freedom of Navigation and Lawful Commerce in the Global Context Would Be Crucial When Addressing the Challenges To Keep the Indian Ocean Region Safe and Secure Excellencies Distinguished Guests Ladies and Gentlemen We Know the Time Has Come for Us To Mobilize Further and To Create the Expected Outcomes in Order To Keep Our Region Clean Safe and Secure for the Future Generations as Stated by Our President His Excellency Danny for Maritime Security Is an Extremely Important Component and of the Sustainable Development of the Ocean Economy but because of Our Limited and Computing Resources It Is Particularly Important that We Have a Well-Thought-Out to Maritime Security Strategy

There Are Challenges in Terms of Transnational Organized Crimes Manifested through Drug Smuggling Human Trafficking Terrorism Piracy and So on Which Are All Interrelated and Sponsored by Violent Non-State Actors Who Seek To Destabilize the Region for Their Own Benefit Thus the Indian Ocean Provides Us with a Unique Environment To Compete Not against each Other but alongside Our Regional As Well as Global Partners so that We Are all Capable of Addressing some of the Major Threats and Challenges in the Region the Rapid Changing Maritime Nature and the Complexities of Issues Are Not Only Limited to the Indian Ocean for Example the Vastness of the Ocean Presents Us with an Immense Challenge of Monitoring despite Capacities and Capabilities this Has Become Quite a Challenge for All the Navies

I Am Discouraged To Speak for You Know for Long because Ii Noticed that the Chair Is Passing the Slips Quite Often Well Coming to the Issue of the Competition and Cooperation in the Indian Ocean the Discourse of the Larger Indo Pacific Has Now Resulted in Renaming of the US Pacific Command to Indo Pacific Command It Reflects the United States Commitment To Stay Relevant in this Vast Expanse of the Confluence of the Seas It Also Puts To Rest the Notion that You Know Us Is a Declining Power and Doesn't Have Interest in this Area You Would Recall Pm Modi's Articulation Last Night Where He Said that We Do Not Wish To Make Competition into Conflict It Also Puts To Rest the Notion that You Know Us Is a Declining Power and Doesn't Have Interest in this Area You Would Recall Pm Modi's Articulation Last Night Where He Said that We Do Not Wish To Make Competition into Conflict but Turn It into a Cooperation and We Must Not Return to the Great Power Rivalry this Is Precisely What Our Very Distinguished My Producer Predecessor Speaker Self Said He Also Mentioned How the Indian Navy Has Been Participating in Cooperation in the Indian Ocean Region for Many Years Indian Navy's Maritime Strategy Is a Written Document Although All the Literals Have Not Yet Come on a Single Platform but India Navy and Navies of this Sai or Littoral Have Established Bilateral Arrangement of Security in the Area Where They're Wherever There's a Shortage of Assets I Have Been Often Asked this Question Can You Play a Role or Can Great Britain Play a Role My Answer Is Yes You Can Build the Capacity of this Countries Create the Domestic Manufacturing Industries and Transfer the Technology so that It Can Also Create Jobs the Second Question I Am Asked that Does India See any Many-Time Cooperation with China near Future Now Being a Operator and a Person Was Been So Many Years at Sea I Have Always Said that There Is Nothing but Cooperation Which India and China Have To Do if They Have To Protect Their Own

Secondly We've Established a Uk Maritime Trade Operation in the Western Indian Ocean Which Provides Advice to Shipping and Is a First Point of Contact in the Event of of Piracy and that's Available to any Flag and To Illustrate that in a 2004 24 Hour Period in November Last Year 76 Indian Ships Reported to the Uk Team over There Their Presence in the Region for Reporting Purposes We Are a Major Contributor to the Combined Maritime Task Forces in the West and We're Reopening Our Naval Base in Bahrain Which Will Increase Our Ability To Supply Naval Assets into the into the Indian Ocean

And I Think the Starting Off Point Should Be To Think about What Our Vision Is all of the Principles around Which all of Us Can Agree both the Countries of the Indian Ocean but Also Others that We Can Mobilize and Have at Our Core and I Think the Interesting Thing for Me about the Dialogue Here in the Last Couple of Days Is Is the Congress between What We Heard from Prime Minister Modi Last Night and What Secretary Mattis Said this Morning I Think that Is Beginning To Set Out a Set of Principles Which Certainly We the Uk Would Support Which I Think Is a Way in Which We Can Think about How We Can Improve Regional Cooperation in the Indian Ocean Region That the Principles of Freedom of Openness of Inclusivity Which We've Also Heard from Other Panels

I Think if We Can Agree all of those I Think We Will Begin Then To Be Able to of a More Coherent and More Significant Effort To Look at the Security Challenges of the Region Finally I Think There Was a Big Thing around Connectivity this Is Was a Theme of Primacy Modi's Speech Last Night Clearly There's a Very Significant Need for Increased Investment in Particular in Transport Infrastructure the Statistics around the Lack of Infrastructure Investment in the Region Are Are Very Striking and that Lack of Connectivity Does Limit Economic Growth throughout the Region so Investment To Increase this Connectivity Should Be and Is Welcome but Again I Think those Investments Need To Be in Line with the Principles

The Great Powers Can Cooperate To Provide the Public Goods in Counter-Piracy Counter-Terrorism Rc Joint Search and Rescue Humanitarian Assistance Combating Drug Smuggling and International Peacekeeping the Military's Can Increase Cooperation and Enhance Mutual Trust by Joint Efforts in Training and Exercises To Conclude It Is Quite Normal for Great Powers Have Differences and Compete with each Other However It Is Critical To Ensure that the Competition Is Benign Powers CanNot Focus on Their Differences and Neglect Their Cooperation whereas the Indian Ocean What whether the Indian Ocean Become an Asian of Stability and Harmony or Ocean of Conflict and Trouble Depends on the Strategic
